"Therefore, since brevity is the soul of wit,
And tediousness the limbs and outward flourishes,
I will be brief."

• • • •

The new tariff bill satisfies nobody now, and will satisfy even fewer when they get through with it.

• • • •

A friendly word of advice to young Charles Evans Hughes, as he stands with his foot on the ladder of fame—when you get to the Supreme Court bench don't make the mistake of hopping off to run for something better, because there isn't any such thing.

• • • •

What Harry Sinclair can't understand is why all the newspaper wise-crackers of the country aren't in there for the same offense keeping him company.

• • • •

Member of the city council of Brockton demands the arrest of Senator Heflin—it seems they can't find that empty beer bottle high nor low.

• • • •

Or maybe it was because he didn't get a permit to speak, which certainly gives the Senate a good tip on revising those rules.

• • • •

More money goes to jail in Our Town than has ever been under lock and key before except in a bank. As Mr. W. S. Gilbert would paraphrase the plight of No. 10520—

To sit in solemn silence in a jammed-up jail,

• • • •

It's understood that Lawyer Hoover will go down to the jail every day and tell Mr. Sinclair that they can't put him in there for that.

• • • •

In the agricultural schedules the new tariff bill doesn't seem to have raised anything except the farmers' hopes.

• • • •

If you want to hear a real loud bleat about the wicked secrecy in which the Republican tariff revision has been framed, draw off to one side in the House lounging room the chairman of the Democratic caucus, who brought the Underwood bill in under a gag so stiff that the back of John Garner's head was resting right on his spinal column.

• • • •

The Boston Transcript on Friday said editorially that tornadoes don't visit New England—hotel rates too high, we suppose—and on Sunday a Kansas twister dislocated Berlin, N. H., but wasn't this less majeste?

• • • •

Young Charlie Hughes is only forty, and we see by his photograph that he is a member of the law firm of Colgate & Gillette.

• • • •

Maybe Mr. Hoover is farsighted, and would be able to see the New York State Republican organization better if he would go out to California and use the Lick Observatory telescope.

• • • •

President Hoover is reported to have turned down some Vare wets in Philadelphia, but as we understand it being dry was not an essential qualification in the Pennsylvania delegation at Kansas City last summer.

• • • •

"Who would have believed it possible," complained Miss Cutie Flippet, as she rolled a bootleg cigarette of cornsilk and sassafras leaves, "that those reformers would have succeeded in taking away our tobacco!" Eternal vigilance is the price of liberty, and a bargain at that.

• • • •

Perry Howard stands not upon the order of his going, but goes at once. He was vaccinated with the Hoover virus at Kansas City, but it didn't take.

• • • •

After spending the night in a jail dormitory with 60 other prisoners Mr. Sinclair, for the first time in his life, will probably be only too glad to get up this morning at 5:45.

• • • •

Johnny Raskob outlines a plan whereby the "little fellow who can't save very much" can buy an estate for his old age on the installment plan, but suppose it should wind up in a deficit!

• • • •

If Harry Sinclair is set to raking grass on the Municipal Hospital grounds we'll bet he rakes more of the long green than anybody in the gang.

• • • •

In the beginning of this Nation we permitted the Government to do things—now the Government doesn't permit us to do anything.

• • • •

Our guess is that Mr. Sinclair will be just dropping off to sleep at 5:45 when the rising bell rings.

• • • •

"One fine afternoon,
There went up a balloon,
Which did not return to the Earth very soon."

As a matter of fact one of the gaseous entrants in the great Pittsburgh aerial race hasn't returned to the earth yet, but it will—"what goes up must come down!"

By FRANK H. KING,
(Associated Press Staff Writer).

Gullane, Scotland, May 6 (A.P.).—Fred Jewell, a young British pro, this morning walked with diffident mien in the company of his elders as he went out with some of the world's greatest golfers for the first qualifying round of the British open. Tonight he had a perfect right to approach these great men of golf without apologies, for his 72 was good enough to lead the field for the first day.

There may be trouble in store for the young long Ashton pro who barely missed selection for the British Ryder Cup Team, but for today at least there is no name above his.

A stroke behind Jewell with scores of 73 were bracketed an American amateur and Scottish-American pro. George von Elm's 73 was the best score for the 75 amateurs entered and Bobby Cruickshank's 73 was the best contribution of the professional contingent from the United States.

Weather Termed "Wildest."

The first round was played in the wildest weather experienced in a British open championship in half a century and most of the visiting Americans found it a trying experience. On the whole, however, they played no worse than the sturdy British natives.

Scores meant little today and even the greatest of the assembled golfers were satisfied with scores around 80 in the prechampionship play.

Only Ed Dudley, of the American Ryder Cup Team, who took 85 strokes today, was regarded as in danger of failing to qualify. Johnny Farrell, open champion of the United States, with a 9 at the seventeenth hole, turned in a card of 82, but Farrell's friends expected him to clip many strokes from that figure in the second qualifying round tomorrow.

Gene Sarazen, who floundered around in 81, and Al Espinosa, with 80, shared Farrell's moments of disquiet, but they were expected to snap out of it tomorrow. Walter Hagen, the visiting team captain, who knows his British golf courses, scored 75 and took his place among the leaders, as did Leo Diegel, with 74. Morton Smith had a good 78 and Al Watrous, another American who knows his way about in Britain scored 77. Jimmie Thompson, young pro from Knoxville, Tenn., had 77, as did Tommy Armour, playing in his native Scotland.

79 Is Popular Score.

The visitors from overseas ran heavily to scores of 79. In this group were MacDonald Smith, Joe Turnesa, John Golden, Jim Barnes and Bill Mehlhorn.

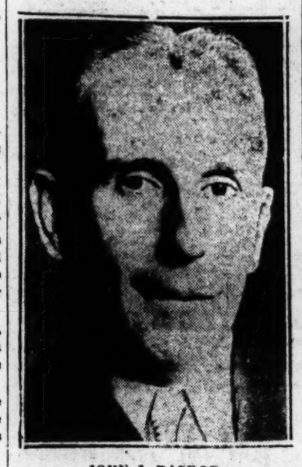

The opening eighteen holes of the qualifying play today were played on two courses, 1 mile apart—Muirfield, where the championship proper will be staged, and the Gullane Municipal Course. Jewell, Von Elm and Cruickshank played at Gullane today and will move to Muirfield tomorrow with the others who tried the municipal course first.

The best score for the Muirfield layout was made by another youngster,

Raskob Plans Riches On Installment Basis

JOHN J. RASKOB.

New York, May 6 (A.P.).—John J. Raskob, chairman of the Democratic national committee and former chairman of the finance committee of General Motors Corporation, tonight outlined an idea which he has had under consideration for several months whereby he believes persons with small incomes could systematically build up estates to care for themselves in their old age.

His whole idea, as he explained it, is to give the "little fellow," who can not save very much, a chance to make his savings count.

Briefly, his plan is to enable the "little fellow" to buy himself an estate on the installment plan, as he now is buying his automobile.

It is modeled somewhat after the investment trust idea combined with the General Motors Acceptance Corporation, which he organized ten years ago. His investment company would furnish the investment. His "acceptance corporation" would advance the money for the purchase of the investment, somewhat as the General Motors

ESCOBAR TO CLAIM PROTECTION IN U. S.

Mexican Rebel Commander Flies Across Border, Rancher Says.

TOPETE ACCOMPANIES HIM

El Paso, Tex., May 6 (A.P.).—John C. Uhrlaub, a California rancher, declared here today that Gen. Jose Gonzalo Escobar, commander in chief of the ill-fated Mexican revolutionary army, flew across the border into the United States last Thursday, with former Gov. Topete of Sonora and conferred with Gov. Rodriguez of Baja, Calif., at a ranch near Gila Bend, Ariz., Saturday.

Uhrlaub said he met Escobar after he crossed the border.

"Escobar, accompanied by Topete and another rebel general, flew across the border, heavily armed, but not accompanied by any bodyguard, to attend a conference with Rodriguez, which was arranged by an American mining engineer at his ranch near Gila Bend," the rancher said.

"When the conference ended, Escobar asked permission to recross the border into Baja, Calif., but was flatly refused by Rodriguez. Escobar became so angry I thought there was going to be trouble.

"Escobar later, however, appeared in the best of spirits, and, while he refused to reveal his ultimate destination, said he would spend some time with a friend at a ranch in the Southwest. He said he intended to leave Gila Bend after dark Saturday night."

The rebel leader told Uhrlaub he would claim the protection of the United States Government by "the same right the Kaiser of Germany claimed that of Holland at the close of the World War."

"We had plenty of money," Escobar was quoted by Uhrlaub as saying, "but the United States was against us. We tried repeatedly to get munitions across the border but failed because of the strict guard maintained by the American border controls."

Escobar appeared to have plenty of money when he arrived at Gila Bend, Uhrlaub said.

Error in Death Penalty Bill Would Free Lifers

Lansing, Mich., May 6 (U.P.).—The Michigan capital punishment bill, passed by the Senate recently, must be amended by both houses of the Legislature due to an error which would have freed a large number of murderers, it was learned today. The bill would repeal the old life penalty statute and not provide penalties for crimes committed while that statute was in force.

ARMS GROUP DEFERS ACTION ON U. S. PLAN

BRITISH MAKING STUDIES

By ALBERT W. FOX.

America's formula for measuring preparative naval strength has not been accepted by the preparatory commission of the League of Nations and Ambassador Gibson has not been given an opportunity even to explain the possibilities of the American suggestion to the conference at Geneva. Under the leadership of Great Britain and Japan it has been decided to postpone all consideration of the American idea until a later indefinite date.

Various reasons for not dealing with the American formula have been communicated to the State Department here and are found commented upon in Ambassador Gibson's final speech, a copy of which was made public here yesterday. It now develops that the British have been making studies themselves with respect to a formula and feel that nothing would be gained by discussing the American formula until there has been time for further study of the possibilities which might be opened up as a result of the American idea. Apparently Japan, France and Italy all agreed that an indefinite time in the future would be be considered as the appropriate time to ascertain what the American formula would signify.

Under the circumstances, Ambassador Gibson's concluding speech is considered to be a graceful acceptance of the inevitable and calculated to preserve the spirit of harmony, although there is disappointment reflected in the first few paragraphs because of the failure of the league conference even to discuss the American formula.

Thus the sixth meeting of the League Commission adjourns without any definite accomplishment and with its efforts to lure America into controversial European questions frustrated by timely word from Washington. The reports that President Hoover was understood to be absolutely against any and all of the committments and concessions which were attributed to Ambassador Gibson have been sent broadcast to every European capital and have perhaps hastened adjournment of the Preparatory Commission.

The formula which America proposed as a possible key to the solution of the naval limitation problem remains the feature of the Preparatory Commission's sixth session, despite the fact that the powers have declined to discuss it at the present time. At least the formula has not been rejected and it may well serve its purpose at some future time unless Great Britain and Japan or France and Italy fear that the formula might be used in a manner disadvantageous to their interest. France and Italy already want changes in the formula, while Great Britain and Japan are for the present more interested in bringing about a long delay before consideration of the formula is to be taken up. The British and Japanese want a long hecess of the Preparatory Commission, while America alone would prefer a short recess so that the formula could at least be given a fair hearing.

Ambassador Gibson's last speech before the commission reflects the disappointment of Mr. Gibson over the action of the powers in not being willing to discuss the American formula before adjournment, especially as Mr. Gibson brought up the formula at the opening session and thereby gave the league powers time to consider this matter if they had wished to do so.

"I made my general statement as to a possible method of approach to the naval problem early in our present session," said Mr. Gibson in his speech yesterday, "chiefly in order to afford other delegations opportunity to consider it from every aspect and to determine to what degree they were in a position to discuss it at the present time. After my statement we learned that certain other governments are making

SINGLE BALLOON IS UNREPORTED; RECORD BROKEN

Navy No. 1, Sets Distance Mark With Unofficial 900-Mile Flight.

DETROIT TIMES BAG MAY BE STILL ALOFT

Officials Doubt Entry Has Been Forced Down in Isolated District.

VAN ORMAN HEADS OTHER CONTESTANTS

Distances Must Be Checked by Aeronautical Association Officials for Record.

Pittsburgh, May 6 (A.P.).—With one of the twelve entrants in the national elimination balloon race still unreported, the winner was still in doubt tonight, although the Navy, No. 1, had apparently broken a distance record by landing near Charlottetown, Prince Edward Island, after a flight of some 900 miles.

Determination of the ultimate victor must await a report from the Detroit Times entry, of which nothing had been heard since the take-off late Saturday afternoon. E. J. Hill, Detroit, is pilot of the Times bag, with Arthur G. Schlosser, aid. Both are experienced balloonists, and race officials said they were well able to take care of themselves.

Record Appears Broken.

Lieut. Thomas W. G. Settle, pilot and Ensign Wilford Bushnell, aid on the Navy 1, were in the air about 44 hours, to cover the 900 miles, according to unofficial computation. The existing record for the type of craft used in the elimination is 572 miles, set by S. A. U. Rasmussen, in 1927. Rasmussen was pilot of the Detroit Balloon Club entry in this year's race, landing at Camden, N. Y., a distance of more than 300 miles.

The possibility that the Detroit Times had landed in an isolated district where means of communication were not available, was considered at headquarters. It was not believed, because of winds prevailing since the take-off that the Times had been taken out over the Atlantic Ocean.

Settle's distance must be checked by the National Aeronautical Association before it becomes a part of the records of free ballooning. If at any time the bag dropped to earth only to drift back into the air, the great distance to Prince Edward Island will not be considered as the entry's total mileage, headquarters said.

Records Are for Race.

Hill and Schlosser are holders of the existing endurance record, which is some 17 hours less than the 44 Settle and Bushnell took to reach Prince Edward Island. The balloonists in the Detroit Times made their endurance record in 1927, and it was said by race officials that they might be out in an attempt to break that mark.

The endurance record of Hill and Schlosser and the distance record of Rasmussen are for the national elimination and not world records.

Meanwhile, the pilots and aids of the ten other entries were packing up their craft, their efforts to win the right to enter the international race at an end. On the basis of unofficial distances, the Goodyear VII, piloted by Ward T. Van Orman, seemingly had traveled the greatest distance of any of the balloons reported down. Van Orman brought his craft to the ground at Keeseville, N. Y., 405 miles away.

Landings of Other Pilots.

Army No. 2, Capt. E. W. Hill, pilot, landed near Branch, Ulster County, N. Y., 294 miles.

The Pittsburgher, Dr. G. M. Legalee, pilot, came down near Utica, N. Y., 280 miles.

H. E. Honeywell landed his St. Louis Chamber of Commerce entry at Middlesex, N. Y., 245 miles.

The Aircraft Development Corporation bag of Detroit, W. A. Klikoff, Detroit, pilot, came down at Slate Rock, Pa., 160 miles.

The Business Club of Akron entry, A. C. Palmer, pilot, made but 32 miles landing at Mount Pleasant, Pa., and Navy No. 2 bag, Lieut. Jack Richardson, came to grief after floating 27 miles to Apollo, Pa.

Peacemaker Is Slain By Bullet of Fighter

Chicago, May 6 (A.P.).—Sam Gallucci, 33, acted as peacemaker in a quarrel between four men last night and was killed for it.

Gallucci ordered the men from his store when they refused to quit fighting. Nick Gallucci, 6, the slain man's son, told police one of the men fired at Gallucci, killing him instantly.

SINCLAIR SURRENDERS, SHARES ROOM WITH 60 MEN AT DISTRICT JAIL

Louis Johrden, Post Staff Photographer.

Oil Man Drives to Capital Lock-Up and Begins His Ninety-Day Term.

PROMISES HE WILL BE MODEL PRISONER

EARLY RISING HOUR FAILS TO DAUNT HIM

"No. 10,520" Asserts He Will Soon Become Accustomed to Routine of Prison.

Harry F. Sinclair, oil magnate and multimillionaire sportsman, last night surrendered himself to Maj. William L. Peak, superintendent of the District Jail, and began the serving of a 90-day jail sentence for contempt of the United States Senate.

Sinclair arrived at the jail at 8:45 o'clock. He was accompanied by A. W. Sinclair, his brother; G. T. Stanford, an attorney, and his chauffeur. As the party drove up to the jail in the big black limousine, in which they had made the trip yesterday from New York, more than two dozen flashlights boomed from the hands of the battery of photographers who lined both sides of the driveway.

Sinclair, visibly nervous and flushed, stumbled as he emerged hurriedly from his limousine, but caught himself before falling.

Marshal Awaits Prisoner.

The heavy, barred door opened and Sinclair, preceded by his chauffeur, who carried two black suit cases, hurriedly entered the outer office of the jail. He was followed by his brother and his attorney.

United States Marshal Edgar C. Snyder, who had arrived at the jail fifteen minutes earlier with the commitment papers from Justice Hitz of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia, greeted Sinclair.

"I am glad to see you, Mr. Sinclair," Snyder said.

Greeted by Maj. Peak.

Sinclair, his light gray soft hat pulled down over his eyes, was then ushered into the private office of Maj. Peak, who had waited since noon for the arrival of his prisoner. Sinclair was accompanied by his brother and attorney. The chauffeur, after depositing the two suitcases containing the clothes Sinclair will wear during his commitment, departed.

Marshal Snyder than introduced Sinclair to Maj. Peak. Once inside the major's office, Sinclair seemed to regain some of his composure, and half smiled as he told the prison superintendent that he needn't expect any trouble from him as he intended to be a model prisoner.

Maj. Peak then acquainted Sinclair with some of the prison regulations.

Sleeps in East Dormitory.

"I don't suppose you are used to getting up as early as we do here?" the major asked.

"What time?" Sinclair asked.

"5:45."

"Oh, well, I guess I'll get accustomed to the routine in a couple of days," Sinclair replied.

Maj. Peak then told Sinclair he would be confined in the east wing with about 60 other short-term prisoners and the prisoner-clerks. The prisoners in the east wing of the jail sleep in one long room, Army style.

A prison clerk entered Maj. Peak's office at this juncture and Sinclair's prison card was made out. The oil

JOHNSON IS RUSHED TO HOSPITAL HERE

HIS KIDNEYS AFFECTED

Cleveland, Ohio, May 6 (A.P.).—Walter Johnson, manager of the Washington American League baseball team, tonight was put aboard a train for Washington, where he will be taken to Emergency Hospital for treatment.

The Big Train, one of the pitching idols of baseball for twenty years, was taken into the Union Station in a wheel chair, but was able to pull himself on the train with the assistance of friends. He was accompanied by Clark Griffith, owner of the Washington club.

Johnson, who last spring was kept under the care of physicians for three months by influenza, apparently was in good health when the Washington team arrived here last Friday for a series with the Cleveland Indians, but Saturday caught a cold, which affected his kidneys.

Dr. M. H. Castle, physician to the Cleveland club, had decided that Johnson was too ill to be removed from his hotel here this morning, but considered it best to return him to his home city after a telephone conversation with

FAKE MONEY HOLDS FORMER POLICEMAN

G. W. Bayless, 30, Alleged to Have Confessed Passing Spurious $50 Bills.

STORE EMPLOYE ACCUSER

Gather Washington Bayless, 30 years old, a former District policeman, who was arrested yesterday for investigation, confessed last night to passing three counterfeit $50 bills, according to announcement by detective headquarters. One of the spurious bills was passed on a grocery store at 637 Pennsylvania avenue southeast and the others on Alexandria merchants, the detectives said.

Bayless' confession came after P. B. Mullen, a clerk in the Ridgely & Jones clothing store, at Alexandria, had identified him as the man who gave a counterfeit $50 note in payment on a purchase of a suit, hat and shirt. Mullen also identified Bayless' suit, hat and shirt as the articles purchased from him, although the labels in each instance had been torn out or mutilated.

Bayless and a companion, Harry Lee Brooks, 26 years old, of North Olmstead, Ohio, were arrested yesterday by Detective Sergt. Frank M. Alligood. Bayless, in his confession, implicated

Man, 100, Dies After Sons Build Coffin He Designed

Brevard, N. C., May 6 (A.P.).—The screws with which to fasten down the lid of the coffin made under his direction from wood he personally selected several years ago, arrived in Brevard Saturday night, and Sunday morning at 12:15 o'clock E. B. (Uncle Dock) Clayton shook off the burden of his 100th year.

For years Mr. Clayton had watched over a certain wild cherry tree on his property and about three years ago had it cut and sawed into lumber for his coffin. The lumber was stacked to season and meanwhile the old man determined to live at least to the century mark.

Lithuanian Premier Escapes As Assassins Kill His Aid

Two Wounded When Three Assailants Fire at Group in Kovno Theater.

Kovno, Lithuania, May 6 (U.P.).—An attempt to assassinate Premier Augustinas Valdemaras as he entered the State Theater was frustrated here tonight but the premier's aid de camp was killed and two companions were wounded in a volley of shots.

Three undentified men fired on the premier and his companions as they entered the theater. The aid de camp, Maj. Gudinas, was mortally wounded. Two other members of the party, Miss Jodinaite and Valdemaras' foster son, were seriously injured.

Seven shots were fired at Premier Valdemaras.

The premier had just stepped from his automobile and turned to enter the theater when the three men who magnate was recorded as prisoner, No. 10520.

Marshal Snyder left the jail at 9 o'clock. He was followed a moment later by the prisoner's brother and attorney. Five minutes later Capt. George Ratherdale, chief of the prison guards, told the more than score of newspaper men who had waited for Sinclair's arrival since noon that the oil magnate had no statement to make.

The door leading into the prison office then opened.

Face Was Expressionless.

"Come this way, Mr. Sinclair," Capt. Ratherdale said to Sinclair. Sinclair, dressed immaculately in a blue suit, brown shoes, dark-brown tie, white shirt, and carrying a light-brown topcoat over his left arm, followed. A prison clerk brought up the rear, carrying Sinclair's two black suitcases.

Sinclair's face was expressionless as he passed the line of newspaper men and followed Capt. Ratherdale into the prison rotunda. The party stopped momentarily as it passed the old battered piano used at Sunday church services.

Sinclair looked up at the high, unlighted rotunda. He glanced quickly to the left, then to the right as Capt. Ratherdale slowly led the way to the entrance of the east wing on the far side of the rotunda. The oil magnate removed his hat and clenched it tightly in his right hand as he walked across the rotunda. It was after hours and only a few guards and tiermen saw the iron doors close behind him as he entered the east wing.

Millionaire Gets Cot No. 62.

As Capt. Ratherdale turned to go away, Sinclair bade him good night. The millionaire prisoner then followed the prison clerk up the concrete stairs to the unlighted dormitory, where he was assigned cot No. 62.

His cot is between those of a prisoner convicted of embezzlement and one convicted as a gambler.

Sinclair took off his coat and shoes and flung himself on his cot. He told the prisoner clerk he would not go to sleep, but would wait until he and the other "boys from the office" retired. Sinclair said he wanted to learn a little bit more about prison routine.

Maj. Peak said he would make up his mind just what kind of task he would assign Sinclair to after talking with him this morning. It is probable, however, that the millionaire prisoner will be assigned either to the prison office or to the "bull gang," the term given to the short-time prisoners who clean up the grounds or do chores in the Gallinger Municipal Hospital.

Credited With Full Day.

By surrendering himself before midnight, Sinclair will be credited with serving a full day of his sentence, which expires August 4. It is unlikely that Sinclair will be transferred to the District Workhouse at Occoquan, Va., Maj. Peak said.

One execution will take place at the District Jail while he is serving his sentence. The Court of Appeals of the District of Columbia yesterday confirmed the conviction of George Thompson, colored, who has been sentenced for electrocution June 7. Thompson was convicted of shooting to death Elsie Bowen, colored, October 31, 1927.

Maj. Peak seemed greatly relieved as he went to his home adjoining the jail at 9:30 o'clock. He had waited since noon for the surrender of Sinclair and as the hours wore on and the multimillionaire was unheard from, he found it increasingly difficult to retain his usual calm demeanor. He was host to 23 of the newspaper men who had waited all day for the arrival of Sinclair, at a dinner served in the jail.

The order committing Sinclair to jail brought to and end litigation which has extended over a period of two years. The sentence of 90 days in jail and a fine of $500 was imposed in District Supreme Court following conviction by a jury on a charge of contempt based upon Sinclair's refusal to answer questions of the Senate's Teapot Dome investigating committee. The case was carried from the District court through the District Court of Appeals to the United States Supreme Court. Both upper courts upheld the verdict of the trial tribunal.

Convicted in March, 1927.

Sinclair was convicted on March 16, 1927. On May 20 Justice Hitz passed sentence. Counsel for Sinclair immediately carried the case to the appellate court. This court requested the United States Supreme Court to instruct it on points of law involved in the case.

However, Atlee Pomerene and Owen J. Roberts, special Government attorneys, asked the Supreme Court to consider the entire record. This was done, and early this year the Supreme Court heard arguments in the case. The decision, upholding the District Supreme Court's sentence, was handed down last month.

While Sinclair enters the District Jail for a 90-day term, it may be that he will remain there for nine months. He is under a six-months' sentence for jury shadowing, and this phase of his case is now before the United States Supreme Court. If that body affirms the sentence of the lower court, it is likely that Sinclair will continue as a prisoner until that term is served.

Early yesterday afternoon Justice William Hitz, before whom Sinclair was tried, officially pronounced him a prisoner of the United States. The proceedings were short, consuming approximately 2 minutes. United States District Attorney Leo A. Rover presented the mandate of the United States Supreme Court affirming the District Court's 90-day sentence, and requested the court to issue an order of commitment. Justice Hitz granted the order.

Neither Sinclair nor his attorneys were in court. Justice Hitz inquired as to the whereabouts of the "other side," and was told that the "other side" had been notified that the proceedings would take place, but had not put in an appearance.

District Attorney Rover left the courtroom almost immediately afterward and stated that the arrangements for incarcerating Sinclair were in the hands of United States Marshal Snyder. Shortly afterward the marshal notified Sinclair's attorneys of the court's action.

At the time the order was issued by the court Sinclair was in New York City.

The commitment order signed by Justice Hitz bears the heading "Criminal No. 42060." This is the first criminal number ever assigned to Sinclair, it was said.

Four Senate Questions That Jailed Sinclair

(Associated Press.)

The four questions upon which the contempt charge which resulted in sending Harry F. Sinclair to jail was based were propounded by Senator Walsh (Democrat), Montana, prosecutor of the Senate oil investigating committee, on March 22, 1924, upon Sinclair's sixth appearance before the committee. Sinclair refused to answer them, although at previous appearances he had replied to questions.

The questions all related to the leasing of the Teapot Dome reserve. They asked for information on the following subjects:

Whether meetings took place between Sinclair and Fall in November and December, 1922?

A reputed agreement between Sinclair and Fall by which John C. Shaffer, Chicago publisher, was to be allotted a part of Teapot Dome?

Six other questions asked by the committee at this appearance were not included in the charges sent to the jury.

Officers Reelected By Jewish Women

Directors Named by Capital Unit of National Council at Temple Meeting.

Officers of the Washington section of the National Council of Jewish Women were continued in office, there being no opposition ticket, and ten directors and three delegates to the triennial meeting were elected at the meeting of the section yesterday afternoon at the Eighth Street Temple.

Directors elected are Mrs. David Baer, Mrs. Charles Goldsmith, Mrs. Ralph Goldsmith, Mrs. Sidney Guggenheim, Mrs. Adolph Kahn, Mrs. Isaac Neuman, Mrs. Samuel Pack, Mrs. Jerome Saks, Mrs. Sherry S. Stein and Mrs. Alexander Wolf. Delegates are Miss Carrie Hart, Mrs. George Hyman and Mrs. J. S. Kann.

The election was preceded by a musical program by the children of Council House. Dr. Abram Simon, rabbi of the temple, inducted the newly elected officers.

Noted Men to Address Georgetown Students

Dr. Marcel Knecht, director-general of "Le Matin," of Paris, and Associated Justice Willis Van Devanter, of the Supreme Court, will address Georgetown University students at two separate meetings tonight.

Dr. Knecht, one of the foremost European journalists, will speak at a general assembly at the School of Foreign Service at 8:15 o'clock and will be introduced by President W. Coleman Nevils, of Georgetown.

The Carroll Law Club will give its annual banquet at 7:30 o'clock in the Hamilton Hotel, at which Justice Van Devanter will be the guest of honor. William I. O'Neill, chancellor, and other newly-elected officers of the law school club will be installed.

They say "Opportunity knocks but once." Every day the Classified columns of The Washington Post carry opportunities in most every line of business.

DOHENY BUYS RANCH OF FALL AT AUCTION

MORTGAGE IS INVOLVED

Alamogordo, N. Mex., May 6 (A.P.).—The famous Tres Ritos ranch of Albert B. Fall, former Secretary of the Interior, today passed into the possession of Edward L. Doheny, oil magnate, as Harry F. Sinclair, the third principal in the naval oil lease scandals, was ordered to jail in Washington for contempt of court.

The 700,000-acre property was bid in at a sheriff's sale here by a representative of Doheny for $168,250 to satisfy a court judgment entered February 4 in favor of the administrators of the estate of the late M. D. Thatcher, of Pueblo, Colo.

Thatcher held a first mortgage on the ranch. Mahlon Everhart, Thatcher's cousin and one of the administrators and sharers in the Thatcher estate, is Fall's son-in-law.

In purchasing the property, Doheny was represented to be protecting a second mortgage given him at the time he paid Fall $100,000. The Government alleged the money was a bribe to the then Secretary of the Interior in return for the lease of the Elk Hills naval oil reserve in California to Doheny. The oil magnate and Fall have insisted the deal was a friendly loan and had nothing to do with the oil leasing.

The ranch also figured in the Sinclair case. When it developed Fall had received $233,000 in Liberty bonds from Sinclair about the time the latter was given the lease on the Teapot Dome Reserve, it was explained that the bonds were the purchase price of a one-third interest in the ranch.

During the oil investigation testimony was given that the property was worth $800,000.

Olin Wellborn, jr., represented Doheny at the sale, which was held on the steps of the Otero County Courthouse. Fall, who now is making his home in El Paso, Tex., was not present.

Following the sale it was announced many improvements would be made on the ranch and the oil, gas and mineral possibilities of the property would be thoroughly investigated.

Citizens Deplore Shooting by Police

Manor Park and Kenilworth Groups Differ Only in Degree of Criticism.

The Manor Park Citizens Association deplored the promiscuous use of firearms by Washington police in a resolution adopted last night at the Whittier School, but the Kenilworth Citizens Association, while it also deplored the use of force, went on record in favor of force when it is "necessary."

The Manor Park association urged reappointment of Henry Gilligan as a member of the Board of Education and protested against the use of District water by residents of Maryland at a rate lower than that paid by residents of the District. Another resolution favors the extension of North Dakota and South Dakota avenues from the Northwest to the Northeast section of the city.

The Kenilworth association declared in one of its resolutions that Benning is the most suitable site for Washington's proposed municipal airport.

Power Company Asks Meter Change Permit

Permission to substitute new types of meters for those which have been installed and used heretofore has been asked of the Public Utilities Commission by the Potomac Electric Power Co.

The company is to be ordered by the commission to file reports showing details of improper registering by meters now in use. Under the law a variation of from 2 per cent slow to 4 per cent fast is allowed, but commission officials believe the limit for overcharging should be 2 per cent. Change in the method of reporting inaccurate meters also is contemplated by the commission, which wants the company to show just how many meters register fast and how many register slow and how much each way.

Pupils of Cooke School Present May Festival

Pupils of the Henry D. Cooke School staged a May festival program yesterday at the school grounds. Charles A. Johnson, principal, and the school's teaching corps supervised the program.

A large group of spectators witnessed the festival, among them being Dr. Frank W. Ballou, superintendent of the District schools, and other officials.

Goebel Opens Air Line.

Kansas City, May 6 (A.P.).—Col. Arthur C. Goebel, noted flier, hopped off here this morning in a seven-passenger plane, inaugurating service on a Kansas City-Minneapolis air passenger line. The line, to be known as the Kansas City Air Express, is operated by the Yellow Cab Airways, Inc. Daily trips each way, with a stop at Des Moines, are scheduled.

Italian Forecasts New Earth Shocks

Europe and South America to Be Affected This Week, He Says.

Faenza, Italy, May 6 (A.P.).—Signor Bendandi, widely known seismologist, today predicted that new and violent earthquakes were imminent in various parts of the world.

In a statement to The Associated Press he said that "a great telluric crisis will start in the night of Tuesday to Wednesday, with important shocks in many quarters.

"This first phenomenon will be followed by a brief period of calm, then on Saturday by other shocks of less intensity. These phenomena will be concentrated in central regions in the chain of the Andes Mountains and in southern Europe between the Eleventh and thirteenth degrees of longitude and the vicinity of the Balkan Peninsula."

MAN KILLS CHILDREN, WIFE, WOUNDS SELF

After Slaying 2 Girls and Boy in Home, He Fires Other Shots in Hospital.

DERANGED BY TROUBLE

Philadelphia, May 6 (A.P.).—Peter Thomas, 45, today shot and killed his three children in their home and then went to a hospital where his wife was a patient and shot her to death. He then tried to kill himself. He is in a critical condition.

The family lived in the northern part of Philadelphia. The dead children were Catherine, 12; Jacob, 10; and Helen, 6.

The hospital where Thomas killed his wife, Margaret, is eight blocks from his home. Carrying the pistol with which he killed the children in his pocket, he went to a fourth floor room of the institution where he found his wife. Thomas fired two bullets into his own head.

Shots Cause Confusion.

Thomas killed his wife in a women's surgical ward of the hospital. When he entered a nurse was talking to his wife. After he had talked a short while with the patient, he drew the pistol and shot her and then shot himself. The pistol firing caused confusion in the ward, but the patients were soon quieted.

Two notes were found in the Thomas home. One said that he wanted to die as did his wife. The other note asked a friend to take care of his affairs.

Thomas is a plastered. His wife had been ill for two months with stomach trouble. Police believe his wife's illness, coupled with the care of the children, caused Thomas to become mentally deranged.

Neighbor Hears Shots.

The shooting occurred after Fred Fisher, 14 years old, son of Mrs. Thomas by her first marriage, had gone to school. A neighbor heard what appeared to be pistol shots in the house, but when she heard immediately afterward the hum of a vacuum cleaner she thought nothing of it, as she knew that Thomas had been doing the housework after he had his wife taken to the hospital. A couple of hours later she saw Thomas leave home with a suitcase.

Feeling that something was wrong, the neighbor summoned a nearby storekeeper who entered the house and found the three children dead.

The three children were Thomas' by a previous marriage. Fred Fisher, the stepson, said he knew of no trouble between his mother and his stepfather. They were married, he said, on New Year's Eve, 1927.

Public's Advice Sought In Uniform School Plan

Indianapolis, May 6 (A.P.).—The public's advice in mapping out an up-to-date course of study for schools is being asked by the State superintendent of public instruction in letters sent over the State. Nomadic workers, drifting with their families from place to place, from farm to city and back, create a need for uniformity in schools, according to Virgil Stinebaugh, director of high school inspection.

Children taken out of one school easily can make adjustments in another if courses are similar. "It is not intended, however, to restrict initiative of local school officials to make all schools conform to a set standard," Stinebaugh said.

Porto Rican Governor Back for Hoover Talk

New York, May 6 (A.P.).—Horace M. Towner, recently resigned governor of Porto Rico, arrived on board the Coamo today en route to Washington.

The governor said he would go to Washington to confer with President Hoover and with various congressional committees regarding Porto Rican affairs, particularly the tariff.

GARNET PATTERSON SCHOOL DEDICATED

Dr. Carusi and Howard Head Speak at Exercises in New Junior High.

OBSERVANCE TO CONTINUE

Dedicatory exercises of the Garnet Patterson Junior High School, Tenth and U streets northwest, were held last night in the school auditorium, Mrs. Mary A. McNeill, member of the Board of Education, reading the formal dedication service, to which the audience responded. Dr. Charles F. Carusi, president of the Board of Education, and Dr. Charles Wesley, of Howard University, were the principal speakers.

Dr. Carusi paid tribute to Henry Highland Garnet, former slave, who became United States Minister to Liberia, and to former Senator James Willis Patterson, of New Hampshire, for whom the school was named. He stated his desire that all schools might be named in honor of those who devoted their energies to educational service "to the upbuilding of temples of freedom, rather than institutions of mere utilitarian and vocational value."

Changes in educational methods during the past quarter century were traced by Dr. Wesley in demonstrating to the patrons of the new building the higher degree of scholastic and spiritual attainment which the new equipment affords. Garnet C. Wilkinson, assistant superintendent of schools, presided. On the platform were all of the members of the Board of Education, and Willis Patterson, a son of the former New Hampshire senator.

Musical numbers were furnished by a student choir, the Howard University Glee Club, under direction of R. W. Tibbs, Joseph H. Douglas, Walter L. Brown and F. H. Douglas. The exercises will continue tonight, from 6 to 8 o'clock, with a reception in honor of parents and friends, and a girls' physical demonstration.

A rose festival and pageant, with floats, will be given Wednesday evening and repeated Thursday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock. A boys' physical demonstration will be given Friday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock. The exercises will close Saturday night with presentation of an operetta, "Hansel and Gretel," in the auditorium.

10-Day Hop Ended By House Member

W. Frank James Returns From Army-Post Tour in Question Mark.

Representative W. Frank James, of Michigan, a member of the House military affairs committee, returned to Bolling Field yesterday in the Question Mark from a tour of Army posts in the East. He was piloted by Capt. Harry A. Dinger, of Bolling.

Between Baltimore and Washington the giant plane fought its way through a heavy downpour of rain, landing at the field in a shower of mud and water. It had left New York earlier in the day.

James said that he inspected housing conditions at a number of posts in New York and Massachusetts, especially the island forts around Boston. One result of his inspection, he said, will be the removal of troops from Fort Strong, at Boston, to Fort Adams, R. I. He and Capt. Dinger left Washington April 26.

17 Bakeries' Salesmen Strike in Kansas City

Kansas City, May 6 (A.P.).—Housewives were uncertain about the day's bread supply as 425 bakery salesmen, representing 17 Kansas City bakeries, went out on strike. Partial deliveries were being made and no reports of violence had been received. The salesmen also are the delivery men. Harvey Osborne, business representative of the Bakers Union, said his organization would not enter the controversy until forced to work with nonunion labor.

An increase of $10 a week in their guarantee is being sought by the strikers, who now receive a minimum of $30 weekly.

FOUR POWERS FAVOR YOUNG'S DEBT PLAN

France and Belgium Delay Decision Until Study of Figures Is Made.

BRITAIN TO RAISE ISSUE

Paris, May 6 (A.P.).—The British, Italian, Japanese and German delegations to the second Dawes committee were lined up tonight in favor of the proposal of Owen D. Young for the final settlement of the German reparations problem.

The French and the Belgians are withholding their final decision until they have made careful study of the figures and have had some light on the conditions involved.

Thomas W. Lamont tonight expressed the impression of expert circles as to the chances of success for Mr. Young's compromise measure in these terms:

"It would be foolish to minimize the importance of Saturday's development and it would be rash to count on it as assuring final agreement."

British Assent Conditional.

Although an agreement was regarded tonight as dependent upon the attitude of the French and Belgian experts, it is understood that British adherence to the project was made under conditions. Great Britain insisted that there should be no change in the percentage fixed at Spa, Belgium, just after the war, for the distribution of reparations among the creditors, granting 52 per cent to France, 22 per cent to Great Britain, 10 per cent to Italy, 8 per cent to Belgium and the rest to the other creditors in small items.

This attitdue seems to point to further difficult negotiations between the creditor nations even if the French and Belgians are willing to accept Mr. Young's figures.

It is pointed out tonight that the allies have not yet agreed as to which should make the necessary sacrifices to bring their claims down to the figures presented by the creditors to the conference. The difficulty of coming to an accord on this point now becomes more onerous since under the proposed compromise a further considerable cut in the total payable by Germany must be consented to.

Talks to Precede Meeting.

The new situation will be the object of private talks tomorrow morning which will lead to a meeting of the experts from the creditor nations. Then, if they come to an agreement, a plenary session will be called in which final details will be arranged.

Mr. Young's proposal is meeting with little favor in the French press. Papers of all politicals opinions criticize is as demanding unreasonable sacrifices of France in favor of her debtor, while none of her creditors is willing to make corresponding concessions to her on war debts.

The question of revision of war debts never has been mentioned at the experts' meetings, but for the public and press it remains in the background of all speculation concerning the reparations settlement.

Some newspapers even have hinted at a supposed combination between the Americans, the Germans and the British to force France to cede. It is admitted, however, by reasonable critics that in the case of his proposal Mr. Young did only what the allies had requested him to do.

2 GUILTY OF KILLING MAN IN RUM CHASE

Jury Quickly Convicts Driver and Companion; Ignored Signal; Face 15 Years.

J. F. LUITICH WAS VICTIM

After fifteen minutes consideration, a jury convicted Robert D. Dixon, 23 years old, and William A. Rollins, 20, colored rum runners, yesterday, of manslaughter charge in connection with the death of John F. Luitich, 57 years old, of 19A Bates street northwest, last January 4. The verdict was reported to Justice Frederick L. Siddons in criminal branch of the District Supreme Court.

Passing a stop sign at Sixth and Q streets northwest, the colored men, occupying a rum-laden automobile, speeded when pursued by Motorcycle Policeman William A. Schotter, of the Traffic Bureau, according to testimony. The chase, at the rate of 50 miles an hour, continued to North Capitol and P streets.

Luitich was crossing the street at the latter intersection, it was testified, when he was struck by the rum car, driven by Dixon, and dragged 150 feet. The rum runners continued after striking the man and were overtaken at First and I streets northeast, after Schotter had fired several shots at the car.

YOUNG COUPLE SLAIN; JEALOUSY IS HINTED

FATHER IDENTIFIES AUTO

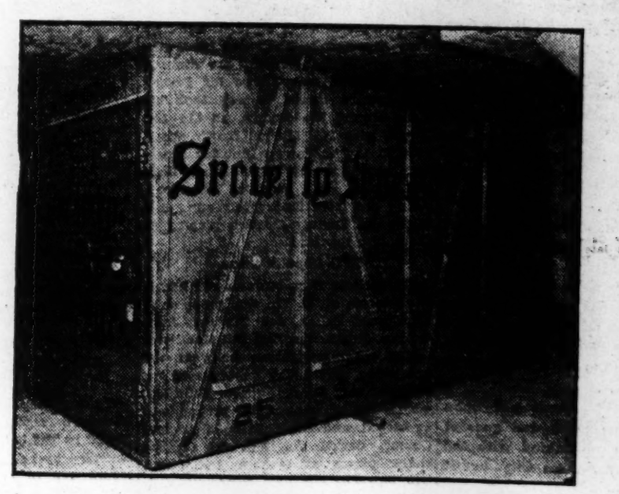

Houston, Tex., May 6 (A.P.).—Miss Ola Wuenche, 20, and Edward Stone, 21, were found shot to death near here today under circumstances indicating they had been slain by a third person.

County officers were working on the theory that jealousy may have figured in the killings and instituted a search for a man suspect.

The body of Miss Wuenche, who lived at Spring, Tex., was found lying across a road a mile north of Aldine. A trail of blood indicated she had stumbled along the road for 200 feet after she had been shot in the back with a shotgun.

While officers were examining an abandoned automobile a mile from the girl's body, J. Stone, of Westfield, drove up and identified the car as that of his son. Young Stone's body was found in a field nearby.

"My son left home last night to take Miss Wuenche to Houston," said Stone. "Since he did not return I became anxious about him and started out to look for him."

MICHAELSON HOLDS CHARGE TOO VAGUE

Counsel to Ask Allegations of Transporting Liquor Be Quashed.

TRIAL IS SET FOR TODAY

Key West, Fla., May 6 (A.P.).—Counsel for Representative M. Alfred Michaelson, of Chicago, charged with a liquor law violation, will attack the Federal indictment against him in United States District Court tomorrow morning, it was announced today.

Defense attorneys gave Special Assistant Attorney General N. J. Morrison copies of a motion to quash and the demurrer to the indictment, which they formally will present in court tomorrow for argument.

The papers were similar in contention, the demurrer petition declaring the indictment is "bad in substance and matter and that the things therein set forth and alleged are not efficient in law to compel him to answer."

The motion and demurrer also declare the three counts of the indictment charging illegal importation, transportation and possession of liquor failed to "state facts sufficient to charge the defendant with any crime or offense," and that the counts were "duplicitous, repugnant and too vague, indefinite, ambiguous and uncertain to charge any facts efficient in law to constitute any crime of offense."

Arthur Gomez, Key West, member of Michaelson's counsel, said the motion and demurrer would be presented after Michaelson had entered a plea of "not guilty."

Michaelson was indicted last fall in Jacksonville after testimony was given that a trunk in his luggage had been found to contain liquors on his arrival in Florida from Havana, Cuba.

Besides Gomez, Michaelson will be represented by H. H. Taylor, Miami; J. Lancelot Lester, Key West, and Frank M. Dooley, Chicago. Morrison and W. J. Hughes, acting United States attorney, will prosecute.

The case was the second called on the regular docket today, but was continued at the request of Mr. Gomez because of the funeral service this afternoon of the father of Mr. Taylor.

S. N. Chesavoir's Jail Sentence Is Held Valid

Confirmation of a year and a day jail sentence and a $500 fine imposed on Solomon N. Chesavoir on a charge of third offense transporting and possession of liquor was given in an opinion yesterday by the District Court of Appeals.

Chesavoir was arrested June 6, 1927, accused of transporting 336 quarts of liquor in an automobile. The case was carried to the Appelate Court on a question of technicality in connection with the jury's rendition of the verdict. The jurors reported the defendant "guilty as indicted," and defense counsel contended the verdict did not cover Chesavoir's guilt of the third offense charges. Prosecution of the case in the District Supreme Court was conducted by Assistant District Attorney Walter M. Shea.

CENTENARIAN DESIGNS COFFIN FOR HIMSELF

him celebrate his 100th birthday and shortly afterward he grew ill. He began to worry about the unfinished coffin and urged his sons to complete it. They proceeded to build it and then ordered the trimmings. The order failed to contain the screws for the top, but these arrived Saturday night, just a few hours before the aged man died.

He had lived in three counties without ever having moved more than 100 yards from the place where he was born.

When he was born in 1828, the place was in Buncombe County; when Henderson County was created it was a part of that county, and finally it became a part of Transylvania.

REPORTS BY PAPERS OMIT POWER FIRM

Several of 13 Dailies Linked to Concern Fail to Cite Ownership Directly.

WALSH PRESSES INQUIRY

The International Paper and Power Co. is directly mentioned by only two of the thirteen newspapers in which that company has an interest in the latest statements of ownership and management filed by the papers with the Postmaster General. In only one other case, that of the Chicago Daily News, is a definite connection with the power concern established.

An examination of the statements yesterday at the Postoffice Department disclosed that the remaining newspapers, with the exception of the Augusta Chronicle, Augusta, Ga., the statement of which has not yet been received, gave no information which on their face would show connection with the big power cocern. The statements are dated April 1.

Ownership By Concern Obscure.

The relationship in the remaining statements is by inference, or by express explanation of A. R. Graustein, president of the power company, in his testimony. In a few cases, no open connection at all is given, and if any exists in the noninterpreted, innocent-appearing names in the lists of stockholders and bond and other security holders, it is not clear from information so far available.

This, in a brief way, answers the question of the Senate yesterday when it passed a resolution introduced by Senator Walsh (Democrat), Montana, calling publicly on the Postmaster General to supply it with copies of the latest statements of ownership and management filed by these newspapers. Senator Walsh said that he wanted to find out to what extent the papers had indicated their connection with the power concern in their statements.

He explained that his purpose was to determine whether the law requiring the filing of such statements should be changed. If he discovered what he believed to be a need for modification or tightening of the law he would attempt to put such legislation through, he indicated.

Bingham Allows Vote.

Senator Bingham (Republican), Connecticut, made a stubborn stand against "casting aspersions" on the group of newspapers named in the resolution. He finally relented and allowed the resolution to be voted upon.

The newspapers listed in the resolution are those named by Graustein in his testimony before the Trade Commission. They are the Boston Herald and Boston Traveler, the Chicago Daily News, the Chicago Journal, the Tampa (Fla.) Tribune, the Greensboro (N. C.) Record, the Knickerbocker Press, Albany, N. Y.; the Albany Evening News, the Brooklyn Daily Eagle, the Augusta (Ga.) Chronicle, the Columbia (S. C.) Record, and the Spartanburg (S. C.) Herald and the Spartanburg Journal.

The jointly owned Boston Herald and Boston Traveler, in separate statements, made the only direct mention of the International Paper & Power Co. in any of the statements. The Chicago Daily News, however, lists Graustein among its individual stockholders.

UNIVERSITY PLAYERS SCORE IN NEW SHOW

TITLE IS 'SOMETIME SOON'

Amid song, dance and chatter, the boys and girls of George Washington University, known as "The Troubadours," last night at Wardman Park Theater proved to an almost capacity house they will soon be sending out some stars for the footlights.

In presenting "Sometime Soon" as its fourth annual show, they have chosen a musical melange of catchy tunes and steps, with somewhat of a complex (if any at all) plot, and send it over in fine style with good voices, good steps, pretty girls, fine costuming, setting—and fine boys.

The musical numbers are many, but outstanding are "Follow the Three Musketeers," "Sometime Soon," "All I Get Is Bye-Bye," "American Girls" and "What Care I." The songs "Sometime Soon," by Miss Rissler and Mr. Silaz, and "All I Got Is Bye-Bye," by Miss Crump, almost stopped the show.

The specialties introduced were dances by Miss Burnham, Mr. Sickler and Mr. Westbrook; that by Donna Scott Smith; that by Sock Kennedy, Steve Nyman and the Fan Dance by Julia Denning and Betty Waller.

A large cast which crowds the stage at times, however, makes a pretty picture. This cast includes: Richard Kilstein, George Connally, Jerry Sickler, Carolyn Jackson, Emily Pilkinson, Marian Lum, Carolyn Brasch, Virginia Frye, Bennie Newton, Frank Westbrook, Mildred Burnham, Solomon Schnapp, Geraldine Free, John Silaz, Harriet Rissler, King Prender, Milton C. White, Burr Christopher, John Hoyt, Sue Crump, Ruth Greenwood and Janet Sheppard.

In the men's chorus are Henry Amos, Richard Hill, Wesley Jones, Leslie Murphy, Steve Nyman, Erith Smith, Henry Stewart, Win Weitzel and Curtis Woodsome. The quartet is composed of Richard Kilstein, Gordon McBride, John Perry and Richard Sawyer.

Announcement was made that Friday night, beginning at midnight, there will be a vaudeville show of thirteen numbers. This, of course, is in addition to the regular performance earlier in the evening.

COUNTERFEIT MONEY HOLDS CAPITAL MAN

Brooks as the man who gave him the spurious currency, according to police.

Brooks, questioned late in the night, admitted having given the bills to Bayless and to having a quantity of the currency cached in Washington, according to police. Detective Alligood and Department of Justice Agent Jack Q. Slye, who was called into the case by the police, stated they would make further investigation today and endeavor to seize the other counterfeit notes.

Detective Alligood also stated that Bayless and Brooks said that the spurious currency was obtained in whisky deals in Florida.

The bills passed here and in Alexandria were made from plates and are easily detected, according to Government officials. The green side of the notes is said to be a fair job, but the gold side shows poor workmanship.

No charge had been placed against Bayless or Brooks at a late hour last night.

Police say Bayless is wanted at Knoxville, Tenn., on a fugitive warrant in connection with the jumping of bond on a rum-law indictment. He also is wanted by Department of Justice agents for questioning in connection with an alleged Mann act violation.

Bayless was a private on the District police force several years ago. He was attached to the Third Precinct detail. He was convicted of grand larceny while serving as a policeman, in 1920, and was sentenced to serve one year at Occoquan Workhouse. He escaped from Occoquan and was rearrested in June, 1925, at Palm Beach, Fla., and returned to the District, where he completed his sentence.

A reward of $200 has been offered by the Knoxville bondsman for Bayless' arrest, and Detective Sergt. Alligood stated last night he would claim the reward.

GENEVA ARMS GROUP CLOSES ITS SESSION

LATTER MOVE FOR DELAY

Geneva, May 6 (A.P.).—The preparatory disarmament commission adjourned its sixth session today leaving the responsibility for the next step in world disarmament upon the shoulders of the big naval powers.

"When you have reached an agreement on naval reductions, come back and let us know" was virtually the last word of the commission.

It was the general opinion that any collapse of the forthcoming private conversations between the naval powers would be disastrous to the cause of disarmament.

The commission adjourned without being able to register agreements on the methods of reducing land armaments. The trained army reserves have been dropped from the scope of the treaty and no other way was discussed to limit rifles, guns and general war material than through the channel of publicity for expenditures.

Tables were arranged, however, for limiting land and air effectives and military airplanes. Chemical and bacteria warfare were again banned.

An encouraging start was made on the problem of naval reductions in consequence of the American initiative, which in the closing hours of the plenary conference again was hailed with words of welcome from the British, French, Japanese and Italian delegations. Consideration of the method of limiting navies, however, was postponed at the request of the naval powers themselves, who wished to seek an agreement by negotiation outside of the commission.

Lord Cushendun, the British delegate, voiced optimism that at some future period "which may not long be delayed," the naval powers would be able to register a complete agreement.

GENEVA POSTPONES U. S. NAVAL STUDY

analogous studies which should, of course, be taken into account in any general discussion. Today we are told that certain governments feel that in order to deal with the matter effectively and expeditiously, they require time for careful exploration of the possibility opened by the American suggestions.

"The solution of the naval problem is in essence simple but in application complex," Mr. Gibson continued. "The technical considerations involved must be studied from many angles and the American delegation recognizes that our best hope of agreement upon a method lies in having each country come into the discussion prepared to speak on the basis of its independent study and in possession of all the data that it desires.

Time Needed for Study.

"In view of the considerations I have indicated, my Government feels that the course best calculated to lead to the successful conclusion of our labors lies in giving time for a careful study of the whole problem."

In conclusion, Mr. Gibson said, "We must proceed just as fast as may be consistent with sound and effective handling of the very important and complex problem before us and without jeopardizing the successful conduct of the work through entering precipitantly upon discussions for which any of the interested powers is not prepared.

"For that reason I fully concur in the proposal of the Japanese and British delegations to postpone consideration of the naval chapter until such time as the interested powers have signified to you, Mr. Chairman, their readiness to embark upon a general discussion."

It is understood here that the British desire no discussion until after the British elections. Ambassador Gibson has been ready to make more specific proposals in connection with the naval formula. The exploration of the suggested new method of approach, based upon naval questions, would have led to interesting developments if a partial advance exploration of the American proposal had been permitted. But the league powers do not wish to be given this information for their consideration at this time.

Winners of Prizes In Art Announced

Painter and Sculptor Are Awarded Prix de Rome Scholarships.

New York, May 6 (A.P.).—John M. Sitton, 22 years old, of Greenville, S. C., and Sidney B. Waugh, 25, of Amherst, Mass., today were announced as winners of the annual awards of the Prix de Rome in painting and sculpture.

Sitton was awarded the prize in painting for his work "Flight From Earth." Waugh won in sculpture for his work called "Steel." The scholarships to the American Academy in Rome, which accompany the award and which run for three years, are worth about $8,000 each. Sitton will graduate from Yale University School of Fine Arts with the degree of bachelor of fine arts in June. He received honorable mention in the Rome prize competition of 1928.

Honorable mention in sculpture was given to William Marks Simpson, jr., of Norfolk, Va. The fellowship in sculpture is supported by the Rinehart fund, donated by the Peabody Institute of Baltimore, Md., and the fellowship in painting is supported by the American Academy.

Advertising 'Trust' Yields in U. S. Suit

Outdoor Companies Accept Ruling Against Activities in Restraint of Trade.

New York, May 6 (A.P.).—The Government's fight to break up an alleged $75,000,000 outdoor advertising monopoly ended in Federal court today when the defendant companies accepted an order enjoining them from operating in restraint of trade.

Entry of a consent decree before Judge Julian W. Mack marked the end of the action, instituted last July against General Outdoor Advertising Co., Inc., the National Outdoor Advertising Bureau, Inc., and others. The suit had been on trial for the last four weeks.

The suit alleged violation of the Sherman antitrust law in that the defendants divided territory to control outdoor advertising in the United States and Canada. Foster & Kleiser Co. had the Pacific Coast and the General Outdoor Advertising Co. held the remaininder of the country, the Government charged.

The consent decree provided that the terms of an agreement between the National Outdoor Advertising Bureau and its members, who constitute 225 general agencies, should be modified to prevent the bureaus continuing as the exclusive agency by which outdoor advertising contracts are placed with display plants throughout the country. Among the Government's charges was the allegation that the bureau was assigning all its contracts for handling for distribution to the General Outdoor Advertising Co.

BUILD HOMES, PLEA TO PARENT-TEACHERS

Education Commissioner and Other Speakers Call Fireside Nation's Basis.

FOUNDERS' DINNER HELD

A plea for preservation of the American home was made by United States Commissioner of Education William John Cooper at the founders' dinner in the Hotel Washington last night, which marked the close of the first day's sessions of the thirty-third annual convention of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers.

Commissioner Cooper told the 800 delegates gathered to honor the founders that machinery and electric power had revolutionized the average home of the Nation, and the fact that many members of a family were gainfully employed brought new complications into homemaking. These facts, together with the new economic status of woman, the commissioner asserted, were chiefly responsible for a change in character of the American home.

The speaker advocated training for homemaking, and he also discussed careers for mothers at length. He stressed the fact that the family as a social institution is a necessary factor in civilization; that it should be governed in a democratic rather than in an autocratic manner, and therefore parents should be trained for the leadership which should be theirs in the family and in the home.

Schools Teach Homemaking.

That the school is a fundamental factor in homemaking was brought out by the commissioner, who gave some instances where schools had made serious efforts to prepare not only girls, but also boys for homemaking. It was pointed out that in some cases children were being trained in junior and regular high schools in homemaking courses, and that in certain schools a course in social relationships of the family had been organized with good results.

In conclusion, the Commissioner urged that each parent should be a successful teacher of home making and said it was one of the tasks of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers to stir the parenthood of the Nation into a more serious attitude toward problems with children.

Dr. Frank W. Ballou, superintendent of schools, acted as toastmaster at the dinner. Greetings were presented from the Board of District Commissioners by Commissioner Proctor Dougherty, president of the board. This was responded to by Mrs. S. M. N. Marrs, national president of the Congress of Parents and Teachers. The following honor guests were introduced: Dr. George Kerby, president of the Canadian Federation of Home and School; J. W. Crabtree, executive secretary of the National Education Association; Mrs. Frederic Schoff, honorary national vice president, and Mrs. David O. Mears, honorary national vice president.

International Leader Speaks.

Mrs A. H. Reeve, president of the International Federation of Home and School Associations, spoke on "The Widening Circle." She outlined the growth of the parent-teacher movement to foreign lands and brought the greetings of her organization and also of the Canadian Federation of Home and School. She said in part:

"Canada and the United States will go together to Geneva, not only to tell other nations what has been done on this side of the ocean to bring home and school together, but to learn from the other countries what they have done to promote the cooperation of parents and teachers.

"Conferences have been arranged before the Geneva convention in England, Scotland France, Belgium and Holland, and following the meeting of the World Federation contacts will be made with Norway, Sweden and Denmark."

The Singing Mothers of the District of Columbia, led by Mrs. Eppa T. Norris, gave a number of musical selections. A pageant, "The Tree of the P. T. A.," was presented by the pupils of the John Eaton School, under direction of Miss Viola Offutt, with Mrs. J. Posnyak as pianist. The following children appeared: Isabelle Bonvillian, Stockton Strong, Ella Posnjak, Richard Cockran, William Powell, Ellen Lee Snodgrass, Donald Pabutte, Marianna Evans, Betty Jane Stout, Robert Zachary and Frederick Brown.

Chair Given to President.

A chair and desk for us of the national president at the national headquarters on Sixteenth street was presented at the dinner by the New York branch in memory of Mrs. Dora C. Tuttle, a founder. The presentation was made by Mrs. W. A. Saltford, acting president of the New York branch.

Warning the delegates against the forces which "are busy breaking down the defenses of the American home," Mrs. Marrs yesterday morning called upon the delegates to rally to the cause of education for worthy home membership. Much of the training that used to be acquired in the home has now been transferred to the schoolroom, she declared, and in this way the very foundation of the home has been shaken.

"Now the pendulum is swinging back," said Mrs. Marrs, "and educational institutions, as well as students of social conditions, recognize that the home again must assume its part of the responsibility in education."

She reminded the delegates that education for worthy home membership had been chosen as the central topic for the present convention. In this aim she asserted education for worthy home membership concerns not only children, but adults. The parents and teachers organization, according to the speaker, is creating a new public attitude toward the home, which demands specific training in family relationships, child care and home making.

"Home Nation's Foundation."

"The home is the foundation of the Nation's life," said Mrs. Marrs, in conclusion, "and if the home fails, the Nation fails."

Reports of committees followed her address. Among those who reported were Mrs. E. C. Mason, chairman convention program committee; Mrs. Harry Semones, chairman of credentials; Mrs. Sherman Brown, chairman of rules, and Dr. Randall J. Condon, chairman of resolutions.

Delegates' and State presidents' conferences and group meetings occupied most of the sessions yesterday.

At the delegates' conference in the hall of nations yesterday morning Mrs. Frederick M. Hosmer presided and the speakers included Dr. Julian E. Butterworth second vice president; Mrs. Hugh Bradford, third vice president; Mrs. Louis T. de Valliere, acting fourth vice president, and Dr. Ruth Andrus, director of child development and parental education of the University of the State of New York.

State Presidents Confer.

The State presidents' conference was presided over by Mrs. J. K. Pettengill, president of the Michigan branch, with the following participating in the discussions: Mrs. Charles Roe, Joy Elmer Morgan and Miss Frances S. Hays.

The State presidents were the guests at luncheon of the District of Columbia Congress of Parents and Teachers.

At the luncheon two little girls of the Keene School of the District, Janet Virginia Joy and Ruth Taylor, dressed as pages, presented each State president with a bag with the shield of the State, from the Keene Parent-Teacher Association.

Among group meetings held during the afternoon were those on preschool associations, high school associations (in which development in the local high schools was described), college associations, and parent-teacher associations and the churches.

Tea at Women's City Club.

A tea was given for the delegates at the Women's City Club by Judge Cathryn Sellers, of the Juvenile Court.

Reports of officers will be held at this morning's session. Among the special addresses will be those by Mrs. Fred Wessels, on "The Parent-Teacher Movement Among the Colored People;" Dr. Valeria H. Parker, on "Parents and Teachers at Work in the Churches," and "The Congress Birthday Celebration in 1929," by Mrs. David O. Mears and Mrs. Fred M. Raymond.

Assistant Attorney General George R. Farum will speak at the "humane education" luncheon at noon. At the third general session this afternoon an address, "Come Into the Garden," will be given by Mrs. Helen Field Fischer, landscape designer of Shenandoah, Iowa.

Round table conferences on "Public Welfare," "Education" and "Home Service" will take place in the afternoon after which the delegates will visit the Capitol and the Congressional Library.

At the night session the principal address will be "Engineering the Home," by Mrs. Lillian Gilbreth, consulting engineer, of Montclair, N. J.

Attack on Heflin Tabled by Council

Motion to Find if Senator Violated Blue Law Sidetracked in Brockton.

Brockton, Mass., May 6 (A.P.).—An order asking that the city marshal investigate to determine whether Senator J. Thomas Heflin, of Alabama, broke the Sunday laws of the State at the time of his speech here March 17, was tabled by the common council here tonight. The vote was twenty to one, with councilman Howard A. Coleman, sponsor of the order, opposing.

The order provided that should the investigation show the senator spoke here without a permit, application for a warrant for Heflin's arrest should be made.

Senator Heflin spoke in Vasa Hall on the night of St. Patrick's Day under auspices of the Ku Klux Klan. A bottle was thrown at him as he was leaving the hall. He since has made several speeches in the United States Senate attacking those responsible for the assault.

ASSASSINS KILL AIDE AS PREMIER ESCAPES

had been hidden in a yard opposite the theater opened fire.

Gudinas, who was standing beside the premier, crumpled and dropped to th ground, killed instantly.

As the men continued to fire at the premier, Miss Jodinaite and the premier's son fell. Both were wounded in the abdomen.

Although bullets were striking on all sides, the premier escaped injury, almost miraculously.

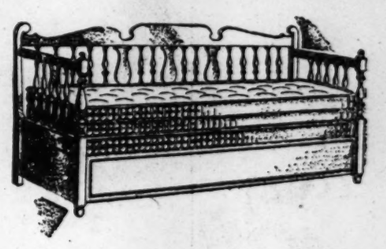

The assailants escaped without being identified.

Valdemaras, a distinguished scholar and writer, took office after the election of President Antanas Smetona, in 1926, after the military overthrow of the previous government. The premier is a member of the Nationalist Union party.

The assassins were supplied with hand grenades for their attack on Valdemaras, police announced after an investigation of the shooting. The bombs also were found in the corner of the theater. They had not exploded.

Police said their investigation revealed that the plot was well prepared and not the work of a fanatic.

London, May 6 (U.P.).—The Daily Mail's correspondent at Riga reported tonight that the attack on Premier Valdemaras at Kovno had resulted in the arrest of a number of the premier's political opponents. It was believed the attack was the result of the premier's prohibition of workers' demonstrations on May Day, the dispatch said, although observers believed the premier's recent decree for immediate disbandment of the Social Democratic party and trade unions might also have influenced the assassins.

HUGHES SELECTION SURPRISES LEADERS

Former Cabinet Official's Son Named Solicitor General by President.

NOT ACTIVE POLITICALLY

By CARLISLE BARGERON.

The "elder statesmen" who are playing such an important part in President Hoover's administration again prevailed over the politicians yesterday when the appointment of Charles Evans Hughes, jr., to be Solicitor General, was announced.

The appointment generally was a surprise, but no more so anywhere than among the New York Republican delegation in Congress. At the White House it was said that the appointment had the indorsement of Edmund Machold, referee of the New York patronage triumvirate, but this is taken to mean that Mr. Machold, who was in Washington Friday, simply agreed when told that the son of the former Secretary of State was the choice.

As to just how Hughes' selection originated is not known. It was definitely stated that his father had nothing to do with it. Not only did the New York Congressional delegation have nothing to do with it, but apparently knew nothing of it. Thirty minutes after Hughes' appointment was announced, inquiries of the delegation elicited the information that the appointee would be George H. Bond, of Syracuse, N. Y.

Bond was generally believed to have had Machold's recommendation.

Has World War Record.

Hughes is 40 years old and is associated with the law firm of Hughes, Round, Schurman & Dwight. He was admitted to practice before the United States Supreme Court in 1920 and appeared before it last in his own right in 1926. He has more frequently appeared before the court with his father, who recently has not been so successful before the higher tribunal. The last instance was his losing fight for the Interborough Rapid Transit Co. in the 5-cent fare case.

The son's position as Solicitor General calls for his representing the Government before the higher tribunal, and observers pointed out that it affords an excellent jumping-off place for a political career. Chief Justice William Howard Taft, John W. Davis, the Democratic presidential nominee four years ago, and Representative James M. Beck, of Pennsylvania, are among those who have held the place.

Hughes has been but moderately active in politics, but the way is now opened to him to enjoy as eminent a career as that of his father. He has a World War record, having gone to France as a private and there received a commission.

His appointment is the second time that Mr. Hoover has ignored the New York organization in appointments relating to the judiciary. The Federal judges named some time ago were not organization selections.

Vare Group Rebuffed.

Similarly, the Vare organization of Philadelphia, is having trouble meeting Mr. Hoover's requirements. Already Mr. Hoover has turned back two recommendations for United States attorney of the Eastern Pennsylvania District and he has turned them back because they are wet. The organization is still being given an opportunity, it is understood, to produce a man, but it must produce a dry. Inasmuch as there are few successful politicians around Philadelphia who are dry, it is not unlikely that the appointment will soon be taken from the organization.

The President's attitude in this Philadelphia appointment is taken as concrete evidence that he intends that all officials having to do with the enforcement of the dry laws must be dry, politically as well as in practice.

It is not known whether Hughes is wet or dry. If he subscribes to the philosophy of his father, however, he is wet, but prohibition cases will seldom come within his purview, and even if he is wet he is probably a very moderate one.

Those whose minds always run to politics see an excellent opportunity for him to prepare himself for the New York gubernatorial nomination next year, to run against Franklin D. Roosevelt. The very suggestion of this, though, dulls the appetite of some members of the congressional delegation whose ambitions are pointing the same way.

CHARLES EVANS HUGHES, Jr.

DOLLAR SHIPS WET, LA GUARDIA AVERS

Despite Contention of Owner, Liquor Is Plentiful, He Tells House.

The ships of the Dollar Line are wet, notwithstanding the claim of their owner, Robert Dollar, that vessels can be operated at a profit without maintaining bars, Representative LaGuardia (Republican), of New York, declared in the House yesterday.

LaGuardia was irked by the action of Representative Louis Cramton, dry Republican, of Michigan, in reading into the Congressional Record a statement by Capt. Dollar that the sale of liquor is not necessary to profitable ship operation.

In assailing Dollar's statement, LaGuardia cited the famous "ginger ale" decision of the Supreme Court, holding that hotels which provide facilities for the mixing of drinks are parties to prohibition law violations.

"I have been expecting the statement of Mr. Dollar to be referred to or put into the Record for several days," LaGuardia said. "With all due deference to the 85-year-old gentleman, I want to say that he does not know what is going on on his ships. Facilities are offered to the passengers on the Dollar ships to consume all the liquor they desire."

Representative Cramton interrupted to say that LaGuardia was evading the main point of the Dollar statement.

"If the gentleman is so eager to carry out that idea," shouted LaGuardia, "let him commence immediately with the pride of the American merchant marine, the Leviathan, recently turned over to private operation, bought with Government money and with only 5 per cent being paid down.

"This ship is now operated under private management with the statement that the bar is wide open. Enforce your law on your Government ships to start with."

"There are no bars on the Dollar ships," Cramton persisted.

"But there is liquor," LaGuardia flung back at him.

"He can not regulate what his passengers do," retorted Cramton.

"Then let him keep quiet about it," said LaGuardia, and the debate was over.

PRESIDENT PLANS WEST INDIES TRIP

Hoover Assures Publisher of Havana Newspaper He Will Keep Promise.

TIME STILL UNDECIDED

(Associated Press.)

President Hoover gave assurances yesterday to M. L. Koenigsberg, Havana newspaper publisher, that he will carry out his preinauguration determination to visit Havana and other of the West Indies Islands while he is Chief Executive.

He also disclosed that it is his purpose to include the Panama Canal Zone in his itinerary. He may go to Haiti, Santo Domingo and the Virgin Islands during the same journey. Such a trip might keep him out of the United States for a month or more.

The President's plans are indefinite, as he must fit them in with the situation in Washington. He would be unable to spare the time for the journey while Congress was in session and it would not be expected that he would visit the West Indies during the midsummer months because of the extreme heat.

Mr. Hoover had intended to visit Havana during his return trip from his good-will tour to South America, but during the homeward journey from Rio de Janeiro he found that it would be necessary for him to go directly to Washington to attend to urgent matters in connection with his then forthcoming administration.

The government and people of Cuba were disappointed by the change of plans and it had been expected that Mr. Hoover might go to the Cuban capital while he was in Florida for his preinauguration vacation. He had not completed his Cabinet selections then, however, and this, with other pressing matters, kept him in the United States.

Day in Congress

SENATE.

Met at noon and adjourned at 5:15 to noon today.

Minority Leader Robinson declared that religion and prohibition were the issues which decided the last election, not farm relief.

Adopted a resolution reviving the Brookhart subcommittee of the post-office and post roads committee, which has been investigating patronage conditions in the South.

Adopted a resolution directing Postmaster General Brown to furnish the Senate with a statement of ownership of the twelve newspapers in which the International Paper & Power Co. has purchased stock.

Senator Stephans (Democrat) Mississippi, wired the judiciary committee that he approved the Steiwer report holding that Secretary of the Treasury Mellon is legally holding his office. The count in the committee is now nine to seven in favor of the Steiwer report.

HOUSE.

Met at noon and adjourned at 12:35 to noon today.

Charman Hawley, of the ways and means committee, announced that the tariff bill would be introduced today.

Representative LaGuardia (Republican), New York, charged that the Dollar Line ships are wet, despite the statement of their owner that ships can be operated successfully without maintaining bars.

LaGuardia introduced three bills designed to curb the purchase of newspapers by public utility corporations.

Adjourned out of respect to the memory of Representative John J. Casey (Democrat), Pennsylvania, who died Sunday in Panama.

T. W. Miller Quits Penitentiary Today

Former Alien Property Custodian, Given 17 Months, Wins Parole.

Atlanta, May 6 (A.P.).—Thomas W. Miller, former alien property custodian, will be released from the Federal Penitentiary here tomorrow on parole from his seventeen months sentence imposed on conviction of "defrauding the Government of his best services."

Miller, who entered the prison in April, 1928, would have completed his sentence with customary "good time allowances" on July 7, 1929. He became eligible for parole last October, but a recommendation in his favor made by the parole board in December was disapproved by Attorney General Sargent. Two months later the Attorney General announced Miller would be released May 7.

The former alien property custodian was convicted in Federal court in New York in 1927, after a long and spectacular trial. Former Attorney General Daugherty was jointly indicted with Miller, but his trial resulted in a jury disagreement, and the charge later was nolle prossed. A $5,000 fine imposed on Miller has been paid.

Miller has been serving in the stock room of the prison. Until last October he was employed in the office as warden's clerk.

No "Whispering Campaign" . . . .

can withstand the light of this truth: Lucky Strikes are made from the finest of fine tobaccos—the cream of the crop. Lucky Strikes alone are toasted because toasting is a secret process. 20,679 physicians definitely state that toasting removes impurities. Then, too, it adds to the flavor and prevents throat irritation. Therefore, without fear of contradiction, we can say truthfully:

"No cigarette, regardless of price, is as good as Luckies whether manufactured by The American Tobacco Company or by any other company."

BERLIN POLICE RAID REDS AS RIOT LULLS

Neukoelln and Wedding Areas Quiet After Disorders Starting May Day.

5 WOMEN AMONG 24 DEAD

Berlin, May 6 (A.P.).—Police raids on Communist organizations today succeeded May-day rioting in the now peaceful districts of Neukoelln and Wedding, as the authorities began an attempt to suppress powerful groups within the party.

Official police figures state that 24 persons, of whom 5 were women, were killed during last week's May-day riots. Twenty-three were killed by bullets and one old man was run over by a police car.

Much documentary material was said to have been seized during the raids, but it is doubtful if this will afford any important information since the Communists had learned in advance of the seisure and had time to prepare for it. The Lokal Anseiger described the raids as "locking the stable door after the horse is stolen."

Sympathetic strikes in the metropolis dwindled today and most of the plants affected were working again with full staffs. This was true of the subway workers, three of whom were among the victims of the rioting.

Police action is suppressing the Communist militant organizations began in many parts of Prussia with Bavaria following suit.

From Duisberg, it was reported that the police had raided the local headquarters of the "fighters of the Red Front" and had seized documents, banners, &c., without resistance. At Madgeburg, the Communist newspaper, Tribune, was suspended for three weeks for inciting the proletariat to arm.

Workers in Leipzig were called on to strike Wednesday afternoon at the hour when the Berlin victims are to be buried by Leipzig Communists, who are also arranging for a great Communist demonstration on May 19 if a proposed meeting at Hamburg should prove impossible.

Farmland Levee Caves; 1,000 Seek to Restore It

Memphis, May 6 (A.P.).—More than 1,000 men were working today on the old Reelfoot levee, 10 miles south of Hickman, Ky., which caved in yesterday. The levee protects a large acreage of farm land in Lake County, Tennessee, from the Mississippi River.

Back of the old levee is another, built last fall by the Government. It still lacks several hundred feet of completion, but forces were sent to speed up the work.

C. E. RICHARDSON'S RITES.

Services for Patent Attorney Will Be Held This Afternoon.

Funeral services for Chauncey Eddy Richardson, 65 years old, who died at his residence at the Kedrick, 1801 K street northwest, Sunday morning, will be held at Hysong's funeral parlors at 2 o'clock this afternoon. The body will be cremated.

Mr. Richardson, an attorney specializing in patent cases, was a native of Vermont and lived for a time in Minnesota. From 1901 to 1906 he was secretary to the late Senator Clapp and to the Indian Affairs Commission. He was a Mason, an Elk, a member of the National Press Club and the Republican Club of Washington. He is survived by the widow, Mrs. Celeste Richardson; two daughters, Mrs. Ada Kupets, of New York, and Miss Celeste L. Richardson, and a brother, Dr. F. A. Richardson, of New Rochelle, N. Y.

Taxis Evade "Cruising" Ban By Carrying Dummy "Fare"

New York Women Find "Grover" Seated Serenely in Waiting Cab in Broadway's Theater Zone; Hackman Explains Manner of Foiling Whalen.

New York, May 6 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—Here's a tale of chicanery, having to do with the wiles of our taxi drivers, who have been forbidden to cruise in the theater zone at night by Commissioner Grover Whalen. We shall report it as it happened, simply adding that it is fact and not fiction.

The other night, leaving a Broadway playhouse after the perfor.nance, two elderly women, minus a male escort, were surprised when the driver of a taxicab, which was standing at the curb, motioned them to get in. They had been warned they would experience no little annoyance in getting a taxi after the performance because of the present traffic regulations.

You can imagine the surprise of one of the women when she opened the cab door and saw that someone already was sitting in the back seat.

"He's only a dummy," explained the hacker. "Just push him out of the way."

The women got into the cab, pushing the dummy fully dressed and crowned with a soft hat that partly concealed the face, out of the way. The taxi oozed into the stream of traffic and sped across town to Fifth avenue, where red traffic lights halted it. During the wait, the hackman turned and through the partly opened window, told his passengers more about "Grover."

"You see," he said, "the cops won't let me in on Broadway unless I have a fare, so I rigged up Grover. That's how I got in front of the theater tonight."

Later, when the two elderly women arrived at their destination, they lifted Grover from the floor, and with gentle hands, put him in a more dignified position. A moment later the cab with its nonchalant passenger was rattling down the street, Broadwaybound once more, where other "fares" would probably be introduced to "Grover."

JOHN A. BAKER, 89, CIVIC LEADER, DIES

Native of City Was Member of "Committee of 100" Half Century Ago.

ACTIVE IN CLUB AFFAIRS

John A. Baker, 89 years old, Washington financier and civic leader, died early yesterday morning at his home at 1819 H street northwest.

Mr. Baker, a native of Washington, was a son of the late Thomas and Mary Baker. He originally engaged in the manufacture of chemical fertilizer, but retired from business 45 years ago, and since has been interested in financial and civic affairs.

The "Committee of One Hundred," through which the present form of government of the District was established a half century ago, had Mr. Baker as its secretary. For a number of years he was chairman of the committee named to select and supply jurymen for the courts.

He was the last surviver of the organizers of Garfield Hospital and for a number of years was chairman of its executive committee and a member of its board of directors.

He was one of the oldest members, in length of membership, of the Metropolitan Club, and was chairman of the committee which had charge of erection of the club building at Seventeenth and H streets northwest. He was a vice president and one of the oldest members of the Chevy Chase Club, and was also a member of the Grasslands Club.

Mr. Baker is survived by a daughter-in law, Mrs. Mary G. Baker, and a granddaughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Baker Kemp Beach. Funeral services will be at the residence at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Burial will be in the Congressional Cemetery.

Apartment hunting is far from a pleasant task. Why not look in the classified columns of The Washington Post. Perhaps the very place you are looking for is advertised today.

CIRCUS LURES LARGE CROWDS TO BIG TENT

Mrs. Hoover Fails to Attend Matinee Performance; 2 Shows Today.

MANY CHILDREN ATTEND

Peanuts and pumas!

For those who did not see it yesterday, the circus plays again today. The circus management had announced that Mrs. Hoover was to attend the matinee yesterday, but the White House last night said she had not.

Notwithstanding the First Lady's absence, the performers played up to standard, the lemonade was just as pink and the clowns every bit as ridiculous.

Hagenbeck-Wallace's circus at the show grounds at Camp Meigs was patronized by large crowds, both afternoon and night, but the performance in the afternoon seemed just a little better, for the time for a circus is in the afternoon, when the children can be there.

And there were hundreds of them, laughing, round-eyed children, awed by the elephants, tickled by the clowns, children eager to get there and tired when they left, so thoroughly had they enjoyed themselves and so full, perhaps, of crackerjack and pop.

De Priest Names Colored Youths to U. S. Schools

Representative DePriest, of Illinois, sole colored member of Congress, has carried out his pledge to his constituents and appointed two colored candidates for admission to the U. S. Naval Academy and one for admission to the U. S. Military Academy.

Alonzo S. Parham has been appointed cadet at West Point and Laurence A. Whitfield and Claude H. Burns as midshipmen at Annapolis. The selections were made following competitive examinations. If the negro youths are found physically and mentally qualified they will enter the two service schools.

HOUSE GETS SECRET TARIFF BILL TODAY

Revision Measure, Framed Behind Closed Doors, to Be Introduced.

FACES SEVERE ATTACKS

(United Press.)

An 85,000 word tariff bill that satisfies nobody completely will be presented to the House today by the ways and means committee after four months of consideration.

This measure has been surrounded by secrecy such as never maintained before about a matter of this importance, but enough has leaked out to provoke criticism from both industrial interests and farmers, and to stir up some excitement in foreign quarters.

The measure is the result of compromises and a check imposed on the committee by President Hoover for only a "limited revision." About a third of the rates have been changed in the Fordney-McCumber act of 1922, the last tariff act.

Farmers have learned that while the committee has raised agricultural rates generally, the advance in some cases is not as much as they had expected. Similarly, industrial rates have not been raised as high as many manufacturers had hoped. Expressions of dissatisfaction are heard at the Capitol from Pennsylvania and Massachusetts industrial representatives.

These are but advance indications of general comment that will begin to buzz today about noon when the bill is introduced formally by Chairman Hawley of the committee, and made public. Democrats will learn, for the first time, just what has been going on in secret meetings of Republican members who drafted the measure.

RASKOB EVOLVES IDEA FOR WORKER ESTATES

Mr. Raskob said the plan now is in a formative state only. He may never carry it out at all or he may do so in the next year. So far, he said, he has only talked it over with economists and bankers, whose identities he declined to reveal.

His investment company would invest only in common stock of standard industrial organizations. There would be no speculating "buying for selling"—he said, and the company would not be permitted to go into debt. Thus, in case of a temporary slump in the Nation's prosperity, there would be no danger of its assets being wiped out. And the company would endeavor to control the market price of its stock to prevent fictitious valuations. The selling price of its stock would be held down to its actual value.

Operating alongside this company, but separately, would be the "acceptance corporation." The investor could borrow money from this corporation to pay for the stock in the investment lateral, and paying off the indebtedness by the month.

Although he discounted a published statement that he had under consideration requesting former President Coolidge and former Gov. Alfred E. Smith to be members of the board of directors, Mr. Raskob said he would make every effort, if he did carry out the plan, to have on the board men recognized as industrial and financial leaders, men in whose integrity the public would have the highest faith.

Haskell Sues Duke; $24,000,000 Sought

(Associated Press.)

A suit, for $24,000,000 damages was filed yesterday in the Supreme Court by George D. Haskell, of Massachusetts, against the estate of James B. Duke.

Haskell contends the damage resulted from a broken agreement between himself and the Duke interests over a Canadian power project. He alleges a conspiracy between the Duke interests and the Aluminum Co. of America relating to the project.

Secretary Mellon, as a stockholder in the aluminum company, gave a deposition in this case last July. That deposition, showing a trip to Canada by Mr. Mellon in his interest as a stockholder and in connection with project now in litigation, was placed before the Senate judiciary committee during its recent consideration of Mr. Mellon's right to hold office.

VETERAN FRONTIER PEACE OFFICER DIES

WAS CLARA HAMON GUARD

Ardmore, Okla., May 6 (A.P.).—Buck Garrett, 58, veteran peace officer of Oklahoma, died at his home here today following a stroke of paralysis.

Garrett figured prominently in the capture and trial of Clara Smith Hamon, who shot and killed Jake Hamon, Republican national committeeman, in an Ardmore hotel in 1920. It was Garrett who brought the young woman back from Mexico after she had been traced to Chihuahua City by Sam Blair, then a Chicago newspaper reporter. During her trial for murder, in which she was acquitted, Garrett served as her bodyguard.

Romancers who wrote of Garrett repeatedly called him a "two-gun sheriff," but they spoke in error, for he was never a two-gun man. And in the two score years or more that he wore a badge of authority he never killed a man while in the pursuit of duty, but he made a picturesque figure against the grim background of the last of the frontiers.

Buck Garrett was born in Lenville, Tenn., in 1871 and was brought to Paris, Tex., as a child.

At the age of 18, he became a member of a relentless band of Federal officers in Oklahoma, fighting desperate bands of outlaws, cattle rustlers and horse thieves.

In the nearly 20 years Garrett was a Federal marshal, he worked with fellow officers in rounding up the celebrated Dalton gang, several members of which were captured and Bill Dalton killed by a posse in a gun fight near Pooleville, Okla., some time after the famous Coffeyville, Kas., raid. The National gang, the Johns gang, the Oates gang and dozens of other outlaw bands, whose names brought fear to settler and trainmen, were operating in the territory in those days.

Retiring from Federal service Garrett ran for chief of police of the booming city of Ardmore and was elected to three terms.

Meantime, came Statehood. In 1910 he was elected sheriff of Carter County, serving until 1922, when he was ousted.

HOWARD, ASSISTANT TO MITCHELL, QUITS

Loss of Political Influence in Mississippi Under Hoover Recalled.

SUSPENSION IS LIFTED

(Associated Press.)

Shorn of his political power by President Hoover, Perry W. Howard, negro national committeeman for Mississippi, who recently was acquitted of charges of receiving money to influence Federal appointments, resigned yesterday as an Assistant Attorney General.

The resignation was coincident with the lifting of the suspension order issued by former Attorney General Sargent after Howard's indictment in Mississippi about a year ago in connection with patronage affairs. He twice was brought to trial and was acquitted in each instance.

Attorney General Mitchell said he had not requested Howard's resignation. However, in view of President Hoover's statement recently that patronage disclosures in Mississippi rendered it impossible for the old organization there to command the confidence of the administration, the retirement of Howard from the Government service had been expected here.

Howard was appointed an Assistant Attorney General early in the Harding administration and long has been prominent in Republican party affairs in his own State. He was a somewhat familiar figure at the party conventions and was among those who supported Mr. Hoover for the nomination in Kansas City.

The retiring Assistant Attorney General continues to hold the title of national committeeman for Mississippi, but the direction of party affairs was taken out of his hands during the campaign and now is in charge of a committee from which negroes have been eliminated.

Round-the-World Pilot Arrives in Washington

Erle Nelson, who was a pilot on the round-the-world flight made by the Army in 1922, landed at Hoover Field yesterday from New York with a new Boeing mail plane, few of which are seen east of Chicago. Nelson is employed by the Boeing Co., operators of the longest leg of the transcontinental route.

The purpose of his visit, he said, was twofold. First, he was calling on heads of Government departments as part of an effort to investigate commercial aviation in the East. Second, he paid a personal visit to Capt. Ira C. Eaker, operations manager of Hoover Field, with whom he was in close contact during Capt. Eaker's recent flight to Panama and return in a new Boeing pursuit ship.

MYTHICAL RUSSIAN TRADE.

The British industrial delegation that went to Soviet Russia in April with hopes of "establishing a broad economic base for trade" has returned with quite a different conception of the possibilities of commerce with the Soviet. In some quarters Britain and the United States have been considered rivals for trade with "the new Russia." Dispatches from London indicate, now that the industrial delegation has returned, that suckers in this country will have no competition for the mythical Russian market in the future.

The 80 British business men were received with great ceremony, and lavish promises of tremendous business were dangled before their eyes. A formal statement of the Soviet government announced that if a "satisfactory agreement" could be reached and a "mutually acceptable financial program" worked out, then "we shall without any difficulty be able to place orders in England amounting to 150,000,000 pounds." If ample British capital were available the import program might be increased by 50,000,000 pounds more. Of course, this choice bait was held out only "on the basis of renewal of normal diplomatic relations between our governments."

The Britishers have decided to leave the bait for Americans. They found the phantom orders were dependent on long trade credits and big loans to Moscow, in addition to diplomatic recognition. "The possibilities for trade in Russia are enormous, but not under the existing regime," said one of the delegates. "The bolsheviks may be right and government trading be the right form of commerce, but it will never work till the rest of the world thinks the same way." He found that the Soviets have killed initiative and enterprise. Economic and diplomatic relations with Russia under these circumstances are impossible.

The experience of the British should silence those who are working for Soviet recognition by the United States. Stalin's government is sparing no effort to entice the United States into an arrangement through which American capital would be poured into the coffers of the Soviet in the hope of expanding trade. Loans and credit, besides diplomatic recognition of an insecure communist government, which is a deadly enemy of the so-called capitalistic nations, is the offer that has been held out to England and America. Propaganda as to the advantages of trade with the Soviet is a poor brand of trickery through which the reds hope to finance their communistic schemes. The Russian people have nothing with which to buy. They have been ruined by the fool theories of one dictator after another. Any amount of capital would not assure the reconstruction of the country as long as the reds are in control. It is a pity that some prominent Americans are gullible enough to lend their influence to the Soviet's crooked schemes.

TELEPHONING TO TRAINS.

In perfecting a thoroughly satisfactory system of "two-way' voice transmission between speeding trains and between trains and commercial central offices, engineers of the Canadian National Railways have made an important contribution to the development of telephonic communication. The system was demonstrated to newspaper men last Sunday. It involves the use of telegraph wires as radio aerials, without impairing their efficiency as telegraph carriers. The system is to be installed on all the crack trains of the Canadian National System, and will enable passengers to utilize the full facilities of long distance telephone service. At the same time communication will be possible to trains and between trains.

The advantages of a constantly available means of communication to trains are obvious. Train travelers, no less than ocean voyagers, always have been out of touch with the world except for the brief moments when trains are halted in stations. Telegrams may be addressed to train passengers for delivery at stops, but this arrangement is at best unsatisfactory, and suffices only for the want of a better means of communication.

The only drawback to the new system lies in the fact that another retreat from business and clanging telephone bells will be destroyed. Radiotelephony sooner or later will be made available upon transatlantic vessels, and then there will be no place left this side of the Arctic Circle where a harassed business man may escape from the queries of his subordinates.

VESTRIS REVELATIONS.

The testimony of Chief Officer F. W. Johnson, senior surviving officer of the ill-fated Vestris, which sank off the Virginia Capes last November, offered in connection with the British Board of Trade inquiry, serves to shed a somewhat different light upon the tragedy. The American investigation of the sinking was most unsatisfactory. Mr. Johnson, a reluctant witness, ascribed no cause except "unusually bad weather." In London, however, he admits, apparently, that the ship was overloaded, and he suggests that he was advised by the late Capt. Carey to falsify the log record in respect to the loading. He says further: "We didn't want the American people to get hold of this overloading business and we were trying to conceal it. That was our intention from the beginning. We wanted to get home and we didn't want to be in those courts all the time in America. We tried to be loyal to our company."

The Johnson testimony indicates that the tragedy might have been avoided had the owners loaded the ship properly, or had there been an efficient inspection service to prevent her from faring forth improperly loaded. This development gives additional force to the movement, already under way, to tighten up steamboat inspection regulations.

More than this, however, the fact that Chief Officer Johnson believed himself justified in misleading an American board of inquiry may serve to precipitate a movement to make all ships, of all nations, subject to American inspection laws. The Vestris was British owned, although she sailed between an American port and South America exclusively. She sailed, apparently, in violation of both the American and British regulations, and now it develops that her chief officer willfully misled the American board of inquiry. This fact may have no special significance, in a large sense, but it probably will stimulate the movement to make more rigid regulations applicable to all ships.

SENATOR EDGE FOR PARIS.

The report that Senator Walter E. Edge, of New Jersey, has been tendered the post of Ambassador to France is generally credited. If he should decide to accept the appointment the country would be well pleased, knowing that the difficult task of finding a suitable successor to the late Ambassador Herrick had been accomplished.

In many particulars the American Embassy at Paris is the most important in the diplomatic service. From the time of Franklin the United States Government has chosen its most accomplished citizens to represent it in France, not only because of the complicated questions that sometimes arise, but because Paris is the social as well as political capital of Europe. The ideal envoy to Paris is one who combines diplomatic ability with social charm, whereby he can form friendships with the scores of public men who flock to Paris from all parts of Europe, and thus make his post a central station through which the President and the Secretary of State can accurately appraise European opinion.

Senator Edge is admirably qualified by training and temperament for the post at Paris. His career in the Senate has been marked by constructive endeavors and debate of a high order, in which senatorial courtesy has been more than a mere vestigial form. He would take to Paris the prestige of distinguished service and the warm regard of his colleagues. That senatorial experience is valuable in the diplomatic field was shown by the success with which Senator Berenger discharged the duties of Ambassador to Washington. Like M. Berenger, Senator Edge has gained a thorough knowledge of foreign questions through service on the committee on foreign relations.

In the brilliant social life of Paris Senator Edge and his accomplished wife would find a cordial welcome and a quick pathway into the hearts of the French people. Thus the good work of the late Ambassador Herrick would not be lost, but would be carried forward without interruption by Ambassador Edge.

SOLICITOR GENERAL HUGHES.

President Hoover has given encouragement to all young men by his appointment of Charles Evans Hughes, jr., to be solicitor general. This is the most arduous legal post in the Government service, and in some respects the most responsible. It has been held by some of the foremost lawyers in the country, and has been the stepping stone to great careers. The solicitor general is the spokesman of the Government before the Supreme Court. Legal ability of the first order is a prime qualification for the office.

It is gratifying to the public to see the progress of worthy sons of famous men. In many instances the sons are actually handicapped by the renown of their fathers. Charles E. Hughes stands in the first rank of the world's jurists, but his prominence has not obscured the fact that his son is also a capable lawyer who is well fitted for a public career. If Mr. Hoover's appointments in the judicial department are all on a par with his choice in the present case the public will applaud his success in promoting the cause of justice. The new solicitor general begins his duties under the most pleasant auspices and with all good wishes for his success.

MIDSHIPMEN AS RHODES SCHOLARS.

In announcing that midshipmen of the first and second classes will be considered eligible to compete for Rhodes scholarships the Navy Department calls attention to the fact that Cecil Rhodes, donor of the scholarships, specified that successful candidates should possess literary and scholastic ability and attainments, qualities of manhood, truth, devotion to duty, sympathy, kindliness, unselfishness and fellowship, that they should exhibit moral force of character and an instinct to lead, and that they should take an interest in their schoolmates and possess physical vigor. These are the attributes that distinguish the ideal naval officer. The Naval Academy system seeks to develop such characteristics. Midshipmen should be well equipped to compete for Rhodes scholarships.

The naval officer is more than a sailor, a navigator, a master of gunnery and a disciplinarian. He must excel in all these arts, but he must be, moreover, a scholar and a gentleman, able to administer a civil post and capable of representing creditably his Government in difficult and delicate missions. Frequently, in remote spots, he becomes the only tangible representation of the United States, and it is important that he be qualified to reflect credit upon the Government. The contacts made by Rhodes scholars and the additional schooling they obtain will benefit in no small measure the midshipmen who are so fortunate as to pass the examinations.

Furthermore, it will reflect to the benefit of the United States to send midshipmen to England as Rhodes scholars. The young men who graduate from the Naval Academy are representative of American youth. The country would be proud to send them to England.

WALTER JOHNSON'S ILLNESS.

Since his retirement as a ball player Walter Johnson has suffered a series of ailments. Early last year he was stricken with influenza in the Florida training camp of the Newark Club and was unable to assume active leadership of that team until the season was well under way. In February he was again laid low with influenza and it was not until late in April that he was feeling fit. Last Friday he contracted a cold and on Sunday he developed a fever. Last night he left Cleveland, and today he will enter a Washington hospital.

Walter Johnson's health is a matter of concern to tens of thousands of baseball fans and a host of friends. The former pin high hope on his leadership of the team. They believe that under substitute leadership the team will not function as efficiently or as aggressively. To his friends, however, his illness is a matter of even greater concern.

The exact nature of Barney's illness has not been disclosed, nor even whether it is looked upon as dangerous. It is to be hoped that his recovery will be speedy and complete.

President Hoover chides the White House correspondents because they don't ask enough questions, but, then, a habit of six years' standing is not easily broken.

THE WATERMELON SONG

By ROBERT BARRY,
In the New York Evening World.

"Oh, de dew it am a fallin', dat 'million's gwineter cool
An' soon it will be very, very fine;
But bless yo' soul, my honey, dis darkey ain' no fool
To leave it dar a hangin' on de vine.

"Oh, de ham bone am good, de bacon am sweet,
'Possum meat am very, very fine;
But gimme, oh, gimme, oh how I wish you would,
Dat watermillion hangin' on de vine."

That is the first verse and the chorus of the National Capital's most famous song.

More distinguished men have heard it and sung the chorus than any other number on record. It is Maj. Alfred J. Stofer's "De Watermillion Hangin' on de Vine," a feature of Gridiron Club dinners since 1894.

In more propitious days members and their guests sometimes sang the song until daylight. The major sang the watermillion song at a private dinner recently and never did he sing it any better. It has been a favorite of five Presidents, some of whom have made special requests when it was not included in a set program.

I have been after Maj. Stofer, of Culpeper Courthouse, Va., the veteran correspondent of the Birmingham News, for several years to give me the history of the song and he has consented finally to do so.

I give it in his own words:

"The first time I ever heard the song as written by its composer, was in May, 1893, at Hazelhurst Farm, Somerset, Orange County, Va., when I was a guest of my cousin, the late Frank Nalle, owner of Hazelhurst, and who subsequently was twice a guest of mine at our Gridiron Club dinners.

"The song as rendered by one of the dinner guests that evening in the library of my cousin's attractive country residence, did not impress me—but nevertheless, on account of my friendship for the gentleman who rendered it, and also because I was supremely happy even as a small boy in Virginia when we had watermelon at our home in Culpeper County, the words of the song, after my return to Washington, kept coming to me in fragments. Consequently within two or three weeks after my return to Washington I wrote to Mr. Thomas Barbour (the gentleman who rendered the song that Sunday evening at Hazelhurst) and asked for the words, and which he kindly mailed to me promptly.

"About that time I commenced to get banjo instructions from a former member of a minstrel company—Johnny Mack by name, who taught what was called in those days the 'simple method.' It had to be simple or I never would have gotten very far.

"I inquired at a music store if they had a darkey song called 'De Watermillion Hangin' on de Vine,' and the obliging clerk promptly produced it. According to my recollection the author of the song was named Westerndorfer or some such name, who came over from Germany when a young man, and when he composed the song was living in the mountain section of Tennessee. Of course, he was not an adept in portraying negro dialect. In fact, the dialect was away off. But his intentions were there all right.

"I tried that song in ever so many different ways to produce an effect that would warrant me in springing it some night at a rehearsal of the music committee of the Gridiron Club.

"In November, 1894, the music committee of the Gridiron Club held a meeting in a room in the Columbia Theater Building, Twelfth and F streets, to map out the program for the December dinner. When I was asked what I had to contribute for the occasion, hesitatingly I told the chairman I had been practicing a song and would try it out, but was not certain about it. Dear 'Hub' Smith went to the piano, and after running his fingers up and down the keys said: 'Let it go, Stofer.'

"The committee approved the song, and it was warbled by me for the first time at the Gridiron Club dinner given in December, 1894. Been sung so many times since by me I wonder why any sane or sober man ever asks for it. Seems to me they would have tired of it years ago, but as long as good fellows request it, and I am certain my voice has not failed me, I will continue to bear in mind, if they want to hear it, they shall to the best of my ability. But believe me, when I fear my vocal chords are getting weak I'll quit warbling all of a sudden."

Well, Here It Is!

The Worker Who Need Not Work Takes Bread From One Who Must.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

She violates nature's plan, and to violate nature is to invite disaster.

The female of the species may be more deadly than the male, and certainly the she tiger and the she wolf labor no less than their mates to get their daily meat; but man's young are more helpless than any other, and when woman was endowed by nature with the duty and the ability to care for them, she was disqualified for other tasks that burden men.

Modern women, living and dressing sensibly and training themselves as athletes, demonstrate their ability to endure hardship and long-sustained effort; but one girl's ability to perform in a circus does not change the fact that women are weaker than men.

Whatever woman's rights may be, and however capable she may be as a wage-earner, the fact remains that she must bear the children if any are borne, and she can not bear children while holding a job.

Because our civilization is foolish and unjust and cruel, there are many women who must labor for hire to support fatherless children, to support invalid husbands and parents, and to earn their own bread.

But the existence of a wrong does not prove it right. Women on the continent pull plows, but custom does not lessen the brutality of a civilization that tolerates such abuses.

The woman who must work deserves a man's pay if she takes a man's place.

She gets less, however, for many women who work for hire are driven by no other necessity than boredom and the desire for "their own pin money," and these, desiring a way to kill time more than they covet the reward of money, willingly work for small wages and thus cheapen the labor of women who must work or starve.

What is more, and worse, as they become more like men—in vigor, ability and independence—they scorn the age-old duties and privileges of womanhood. Because babies interfere with freedom, they will have no babies.

Thus the better class—the educated, strong and independent—becomes ever less prolific, and the business of reproducing the race falls more and more upon the poor and the unfit.

Thus the meek surely will inherit the earth, for the others leave no progeny.

The women workers who need not work deprive men of jobs, lower the wages of women who must work and slowly but surely lower the birth rate of the fit.

They have their pin money, and thus avoid the humiliation of appealing to father or husband, but the world pays a great price to save their pride.

THE MIKADO.

When Hirohito, in November, 1928, was formally made Emperor of Japan he brought again to the minds of foreigners—which is to say, those not Japanese—the title by which most of the world knows the ruler of Nippon, mikado. W. S. Gilbert and Arthur S. Sullivan made the name famous with their comic opera of that title. Always, popularly outside of Japan and poetically in Japan, the mikado is the title of the exalted sovereign of that land.

The word mikado has an interesting origin. It is made up, according to Webster's New International Dictionary, of "mi," a term of honor or respect, and "kado," door. In a manner of speaking, the mikado is therefore an honored door, or, in another phrase, an exalted gate.

Today the Emperor of Japan has constitutionally limited powers, though he has always been one of the world's most omnipotent rulers within his domain. There was, however, a period of almost three centuries during which his power was largely in the hands of the shoguns—actually from about 1600 to 1868. Even then, in theory, at least, the shoguns received their power from the authority of the mikado.

The shoguns were military governors; the word shogun comes from the Chinese for "leader of an army." The title passed from family to family through centuries. In the revolution of 1867-1868 the title was abolished and full power was restored to the emperor or mikado.

Another name for the shogun was tycoon, which is sometimes used in this country to denote an important man who is a leader in his field.

HORSE VS. MOTOR.

The contest between horses and motor vehicles continues. Messengers arrive at the Old Dobbin headquarters to report here a loss and there a gain. Capitulation on the part of the horses is certainly still out of sight, observes the New York Sun.

Coal firms in New York City, for example, which possess plenty of motor trucks use horses for short hauls, finding that they give better results in this service. The Horse Association of America, whose mission is to safeguard the interests of the horse, reports that the tractor has a long way to go before it captures the American farms. It estimates the total number of horses and mules on farms in the United States at 19,500,000 and the tractor total at 700,000.

Portsmouth, N. H., on the other hand, sends news of a reverse. Tom and Dan, two big black horses, sole survivors of over 25 horses and a number of ox teams in the Portsmouth Navy Yard stables, are to be transferred to the agricultural department of the University of New Hampshire. This is in accordance with the Navy Department's policy of replacing animals at naval stations with trucks and other machines.

In the retirement of Tom and Dan and selection of their refuge there is something peculiarly fitting. Just as an old salt dreams of retiring to a farm so Tom and Dan, after years of service to the sea, are to devote their declining days to agriculture. A pleasant incident of their establishment in a new environment is a stipulation that the pair are to have only light work.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

A Sufferer From the Bounty Plan Protests Against the Debenture Feature of the Senate Farm Bill.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The debenture plan now being discussed in the United States Senate, will, if passed and approved, be an export bounty, pure and simple.

This country has shown clearly that it will not stand for a bounty in any form, for any length of time.

Years ago, when there was a Treasury surplus, raw sugar was put on the free list and a sliding scale bounty paid to the sugar producers of the United States.

This bounty was to be for fourteen years, but to be gradually reduced in amount year by year.

The sugar producers of this country protested the measure from its inception, realizing that it would become unpopular and be abrogated long before the fourteen-year period had been reached and which had been specified in the act of Congress.

As a matter of fact, the measure was killed by a succeeding Congress, within a few years, and the sugar industry, particularly in Louisiana and Texas, has been on the rocks ever since, discredited by the banking world and having to pay the highest rates of interest for loans when possible to secure same.

Years ago Germany, having a surplus in its sugar production and also wishing to secure gold in large quantities, granted an export bounty on sugar. This became so obnoxious to this country that a law was passed by Congress, levying a countervailing duty on all imported sugars that had their origin in any country granting an export bounty to its own sugar producers.

It is suggested that our senators might look with profit into this phase of the proposed debenture plan and ask themselves, if adopted, what action they might logically expect to be taken by our foreign friends and customers.

BOUNTY SUFFERER.

Grand Jury Indulging in "Twaddle," Says Rear Admiral Kimball, Who Insists That One Law Must Be Violated If Another Is to Be Enforced.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: In your editorial, "The Citizen and the Law," published in The Post of Sunday, May 5, you state: "The grand jury touches the heart of the present problem when it states that 'no individual has the right to determine what law shall be obeyed and what laws shall be enforced.'"

When the obedience and enforcement of laws, enacted to legalize a certain intent, absolutely prevent the obedience and enforcement of other laws enacted to legalize the same intent, a choice has to be made as to which laws shall be attempted to be enforced and which laws disobeyed.

It is a matter of common knowledge that the condition of prohibition legislation was such that the individual, Calvin Coolidge, was forced to choose whether he would obey the self-invalidated rum-pact treaty laws, or the eighteenth amendment of the Constitution and the Volstead law.

It is a matter of common knowledge that the individual, Calvin Coolidge, determined to obey and enforce the rum-pact treaty law and thereby, according to the finding of the Supreme Court, to nullify the eighteenth amendment of the Constitution and violate the Volstead law.

Your statement, like that of the grand jury, which you approvingly quote, is mere dreary twaddle, of which, only those of us the people who can not think, pretend to believe that it sounds as if, somehow, somewhere, it might have some meaning.

Some Boy May Succeed to Tom Edison's Place if the Search for an Embryo Wizard Proves Successful.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Thomas A. Edison, according to an article in a recent Post, is seeking the boy best fitted to carry on the work of the great inventor, and to prepare this youth to wear his mantle as it falls from shoulders that have worn it well.

A fine thing to do. An idea worthy of this genius, who is one of our greatest benefactors.

It is characteristic of the generosity of Edison, to desire that the gifts of invention that have brought so much of comfort and of educational and utilitarian value to the people, be carried on through the life span of another "wizard," if such an one in embryo exists.

Fortunate boy! One of the many who are dreaming dreams and seeing visions of great things he would do—and it has been said that our dreams but indicate our latent capabilities—one of these dreamers is to have the way made clear to realization and accomplishment; and the world is to be the recipient of his gifts, even as we are enjoying the fruits of Edison's genius and untiring industry.

LEILA DIX SIMON.

One Canadian Calls Another Down for Protesting Against American High Protection When He Is a High Protectionist Himself.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The speech of Mr. Cahan, of Montreal, before your chamber of commerce convention reveals the inconsistency of that speaker in a glaring way. He is a high protectionist in the House of Commons of Canada, but protested against high protection against Canada in the United States! It was well that he said he spoke only for himself, because advising other people about their own business and in such a way is neither good manners nor good sense.

Mrs. Marie Zapisky will be in charge of the entertainment feature for the garden party which will be given at La Colline, 3900 Cathedral avenue the afternoon of May 25.

The garden party will be given for the benefit of the educational fund for the orphans of service men, a new venture inaugurated to insure the welfare of the children of men in all branches of the service, including the foreign service.

The name of the Assistant Secretary of the Navy, Mr. Ernest Lee Jahncke, has been added to the list of boxholders already announced for the Hunt ball and breakfast to be given in honor of the Washington Horse Show on May 17 at the Mayflower. Others recently added to the list include Mrs. Gibson Fahnestock, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Collican, and Mrs. Morris Evans and Miss Meta Evans.

The members of the Loyal Legion will give their annual dinner at the Willard Hotel tomorrow evening.

Mr. Amos W. Taylor, of Belmont, Mass., chairman of the Massachusetts Republican State committee, entertained at dinner in the presidential suite at the Willard last night for the members of the Massachusetts Republican delegation and for Senator Frederick H. Gillett, of that State. He had fifteen guests.

"Hard to say, but I often have to warn the girls"

—Says a woman athletic director in discussing woman's oldest hygienic problem

When they learn of this new process* which neutralizes all odor in sanitary pads, they no longer fear offending others—self-consciousness disappears entirely

NO woman, from girlhood on, is free from the possibility of offending others at times. Often she is not even aware of it. When she learns, doubt and worry make light-heartedness impossible. Now a discovery of Kotex scientists overcomes this fear; each pad is scientifically treated to end all odor. The process is patented. No other pad offers such security.

No evidence of sanitary protection

That other fear—the feeling of being conspicuous—is also eliminated. Corners of the Kotex pad are scientifically rounded and tapered so as to leave no evidence of sanitary protection.

Yet every advantage remains

You can so easily adjust layers of filler. It is, as always, absorbent to an amazing degree. The remarkable absorbency is still one of the most important advantages of Kotex. Cellucotton absorbent wadding takes up 16 times its own weight in moisture.

Nothing is like the softness and delicate protection of Cellucotton absorbent wadding. The identical material used by surgeons in 85% of the country's leading hospitals, it must be hygienically superior and comfort-giving to the utmost degree.

The fact that you can so easily dispose of it makes a great difference to women. And a new treatment renders it softer than you thought possible.

SUPER-SIZE KOTEX
Formerly 90c—Now 65c

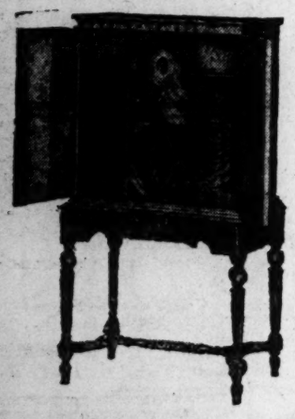

Some women find Super-size Kotex a special comfort. Exactly the same as the Regular size Kotex, but with added layers of Cellucotton absorbent wadding.

Won't you try the Improved Kotex—buy a box this very day. It is 45c for a box of twelve, at any drug, dry goods or department store; also obtained through vending cabinets in rest-rooms.

STUDENT LIBERATED IN TORCH DEATH CASE

3 PHOTOGRAPHERS HELD

White Plains, N. Y., May 6 (N.Y.W. N.S.).—Principal developments today in the case of Earle Francis Peacox, charged with the torch murder of his wife, Dorothy Heinzelman, were the release of Eugene Bussey, Johns Hopkins student and friend of the dead woman, and the arrest of three newspaper photographers for contempt of court.

Bussey was released from the county jail here shortly before noon, appearing sulky, chastened and severely disillusioned. He had nothing to say to the reporters. With his counsel, David Gorfinkel, he went to the office of District Attorney Coyne reassuring him he would be available any time he was needed during the trial.

Gorfinkel sought a writ of habeas corpus before Justice Arthur S. Tompkins, sitting in special term here. The question of the writ was held in abeyance after Sidney A. Syme, counsel for Peacox, and District Attorney Coyne entered into an agreement for Bussey's release, approved by Justice Tompkins. It stipulated that Bussey is freed without bail for the return to his studies on the promise that he is to be produced when Syme requires his presence and that Gorfinkel is to pay any expenses incurred by Peacox in bringing Bussey to White Plains should Bussey refuse to come.

Bussey was arrested as a material witness last week at the request of former Assistant District Attorney John M. Holzworth, who appeared briefly as counsel for Peacox, and then withdrew when members of the Peacox family retained Syme. Gorfinkel said Bussey would sue Holzworth for false arrest.

As Bussey left the courtroom with a deputy sheriff, nearly a dozen camera men were waiting in the hallway outside the door. He was followed by a string of spectators. There was a sudden flare, a blast and a cloud of smoke began permeating the courtroom.

This angered Justice Tompkins. He sent five court officers and the clerk of the court to capture the offenders. They searched for five minutes and then returned with three camera men. They were Albert Aumuller, Joseph Costa and Elvet Smith. They will appear at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning to answer a charge of contempt of court.

Miss Frances Newman, held as a material witness, was questioned for several hours by District Attorney Coyne. He said her story remains unshaken. Others questioned were Miss Margaret E. Lord, former roommate of Dorothy Peacox; Miss Caroline Winter, of Bronxville, a friend, and Miss Beatrice Brown, former fiancee of Peacox. "Loose ends" in the story of the murder are being gathered, Mr. Coyne remarked.

The Westchester County grand jury, expected to consider the murder, was sworn in today by Supreme Court Justice George H. Taylor. It elected as its formeman Daniel C. Nolan, a former county supervisor of Yonkers.

Dr. Drury Given Office Of Bishop-Coadjutor

Philadelphia, May 6 (A.P.).—The Rev. Dr. Samuel S. Drury, of St. Paul School, Concord, N. H., was today elected bishop-coadjutor of the Protestant Episcopal Diocese of Pennsylvania. Other candidates included the Rev. Dr. Robert M. Johnston, St. John's Church, Washington.

Today was the fifth time an election has been held for the office, the successful candidates at the previous elections having declined for various reasons.

Correcting dangerous food fads

SUGAR & COMMON SENSE needed in the diet

Medical and scientific men are leading a swing toward sanity in diet.

PUBLIC opinion in the United States in recent years has been swept by numerous nation-wide food fads, most of them ludicrous, many of them harmful. The craze for slimness, exposed as dangerous by physicians, is an example. The fad for omitting sugar from the diet is another.

Alarmed by the dangers of these fads, medical and scientific men are leading a swing toward sanity in diet. Twelve medical specialists and dieticians recently prepared a symposium exposing the dangers to men, women and girls of starvation diets and "reduction treatments," so called, for slimness.

"The most delicate parts of the body are always the ones to suffer first," says one medical specialist. "Keep children and young people well nourished and up to weight," says another.

Medical directors before an eastern tuberculosis conference recently warned of the dangers of under-dieting of young girls. "The most difficult problem," said one of the directors, "facing us in combating tuberculosis among high-school girls, and particularly among the young flappers of today, is the serious habits they practice to retain or acquire a slim and graceful figure. . . . The problem of nutrition is the one we have to face in our treatment of girls of this age. It is at this age that girls are most susceptible to tuberculosis and other diseases."

A research food biologist, at one of the great universities, recently said: "Sugar makes it easier to eat roughage—mineral salts and fruit vitamins. Sugar modifies the fruit acids and makes the fruits even more palatable. It does not injure or change in any way the delicate compounds. At least 90% of constipation is due to a lack of roughage. Eat bran, fruits and vegetables sweetened to taste."

A group of cooking experts, working in New York, recently discovered that the use of sugar makes healthful vegetable dishes delicious to the taste. In every case, the vegetables cooked with little water and correct amount of sugar won unanimously.

Sanity in diet calls for varied foods, tastefully prepared. In addition to milk and milk products, young people and adults should eat a varied diet of cereals, fresh or canned vegetables and fruits, and meats. Sugar makes these healthful foods enjoyable. Remember the satisfying value of tapioca puddings, fruit whips and shortcakes, jams and jellies at a meal. A bit of sweet makes the meal complete. The Sugar Institute, 129 Front Street, New York, N. Y.

Since some one started years ago the custom of trying to find hidden meanings in the plays of Henrik Ibsen the game has gone on, and on, and on, until now comes the Actors Theater, Inc., with "The Wild Duck," to lay bare all the innuendoes.

For full three acts last evening in the Belasco the troupe of actors and actresses, headed by Blanche Yurka, went about the task of dissecting Ibsen, and doing it in a marvelously offhand manner. The strokes were broad burlesque. After that, when the last two acts called for a somberness that usually attends tragedy, the mood was measured to melodrama, and there were moments when many must have doubted whether they were here in Washington or over in Hoboken. Perhaps this is, after all, the way to deal with this Norwegian; to shake the dull spots out of his moralizing and philosophizing, and to take away some of the gloom that has hitherto been attached to his plays. Certainly, the method is not without its provocatives of laughter.

William Archer, who made this translation, was one of the early Ibsenites. So his script is naturally in sympathy with the original. No less an authority than George Bernard Shaw has handed down his opinion on the play—a masterpiece, he calls it—and that stands. It is the method here involved that comes in for attention, and perhaps that, too, is after the Archer-Shaw manner. The only question is: Must all the innards of "The Wild Duck" be put on the table?

Henrik Ibsen had here his fling at those busybodies who go through the world prowling into the affairs of others. A masterpiece he made of it. The story, so well known to theatergoers and readers of closet drama, opens up the avenues of symbolism—and the boys and girls concerned with the Belasco production have at it, hammer and tongs. There is that illusion to the wild duck that nestles in the garret, where grandfather Ekdal, a mighty bear hunter of other days, goes once in a while to shoot him a rabbit. By the time that bit of gunnery is exploited good round laughter envelops the house every time the old man reaches for his cap pistol and goes a-hunting; but perhaps this is mere captious criticism. Ibsen certainly meant this to be symbolic, and the only mistake he made was not having the meddlesome Gregors, who caused all the trouble, sent into the shooting gallery to be laid low with the rabbits. Then, of course, there would have been no play—and the Actors Theater, Inc., would not have come to close the season at the Belasco.

There are several old-time troupers attached to this galaxy at the Belasco, John Daly Murphy, playing the old, demented grandfather, and Frank Monroe the besotten Dr. Reilling. Dallas Anderson bears the brunt of the burden, portraying to the life the nit-witted Ekdal, junior, who listens to the ravings of a reformer and thereby upsets the peace and serenity of his family. A young lady who resembles very much Miss Eva Le Gallienne, and plays in the Le Gallienne manner, has the part of poor little Hedwig, and does well by it. She is Bette Davis, of the soulful eyes. Blanche Yurka plays the wife.

Out of all the lessons wrapped up in Mr. Ibsen's play, perhaps this meaning is to be divined, over and above all others: Let the dead past bury its dead; but, then, there should have been another, in the motif of last night's performance: The story of the grouse in the gunroom, so often hinted at in another old play, but never really told.

POLI'S

It is heartening, in these dour days of compulsory virtue, to be reminded that once before the English-speaking race passed through an era of Puritanism—when bear baiting was condemned because it gave pleasure to the spectators, not because of the suffering of the bear. For out of that earlier epoch of vinegar there came the Stuart restoration under the Merry Monarch, Charles II, and one of the most delightful heritages from his lamented reign is the immortal diary of Samuel Pepys, now happily translated to the stage and currently on exhibition at Poli's. If history really does move in cycles, may this production hasten the second restoration.

While Mr. Pepys, if his diary is to be believed—and since it was not intended for publication, it may be accurate—did many things of a rather prosaic nature, his most interesting experiences were, naturally, in that most interesting of fields for research, the art and practice of philandering. It is this phase of his activities which engaged the activities of Mr. Fagan when he was concocting the delightful comedy now showing here. Life must have been entrancingly simple in those merry days, with enjoyment centering around that eternal trio of the pleasure seeking, wine, women and song. Mr. Pepys was a devotee of all three.

The author has preserved the hearty roistering atmosphere of the original diary; he has taken no more than the necessary and justifiable license in transposing the printed word into the medium of the spoken drama.

In Eugenie Leontovich, as the shrewish yet lovable Mrs. Pepys, Washingtonians have an opportunity to see one of the best character actresses of the day. If she does justice to the original character she portrays, one can understand why it was that her diarist husband was constantly seeking new fields of conquest, and also why he was constantly returning to his own hearthside.

Walter Kingsford, as Samuel, himself demonstrates a thorough understanding of the role assigned to him. It is a most interesting and human kind of role; the character being that of one who likes the simple pleasures of good food and drink and charming companions, who knows something of the ultimate tragedy of existence but has courage enough to enjoy what the gods allow to mortals.

There is some pathos, to be sure, as in the incident in which the humble diarist's love-making makes him an unwitting poacher on the royal preserves. Yet even here there is the relief of comedy in the king's love making to Mrs. Pepys while seated on a chest in which the unfortunate husband is hiding in the home of one of the many royal mistresses.

Boyd Davis, as the king, merits more than passing mention. He manages to bring out those qualities of pleasure-loving, genial irresponsibility which endeared the Stuarts to their people, and which ultimately cost them their throne.

The play rings true from curtain to curtain, it is well written, properly staged, and capably acted. It is to be hoped that the attendance at succeeding performances will be such as to do more justice to its worth than was the case last night.

THE STRAND

"Darktown Affairs," a combination of jazz song and dance, opened the week at the Strand Theater yesterday. Garland Howard (Hotfoot Jackson), is the star of the attraction, while some very good syncopated talent is found among his associates in the all-colored cast.

Howard comes through with some eccentric humor, unique dancing and a pair of good songs as his share of the entertainment. Mae Brown sings blues melodies. "Speedy" Smith hotfoots his way through a maze of difficult steps. Hattie Noels has a good voice

Edith King and Art Pryor Play Leads in Hit Comedy

In "It's a Boy" the William Anthony McGuire comedy, the National Players have this week a presentation ideally suited to stock company purposes and one which affords the new leading players, Miss Edith King and Roger Pryor, full opportunity to ingratiate themselves with the loyal National audiences.

The piece is cut in the familiar style of American business and family comedies, but develops new turns at unexpected times. It is also liberally besprinkled with characteristic McGuire humor, which frequently merits the term farcical.

Perhaps taking its cue from the title, the play offers leading opportunities to its principal male role, and, in baseball parlance, Roger Pryor may be said to have accepted all chances and batted 1000.

In every respect he seemed the clean-cut, young American who had begun a successful retail business in a small city, but, upon the persuasion of his wife, sold it to go to New York and what then seemed a generous salary.

The extravagant temptations of city life then—as they so frequently do in fiction and on the stage—drew the interest of the young wife from her baby and husband, while the latter found the New York offer by the company employing him had been merely a business trick to eliminate a dangerous competitor and secure a desired store location. This accomplished, he was given notice that his services were no longer required.

With the true character of his business associate, and his wife's friends finally revealed to them both, the young husband bravely decides to struggle on in New York, which was somewhat of an unexpected ending, as usually in such plays the sound virtues of life are assumed to exist only in rural and smaller communities.

The part of the wife is played by Miss Edith King, who contributes a pleasing personality to the role and successfully attacks the few emotional scenes accorded her. The most generous share of the comedy is given to Freddie Sherman, who hits the bull's-eye of every laugh. Robert Brister and Helen Wallace have the parts of the New York tricksters and Adelaide Hibbard and Charles Hampden those of the parents of the two young people. Claus Bogel makes the most of a small part.

The baby responsible for the title appears only as a blanket and an offstage wail, but certainly can be described by this reviewer as adequate.

RANDOLPH SHAW.

Boy Violinist, 16, To Represent City

Oscar Levine Is Designated by Federation to Play in National Contest.

Oscar Levine, 16 years old, violinist, of 1220 H street northeast, has been designated by the Federation of Music Clubs to represent the District of Columbia in a national contest for young musicians to be held in Boston next June.

Several weeks ago he won the contest held in the District and last Saturday won the semifinals in Baltimore. Levine was accompanied on the piano in the contests by Miss Nettie Sadle, of Washington. She will accompany him in the finals.

Romain, Actor, 50, Dies Upon Leaving Stage

Philadelphia, May 6 (A.P.).—Georges Romain, 50, actor and stage director, died suddenly tonight in the wings at the Walnut Street Theater a moment after he left the stage and as the first act was about to end. His wife was in the audience, having come here from her home in Brightwater, Long Island, to witness the first performance of a play staged by Romain and in which he also played.

Romain, who has the role of a half-caste Frenchman in the play, had left the stage in the first act. He collapsed in the wings and fell apparently against an open switch. He was dead when others reached him. Heart disease was given as the cause of death.

Shopping with Bab on Connecticut Avenue

DEAREST GENEVIEVE:

Spring in Washington presents so many attractive outdoor events that it is no wonder sports clothes occupy such an important place in the smart woman's wardrobe.

The Horse Show and the Davis Cup matches (remember when I wrote you about seeing the games at Autueil last summer) are the most important events on the calendar, but there are innumerable excursions and week-end trips for every one from now on, with pleasant picnics in sylvan spots. All of which increases the necessity for as many types of sports clothes as there are types of summer activities.

The spectator costumes for wear at the country clubs and for that matter for all but active participation, long since left the realm of practicality. Clothes actually worn for tennis and golf are, on the other hand, becoming more simple and practical; for instance, the frock with attached "shorts," which is now taken as a matter of course. I believe it was for Helen Wills that this was first made.

Royal Blue Georgette With Chartreuse

—fashions a twenty-five dollar frock at Herron's, which looks like a much more expensive model. This is the upstairs shop I have told you of at 1735 Connecticut avenue, where you can always find such attractive little frocks for a small amount.

Their summer things are beginning to come in now, and by the first of next week will have arrived in great numbers. A cravat silk in a red and white check has its own coat and is piped in red.

One of the nicest models for $16.50 is in French blue flat crepe with nail-head trimming. A pretty gray crepe has capucine facings.

Moving Out to Wardman Park

—is just as natural as the birds building nests. At this time of year, with the trees in bloom and the flower-beds beginning to show signs of color, the urge to live in an atmosphere next to nature is strong in most of us.

Wardman Park Hotel, in the heart of the city and the wilds of Rock Creek Park, combines everything for summer pleasure. Imagine a city hotel with tennis, riding, swimming, besides all the luxurious comforts and conveniences of the most palatial hotel in the world.

The supper dances nightly and the Saturday night dinner-dances continue to attract large and enthusiastic gatherings. The other night there were several disappointed parties who could not secure tables. They came in late, expecting to have no trouble in getting in. They should have come just a little bit earlier, or else should have had the presence of mind to call up for a reservation. You call Columbia 2000 and ask for "Oscar."

Wedding Trousseaux For Bridegrooms

—are really important! Some way, it never occurs to you, though, that men have to stir around and buy things for the event, quite as does the blushing bride.

In the Willard Shop, 1033 Connecticut avenue, yesterday I encountered a friend of mine feverishly selecting neckwear and gloves, spats and goodness knows what, in preparation for his approaching marriage.

He was finishing the task in fine time, for he said every one in the Willard Shop was so interested and helpful, and that he was able to find exactly what he wanted at prices he could afford to pay. He said buying clothes for his wedding was not half as bad as he had expected, and almost admitted that he was really enjoying it.

It is true that fastidious men in Washington from all groups find in the Willard Shop, 1033 Connecticut avenue, the sort of clothes they want. Older men like it because they have always shopped there. Young men like it because the styles are youthful and swank as well as strictly conservative.

Golf and tennis clothes, summer pajamas and lounging robes, every imaginable article for men's wear is found here. And particularly a wonderful assortment of straw hats in the latest styles.

If You Have Failed So Far

—to take your proofs back to Underwood & Underwood, be sure to do so today and your pictures will be finished in time for next Sunday, which is Mother's Day. Underwood & Underwood are equipped to take care of a vast quantity of work, so that you may be sure of unusual service on short notice.

Even though you have been reminded again and again that Mother's Day was approaching, of course you have done nothing whatever about it except to think with a warm burst of emotion how pleased your mother would be to be surprised on that day with a gorgeous photograph of her darling. You are always your mother's darling, regardless! That's very consoling, isn't it, and should have some expression of appreciation from you; something a little more concrete than the aforementioned warmth of affectionate emotion.

Look in Underwood & Underwood's window and see if you like the red chalk prints which are shown at the present time. They are extremely handsome work, and are meeting with extraordinary favor. There is a fanciful quality to these portraits which you will like. Ask how much they cost. Frankly, I do not know.

Plans for Your Summer Houses

—should include linens from the Near East and American Friends of Greece, 1334 Connecticut avenue. The price you will pay is no more than you would give for linens with positively no imagination or atmosphere whatsoever. The linens which come from this shop are exciting in design and in their origin. When you think how they are embroidered in far-away countries, from designs as ancient as the sea, you can not help loving them. The raw silk pieces are favorites with every one. These come in runners, table covers and mats. The prints for bed covers or wall hangings or sofa pillows are attractive here, too.

Young's Have a New Shipment —of wonderful hats. I went in yesterday to see them. They represent the latest developments in hat fashions for summer wear, and are quite different from anything we have seen.

Women who are busy with the multitude of social engagements which fill the calendar of days will be overjoyed when they see the great number of exquisite models to wear with their prettiest afternoon frocks, for weddings and teas, garden parties and smart breakfasts.

There are ballibuntls and other straws in natural and light colors for wear with sport clothes, but the lacy hats and picture creations in lovely colors will enchant you. Young's, Inc., 1143 Connecticut avenue.

An Atmosphere All Its Own

—pervades the Iron Gate Inn, 1734 N street northwest. The entrance is in itself romantic and intriguing. You enter through a long, paved court exactly like places in Paris, and there it is!

You find on entering that there is a large open fire, an old chest with ancient willowware plates gleaming above it, a little stairway leading to the early American loft above.

As you probably know, this was once the stable of Gen. Nelson A. Miles, and the stalls which sheltered his thoroughbreds are now used for tables. Filet mignon, ripe strawberries and other delicacies are featured. Dinner is $1.25 and $1.

THE RETURN OF OLD KING BRADY

Revived by MERLE W. HERSEY.

(Copyright protected. Reproduction in whole or in part prohibited.)

In the second chapter the Bradys are taken on the Death Valley trail by Mose Medford. They discover Capt. Thunderbolt's camp. Harry and Charley go into the valley and join the outlaws. Charley is shot mysteriously and Harry suspected.

DARING WORK IN DEATH VALLEY.

CHAPTER III

Signals in the Night.

OLD KING BRADY and his three men reached Burton Mills just at dark.

"Has Capt. Thunderbolt ever attacked the Burton Mills?" the old detective asked Mose Medford.

"He tried it once, but got driven off."

The detective rode directly up to the office. A man hurried up to him. "Who do you want to see, boss?" he demanded.

"Mr. Downs, if he is in."

"He's in the office. Go right in." He opened the door and found himself in the office.

Old King Brady presented his card. "Well, sir, what is it you wish?" Mr. Downs asked coldly.

"I have been commissioned by the governor to hunt down Capt. Thunderbolt. My first discovery is that Capt. Thunderbolt and his men intend making a raid on Burton Mills tonight."

"I intend no incivility, Mr. Brady, but your warning is of little consequence to me. We are fully prepared to meet any raid for we have a perfect system here, sir. We have turned off this outlaw once, and can do it again." He turned back to his desk. "I don't want your help or the governor's, either."

"Very good, sir. Under the circumstances I see no other course than to retire as gracefully as possible," said the old detective with his blandest smile. "Good evening, Mr. Downs."

Old King Brady had drawn his own conclusion during the brief but stormy interview with the superintendent of Burton Mills.

"Well, what's the word, cap?" inquired Mose Medford. "Don't we tie up here?"

"No, we don't. We are not wanted around here. We go on our way."

As Old King Brady threw himself into the saddle, the clerk came hurrying out of the office. "Mr. Brady," he called. "Mr. Downs wants me to say he can give you and these three men a room with blankets where you can pass the night. We'll take care of your horses, too."

"Tell Mr. Downs that I am greatly obliged to him, but I must decline his offer," the detective replied cheerfully. They rode away out of the mill yard and back on the Tensleep trail. "Keep right on the top of the hill, we'll tie up in that bit of pine woods we saw there."

Old Mose drew alongside Mr. Brady. "I ax your pardon for buttin' in, Mr. Brady, but I'm interested to know what the row was about."

"No row. The man was cold and insolent. He declined my help and he told me to mind my own business, that's all."

Mose pondered some minutes before speaking. "Don't that seem mighty strange to you, Mr. Brady?"

"It does and we'll watch that mill tonight," said the old detective. "But here we are. Shake us up some supper, Mose. We have our blankets and we ought to be comfortable enough."

Supper over, Old King Brady walked down the hill toward the Burton Mills, which were about half a mile away. He had not gone far when he saw a man wearing a long linen duster and a white sombrero coming toward him.

"I'll bet that is no one but that impudent rascal Downs," thought Old King Brady. It was too late for him to turn back as the other had caught sight of him.

"Oh, it is you, is it?" Downs exclaimed as he came up to the old detective.

"Good evening, Mr. Downs, are you taking a stroll?" asked Old King Brady blandly.

"Why, yes. I thought you had gone long ago," was the reply.

"We only halted for supper. We shall soon be on the move."

Mr. Downs was plainly relieved. "I am afraid you think I was a little abrupt with you this evening, Mr. Brady. I think I was and I apologize."

"I accept your apology."

"You see my men are good fighters, and are perfectly drilled. So we have no fears. Capt. Thunderbolt will never dare to attack Burton Mills."

"We'll consider the incident closed," said Old King Brady.

After a few more words Mr. Downs bade Old King Brady good-evening and returned down the hill.

"A rascal if there ever was one. Sly and tricky! I wonder what his game is?" thought the old detective. He continued his walk. His real object was to find a hiding place where he could locate his men without being seen. He found such a spot between two rocky ledges which was just wide enough to admit a mounted man. Beyond this was a hollow.

To this place he removed his men, later. Until long after midnight Old King Brady kept wtch. At last, from sheer fatigue, he dropped off for an instant. A rifle shot roused him with a start. "Confound it! that shot was surely a signal."

He looked over the ledge toward the Mills just in time to see a window open and a man lean out swinging a lighted lantern three times. "That's Downs," thought Old King Brady. "What mischief is that man up to?" Lights began to flash about the mill yard and men could be seen moving about.

At last Old King Brady saw two wagons come wheeling out of the mine yard, the sort in which bullion is transported. Old King Brady was sure now that a plot was on foot to attack the two wagons. He felt a heavy hand on his shoulder. He whipped out his gun and turned about. Mose Medford was standing there. "Oh! It's you," he said with a feeling of relief. "Mose, I believe that Downs means mischief," and he told him of the signaling he had seen.

Mose grew quite excited. "Of course it does! What be you going to do?"

"I'll tell you in a few minutes. Here are the wagons. Let's watch them go by."

The heavy wagons passed and then Old King Brady heard the challenge given and the clatter of Capt. Thunderbolt's bold advance ahead of his men.

"Captured, by thunder!" he exclaimed. "It is just as I thought. Downs has sold out to him and chances are ten to one he has sold out the mill as well. Listen, Mose. Wake up the men and we'll dash down and capture Downs. If we can save the mills there'll be a big reward coming, of which you shall all have your share."

In less then fifen minutes the party was on its way down the hill. As they rode along Old King Brady quickly matured his plans. "If I can only trap him," was his thought. He brought a strip of black cloth out of one of his secret pockets, tore in into four pieces and gave one to each man. "You want to mask, boys. Tie this over the lower part of your faces."

Old King Brady slipped on a black wig, made some changes to his long blue coat and having masked, looked very much like the notorious outlaw. He threw up this rifle and fired a single shot. Immediately the office window was opened and Downs looked out and waved a lantern twice.

"Just as I thought," muttered Old King Brady. "He got the signal he was looking for." A moment later they drew up at the gate. A little wicket in the panel was opened and Mr. Downs looked out. "Give me the password," he said in a hurried whisper.

The detective in a deep voice said "the password is Burton."

"Correct," whispered Downs. "The gate is unfastened."

"Come here, brother," said Old King Brady. "I want to whisper something to you before we go on."

Downs advanced hesitatingly. As he approached the detective threw up his revolver and covered him. "Make one move, utter a sound and you are a dead man!" he cried. Mose and Bill West sprang from their saddles and tied Downs' hands behind him.

"This is what comes of trusting a fellow like you!" snarled the baffled villain. "If I had never listened to my brother I would have been better off."

Throwing off his mask Old King Brady stood revealed.

"By thunder!" gasped Downs. "Old King Brady, the detective."

"Trapped!" was the reply and the revolver was thrust closer. "Now listen. I believe Capt. Thunderbolt is right behind me. The mill must be saved. Your plottings are known. Tell me the quickest way to arouse all hands, or I shall take the law into my own hands. I am acting under the governor's authority to shoot Capt. Thunderbolt or any of his friends."

"There's the steam whistle," gasped Downs, as pale as death.

"Enough! Lead the way. Shoot him, boys, if he balks."

"We are here to bust a raid, friend," said the detective. "The bullion wagons are already captured, and the gang is near the gate. Blow your whistle. Rouse all hands. We must put up a fight which means business. There is a big reward if the mill is saved." A few seconds later the mill hands tumbled out amid loud shouts. Old King Brady barred the gate just as a single shot rang out.

Another chapter in this serial masterpiece is in tomorrow's paper—Don't miss it! Old King Brady is going to get Capt. Thunderbolt or die in the attempt.

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

THE BOOK OF THE MONTH CLUB MAKES ITS SELECTIONS.

Mr. Canby: Now we come to the problem of selecting the best book of the month.

Mr. Broun: Must we?

Mr. Canby: I see no way out of it.

Mr. Broun: The best thing I have read this month is President Coolidge's autobiography.

Mr. Crutch: I didn't know it was in book form yet.

Mr. Broun: Have we got to be that technical? No matter what form it is in it will get us into less trouble than Joan Lowell's.

Mr. Morley: I can't fully accept that passage in which he tells about jumping overboard and swimming ashore from the burning ship.

Mr. Broun: That wasn't Calvin; that was Joan.

Mr. Morley: Didn't Mr. Coolidge swim ashore from the burning ship?

Mr. White: He got off the ship rather hurriedly recently, but there was no visible fire.

* * * *

Mr. Crutch: What I'm afraid of in the Coolidge autobiography is that part in which he makes the statement that he was the country's healthiest President, and quit office in perfect condition. There might be a come-back on that.

Mr. Morley: Yes, how do we know his health is perfect?

Mr. Broun: We could have him examined.

Mr. Morley: Then there is that chapter in which Mr. Coolidge tells of sending Everett Sanders to the Kansas City convention. I heard of a story that Sanders was aboard an auxiliary spinnaker off Bangor, British South Africa, splicing a binnacle, at the time.

Mr. Broun: There you go thinking of "The Cradle of the Deep" again.

Mr. White: How about the part where he tells of being an Amherst man. Suppose we indorse the book and it turns out he went to Harvard?

Mr. Morley: I knew a man named Coolidge in Oxford. He tried for the varsity crew, but was thrown out for always showing up in Indian costume.

Mr. Broun: That could have been Coolidge.

Mr. White: A chapter that we've got to be careful about swallowing is that one about the Boston police strike. Was there ever a Boston police strike?

Mr. Crutch: Is there a Boston?

Mr. Morley: Is there, for that matter, a Calvin Coolidge?

Mr. White: I think there is, but he's not the one the book describes.

Mr. Broun: Well, let's send him a wire.

Mr. White: What kind of a wire?

Mr. Broun: A wire reading "Have read story of your life. Wire confirmation."

Mr. White: That's a good idea.

Broadcasting Chain Seeks WOL Station

Company Now Forming Said to Be Seeking for Local Connection—Radio Robot Invented — WRC License Extended.

Coincident with the visit to Washington of Eric Palmer, vice president and of the Allied Broadcasting Cos.' Inc., of New York, who is signing up stations for the third country-wide broadcasting chain now being formed, it was learned that negotiations are now under way for Station WOL as the outlet here. The new chain had previously been dickering with Station WJSV, at Mount Vernon, Va., and it is not known that these negotiations have been called off, but it appears at the moment that a greater effort is being made to obtain Station WOL.

A stumbling block in the case of the latter is that it is at present only authorized to use 100 watts power. The assurance was said to have been given to Mr. Palmer at the Radio Commission that its power would be increased to 250 watts. If the new company were to obtain Station WOL for its outlet, inasmuch as there is no intention to buy the station outright, it is believed that the first move made would be to have the power increased to 500 or 1,000 watts.

Close to 50 stations are reported to have been signed up by the new network, with twice that number as the goal. While the chain expected to get under way about January 1, it may do so considerably sooner, perhaps as early as September. Although its promotors are not overlooking any opportunities to secure stations which might otherwise affiliate with the National Broadcasting Co., they are competing much more actively with the Columbia Broadcasting System.

Fortified by three leased wires from Chicago to the Pacific Coast, they predict that Columbia will quickly be replaced by the newcomers as the second big chain, assuming the NBC to be the first.

The new chain is being backed by Adolph F. Linden, a Seattle banker and hotel owner, who, it is said, is rated at $40,000,000, or at least enough to put a third giant broadcasting system on the map. At the present time, Mr. Linden and those connected with the project are talking very little for publication, but it is known that the promoters of the chain are greatly encouraged with what they say has been accomplished and predict the new network will have been formed and be in operation at a comparatively early date. Likewise they are confident of the success of the venture.

Weighing approximately 25 pounds and of compact dimensions, a mechanical trouble-shooter designed by Ralph Stair, of the Bureau of Standards, makes the work of the radio service man relatively simple. This radio robot can subject the entire receiving set to the searching "eye" of a trouble shooter, with a minimum disturbance to the completeness of the set, according to J. E. Smith, president of the National Institute, who has taken a keen interest in the device. Two voltmeters and one millimeter, when applied independently, determine the voltages of A, B and C batteries. A flexible five-wire lead and plug with adapters to fit all radio sets, is easily plugged successively into each socket of the radio set.

The A battery, its lead wires, and the rheostat of one vacuum tube are examined and their condition revealed at a single reading. Similarly, by use of the direct current voltmeter, the conditions of the B battery or B-eliminator unit and the primary windings and the loud speaker are checked at one reading. And finally, the millimeter causes to pass in review the condition of the grid biasing battery as well as the condition of the secondary of the preceding transformer. There is a tube tester, a tube rejuvenating arrangement, and other features, making this device one of the most complete ever offered the service man.

Although no data is available for Washington, some interesting figures are at hand purporting to show the approximate number of receiving sets served by some of the outside stations. WJZ is credited with a range of 1,262,500 receiving sets; KDKA, Pittsburgh, with 458,750; KYW, Chicago, 527,500; WLW, Cincinnati, 275,000; WJR, Detroit, 543,750; and KWK, St. Louis, 287,500.

There is quite a discrepancy between the number of receivers credited to these large stations and the millions of listeners which the stations are supposed to reach. However, in calculating the number of listeners, the number of sets may be multiplied several times, since there are frequently two or more listeners at one speaker. Another element is how many people are listening at any given time and when do they tune out? This puts the question of the number of listeners literally up in the air, but the number of radio receivers is really a tangible thing and furnishes statistics upon which some sort of an estimate may be made.

The Radio Commission has extended the license of WRC for forty-six days instead of ninety days, effective May 1. WRC was not singled out in this action, all other stations scheduled for a hearing or awaiting the decision of the commission in cases heard, being relicensed for a like period. WRC's wave length has been asked for by Station WNJ, Newark, N. J., with the hearing set for May 15.

Prices realized on Swift & Co. sales of carcass beef in Washington, D. C., for week ending Saturday, May 4, 1929, on shipments sold out, ranged from 22.00 cents to 25.00 cents per pound and averaged 22.93 cents per pound.—Adv.

What Today Means to You

May 7.

By MARY BLAKE.

"TAURUS."

IF MAY 7 is your birthday, the best hours for you today are from 6 a. m. to 8:30 a. m., from 1 p. m. to 2:30 p. m., and from 6 p. m. to 8:45 p. m.; the danger periods are from 10 a. m. to 12:10 p. m., and from 3 p. m. to 4 p. m.

The influences for today are very positive in their nature, and it will be hard to hold back the desire to forge ahead. Many a business climax can be anticipated before the sun sets upon the day's happenings.

Children born today will have easy dispositions with which to deal. They will quickly lose their temper, but instantaneously recover them, with malice toward none. They will love anything pertaining to nature, and will be religiously inclined.

You greatly enjoy the good things of life and are often self-indulgent, yet never selfish in your pleasures. Nothing pleases you more than the ability to share whatever you have with others, or to give some one a good time. You are willing to put yourself out considerably to assist a friend or any one in need. Your kindly sympathy, your human touch, has often been a welcome ray of hope to those sunk in the slough of despond.

In your work you are artistic emotional and imitative. You detest routine hours and set ways for doing things. When in a working mood, you are bubbling over with enthusiasm, driven by a nervous energy, and are eager to do things. At other times you are listless and indifferent to life and all its activities, and you accomplish little. It would be well if you could strike a happy medium, could keep an even pace, and not live at extremes. You are either going at top speed or recovering from nervous exhaustion.

You are very strongly attracted to and are much sought by those of the opposite sex; these, too, will be your sincerest friends.

A good deal of travel is marked out for you, and you are shown as a globe trotter and not a home body.

Successfull people born May 7:
William Bainbridge, naval officer.
Isaac Greenwood, mathematician.
John S. Boynton, statesman.
Anton Seidl, musician.
Col. Albert L. Mills, soldier.
Joseph G. Cannon, congressman.

Flonzaley's Farewell on Air Tonight

Speaker Longworth and Damrosch Will Make Addresses at Concert—Eskimos Will Serenade Men on Navy Vessels.

The Flonzaley Quartet has chosen the air as the medium to say farewell to America. Assured an audience of millions through the instrumentality of radio, the internationally famous organization will broadcast over Eveready Hour at 8 o'clock tonight its last concert before disbanding.

Nicholas Longworth, Speaker of the House of Representatives, will broadcast the Nation's farewell to the quartet during the concert. Mr. Longworth, like other music lovers, has followed closely the progress of the "famous four" since their organization 25 years ago.

Walter Damrosch, for more than twenty years conductor of the New York Symphony Orchestra, also will make a brief address of farewell to the Quartet on the occasion of its last performance.

The history of the Flonzaley Quartet is closely interwoven with the history of chamber music in this country. Formed in 1903 by Edward J. de Coppet, an American banker of Swiss parentage, the quartet first spent an entire year in study. In 1904 the first contract was signed at Mr. de Coppet's summer home in Switzerland, Villa Flonzaley, near Lausanne. The word Flonzaley, combination of Italian and old French, means brooklet. Inaugurating its public career in 1905 in a series of three concerts in New York and Boston, the quartet rapidly broadened its scope of travel. During the 25 years of its history the organization has built up an enormous and enthusiastic following.

The personnel of the quartet consists of Adolfo Betti, first violin; Alfred Pochon, second violin; Nicholas Maldavan, viola, and Iwan D'Archambeau, violoncello.

A transcontinental hook-up will be used during the broadcast. Speaker Longworth will talk from the studios of WRC in Washington, while the remainder of the program will be broadcast from the studios of WEAF, New York.

Kirke Simpson, of the Washington bureau of the Associated Press, will be one of the speakers during he voter's service at 6 o'clock from WRC. His subject will be "The Little Cabinet." Charles G. Ross will also be heard in the program.

A short talk by Gov. Frank G. Allen, of Massachusetts, to be followed by a Coconyland sketch based on the battle of Lexington, will be heard in a special broadcast dedicated to Massachusetts at 6:30 o'clock.

Gene Rodemich, of St. Louis, Boston and New York, will make his bow to radio listeners as leader of the Prophylactic Orchestra at 7:30 o'clock.

The "gobs" and "devil dogs" of more than 50 United States Navy vessels will be serenaded by the Eskimos in a special Navy program at 9 o'clock. The program is dedicated to the enlisted men on board ships participating in the fleet concentration in New York harbor.

A Radio-Keith-Orpheum show will be broadcast at 10 o'clock, followed by a half-hour with the New Madrillon Orchestra.

The Paul Whiteman Hour will be broadcast from Los Angeles, instead of New York, at 8 o'clock tonight Whiteman is in California for the purpose of making a talking picture movie, "The King of Jazz" and will continue his radio concerts while at work on the picture.

The question of farm relief, over which a battle is now being fought, will be the subject of the discussion that Frederic William Wile will give at 7 o'clock from WMAL.

A dramatization of "Hair Cut," a story by Ring Lardner, will be broadcast from WMAL at 7:30 o'clock tonight.

The Howard University Glee Club will present a half hour program, starting at 6:30 o'clock.

WRC, WMAL and WOL will broadcast an account of the Washington-Detroit baseball game at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

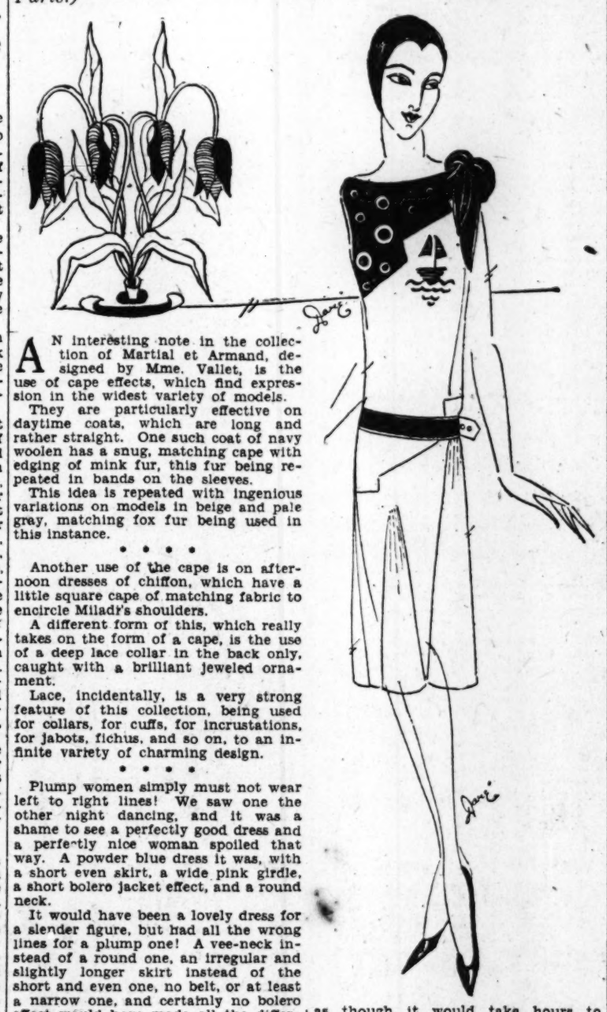

Members of the comedy, "And So to Bed," now current at Poli's, will be heard from WOL at 6 o'clock this evening. These include Miss Roberta Beatty, Signor Luigi Calbi, and Walter Kingsford, who plays Samuel Pepys, the diarist, Estelle Hunt Dean, soprano will be heard in a short recital at 7:20 o'clock.

The regular morning features will be broadcast, including talks by Peggy Clarke and Bertha Parker.

The Silver String Revelers will be broadcast from WJSV at 10:15 o'clock this evening, preceded by the Columbia Trio.

Jane Interprets the Mode

"Coups de Roulis," a refreshing sports dress of sheer white woolen fabric with embroidered incrustations of blue georgette. A blue leather belt with white border, and a cunning little blue boat add to its irresistibleness. (Courtesy of the Maison Premet, Paris.)

AN interesting note in the collection of Martial et Armand, designed by Mme. Vallet, is the use of cape effects, which find expression in the widest variety of models.

They are particularly effective on daytime coats, which are long and rather straight. One such coat of navy woolen has a snug, matching cape with edging of mink fur, this fur being repeated in bands on the sleeves.

• • • •

Another use of the cape is on afternoon dresses of chiffon, which have a little square cape of matching fabric to encircle Miladi's shoulders.

A different form of this, which really takes on the form of a cape, is the use of a deep lace collar in the back only, caught with a brilliant jeweled ornament.

Lace, incidentally, is a very strong feature of this collection, being used for collars, for cuffs, for incrustations, for jabots, fichus, and so on, to an infinite variety of charming design.

• • • •

Plump women simply must not wear left to right lines! We saw one the other night dancing, and it was a shame to see a perfectly good dress and a perfectly nice woman spoiled that way. A powder blue dress it was, with a short even skirt, a wide pink girdle, a short bolero jacket effect, and a round neck.

It would have been a lovely dress for a slender figure, but had all the wrong lines for a plump one! A vee-neck instead of a round one, an irregular and slightly longer skirt instead of the short and even one, no belt, or at least a narrow one, and certainly no bolero effect would have made all the difference. Why do it?

• • • •

Oh-o-o-o, the requests that are coming in for directions for making the graduation dress we sketched last week! Hold everything, we will have them ready for you next week!

• • • •

You Can Make These!

Know how to make a step-in bloomer? Or a lovely nightgown, which looks as though it would take hours to launder, or cost a million dollars?

Or a form-fitting combination, or a frilly-fussy one. Well, send your stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post for the illustrated leaflet that tells you just how to make them!

Mr. Work has prepared a booklet giving detailed information concerning the correct way to play Progressive Auction Bridge. This booklet will be sent to all readers without charge. Mr. Work will also answer without charge any Bridge questions. Requests must be accompanied by an addressed, stamped, return envelope, and addressed to Mr. Milton C. Work, care of this newspaper.

CONTINUING the series of "Misplayed Hands I Have Met," I am giving today one that involves a point that I conceive to be of especial interest.

South Declarer, contract No Trump. West led fourth best Diamond. East covered Dummy's Ten with the Queen, and South won the trick. South then led the Ten of Clubs, which won, and followed with another Club and this time East won because, when his turn came to play, he could see that he and Dummy held all the remaining Clubs and that South had no more to lead to Dummy.

East then returned his partner's Diamond, which South passed up to Dummy's winning Jack. Dummy then led three Clubs, giving South three discards; and as Declarer still had three tricks in his South hand, he made a total of one Spade, one Heart, three Diamonds and four Clubs—game.

Was there another way in which this hand should have been played?

THE CORRECT PLAY.

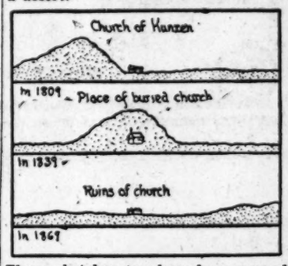

As soon as East sees the Dummy, he knows that Declarer will be able to make four Club tricks in all if Dummy has an entry after the Clubs are established. These, with the tricks which must be credited to the closed hand in view of the No Trump bid, seem likely to enable Declarer to go game.

With the strength in the East hand, and despite West's initial Diamond lead, there is quite a chance that South had the Ace and King of Diamonds as part of the strength needed to bid his No Trump. If so, playing the Queen of Diamonds on the first trick gives Dummy the vital entry. Consequently East should have played the Eight of Diamonds on the first trick, saving his queen to cover Dummy's Jack and so kill Dummy's only entry. Played that way, East jumps in with his Club Ace as soon as he knows that South has no more Clubs to lead, and Declarer actually makes only six tricks—one Spade, one Heart, three Diamonds and one Club.

Uncle Ray's Corner

HAVE you ever seen a sand dune? It is a hill of sand and it is most often seen near the shore of a large body of water or in the midst of a desert.

Three sketches to show how a sand-dune slowly buried a church and left it ruined.

On the southern shore of Lake Michigan is a whole range of sand dunes. I took a walking trip around and over them one day. They rise to a height of more than 75 feet, and in places are covered with trees and bushes.

Those trees and bushes help to keep the sand from moving. If it were not for the vegetation, the dunes would slowly move inland—and might cover up some villages in their way.

Yes, there are sand dunes which do move. They move very, very slowly—seldom more than 20 feet a year—but they move surely. In Germany there was a village a little distance from the eastern shore of the Baltic sea. It happened to be in the path of winds which kept blowing in one direction, and a sand dune was moving toward it.

The people of the village did not know much about sand dunes. They saw the hill of sand, but it came only about 15 feet closer each year—hardly enough to notice.

At length, however, the sand dune actually moved over part of the village and the people began moving away. In the space of 60 years the dune crept over the village, covered the church steeple, and left ruin behind it.

That is not the only case where a village has been ruined by a sand dune; but men have learned to control the movements to some degree. The best way known is to plant things on the surface of the moving hills. When bushes and trees grow there, the wind can not pick up the sand very well, and the march of the dune is brought just about to a halt.

Some sand dunes are only five or ten feet high. Others rise to a height of more than 200 feet.

MAY 7.

EUPHROSYNE PAREPA DE BOYESKU, generally known as Parepa-Rosa, the British opera singer, was born this day, 1836, the daughter of Georgiades de Boyesku, a Walachian nobleman.

She made a successful debut at Malta in 1855 and in England the following year. Parepa-Rosa possessed a soprano voice of remarkable power. She sang the title role of "Camille," "La Reine Topaz," "Victorine" and other operas with great success. Her first American tour was made in 1866.

The great singer married Henry de Wolfe Carvel, an English army officer, in 1864. He died the following year. In 1867 she married Carl Rosa, a noted violinist, operatic manager and conductor with whom she formed the Parepa-Rosa Company. Her success was unbroken until her death. She excelled in oratorio.

British Officer Granted Divorce for Misconduct

London, May 6 (A.P.).—A divorce was granted today to Capt. Ian Howard Potter McEwen from Gwendoline Mackenzie, on grounds of her misconduct with a corespondent whose name was given as Count Leo Zeppelin Parcus, with whom she was stated to have been living at Mentone under the names of Count and Countess Zeppelin.

The judge also granted the costs against the corespondent.

STOCKS TURN HEAVY AS MONEY STIFFENS

Selling, However, Remains Moderate; Oils Are Fairly Well Supported.

HIGH PRICE ISSUES YIELD

New York, May 6 (A.P.).—Just as the resumed bull campaign on the stock market was expecting to find fairly clear sailing, it ran into another shoal of tight money today. The market headed upward during the morning, but developed increasing heaviness as call money renewed at 10 per cent and was stepped up to 12 and then to 14 during the afternoon.

Liquidation, however, was held to be a moderate volume, trading slowing up on the decline, and total sales fell under 4,000,000 shares. The Associated Press price indices indicated that the days losses little more than canceled Saturday's gains.

The flurry in call money came as a complete surprise to most traders, as credit had generally been expected to improve somewhat this week, with the month-end settlements out of the way. Calling of loans was nominal, indicating that the money market remains hypersensitive.

Withdrawals Reported Small.

There appeared no other occasion for the flurry than the midweekly settlement of member bank balances at the Federal Reserve. Some funds were believed to have been withdrawn by Western interests with the increase of the Kansas City Reserve Bank's rediscount rate from 4½ to 5 per cent, but such withdrawals were understood to have been small.

There was little in the day's news to influence the market. A few more favorable earnings statements drifted in. Willys Overland reports 50 cents a share in the first quarter, against 45 cents a year ago. It was estimated in steel trade circles that the U. S. Steel report of unfilled orders as of April 30 will show another gain despite capacity operations during the month.

The oil stocks as a group were well supported, with further talk of mergers and optimistic earnings estimates. It was reported that the industry is considering a new code of ethics which will tend to eliminate price cutting wars and wasteful practices. Atlantic Refining reached a new top at 71. Earnings for the first quarter were reported at $1.77, and those for April alone at $1. Standards of New Jersey and California both reached new highs in small gains.

Some Make Good Headway.

Aviation shares and some of the motor accessories and parts issues made good headway. Sparks Withington jumped more than 8 points to a new top, and Timken Roller Bearing reached a new peak at 89. Wright Aero soared about 11 points to 149, a record for the present stock, and United Aircraft came back about 8 points.

General Electric and Westinghouse Electric were both strong, making extreme gains of about 5 points. Youngstown Sheet & Tube made a like gain. International Telephone again attracted powerful support, sending it up 8 points to 172. By-Products Coke touched a new peak above 130.

Electric Auto Lite sold near its record price on an estimate by the management that its earnings will approximate $15 a share this year, and that it will realize a like amount from its holdings of Bendix Aviation. Tobacco stocks failed to respond to talk of higher cigarette prices and ending of the price-cutting war. Foundation Co. improved with the return of the Doty interests to control.

High-Priced Issues Break.

Some of the high-priced issues broke sharply. Adams Express tumbled 50 points to 680, and Case Threshing 16 points. Advance Rumely issues sagged still further, the common losing 6 and the preferred 7 points. Commercial Solvents, which has just had a sharp rise, fell back about 9 points. Most of the copper shares lost a point or two and such issues as American Telephone, Borg Warner, Canadian Pacific, Union Carbide, Warner Brothers, International Harvester, Goodyear Tire, Montgomery Ward and Radio lost 2 to 4 points. U. S. Steel sagged a point.

Leading commodities were weak. Wheat broke 2 to 3 cents a bushel to new lows for the season on good weather and large Canadian and Argentine offerings for export. Cotton broke more than $1 a bale on good weather and a decline at Liverpool.

Foreign exchanges were dull and barely steady. Sterling cables were a shade lower at $4.85 9-32, and the Spanish peseta sagged to another new 1929 low at 14.18 cents.

NATS ROUT INDIANS, 13-5, SCORING 10 RUNS IN FIFTH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER.

NEW YORK, N. Y., May 6.—Uncle Wilbert Robinson's baseball club, the Brooklyns, seem a little more confused than usual this spring, which probably constitutes a new American record in the matter of free-style chaos. Not only are the athletes performing unsteadily, as though suffering from some definite type of mental confusion, but the stockholders are divided into two hostile camps, each insisting, with the most plausible conviction, that the other does not know what it is talking about. And, finally, even the customers in the stands and the baseball writers in the press coop, are unable to agree on the name of the ball team, some of the latter advancing the theory that where there is no ball team, the need for a name does not arise.

One element of press and public calls the ball club the Dodgers, another element calls it, or them, the Robins and a considerable third group has been experimenting with an interesting variety of opprobrious names, having the quality of epithets. There is also a scattered following whose attitude in this particular phase of the confusion seems to be, "give them a name and you can have them."

Pop Bottles Are Withheld From Grandstand Pitchers.

In the baseball sense, Brooklyn is a little patch of St. Louis set down in New York. The customers are pop bottle hurlers of the most emotional type and would hurl the pop bottle with the utmost abandon but for the disarmament policy of the management which realizes that the Brooklyn customer is not to be trusted with a pop bottle and therefore serves the pop in paper cups.

The pop-bottle hurler does not live who can express himself by hurling a paper cup, and this strategy, while it has wrought the doubtful boon of preserving the athletes from harm, has only aggravated the restlessness of the customers. There is no predicting what the outcome of this restraint will be, considering that the so-called Chicago pineapple is really indigenous to Brooklyn, where it was originally known as the firecracker. Some rather promising experiments have been carried out on the vacant lots of Flatbush in wrapping the paper cup around a rock before throwing.

Strictly Speaking, Brooklyn Team Consists of Vance.

The serious temper of the Brooklyn customer is a quaint thing in New York, where the customers of the Giants and the Yankees are generally nonpartisan, asking only to be entertained and reserving the right to stay away if the performers or the attraction does not please them. At the theater they do not hurl their flasks at the actors, and this reserve makes it safe to serve their pop in the bottles at the Polo Grounds or the Yankee Stadium. In Brooklyn it is still customary to boo or cheer the flickering photographs at the movies with great sincerity, so completely do the citizens give themselves over to the illusion, and this explains their capacity for annoyance at their ball club.

Strictly speaking, the Brooklyn Club consists of Dazzy Vance, inclusive. There are a number of other employes on view, but there is a notion abroad that when Uncle Wilbert sends a scout out to get a new player he does not say, "Get me a shortstop," but "Get me a fellow to fit a size 39 long uniform, as we have one vacant." I can not vouch for this. The composition of the Brooklyn Team, from year to year, lends dignity to the report, and furthermore, the system would seem to have its merits, because Uncle Wilbert has won two pennants with the teams consisting largely of animated odd-size uniforms.

Once Upon a Time, Mr. Ebbetts Made $250,000 Offer.

When the late Mr. Charlie Ebbets was president of the firm he once announced that he had offered Mr. Sam Breadon, of the St. Louis firm, $250,000 for Rogers Hornsby. That night some impostors telephoned Mr. Ebbets saying, "This is Sam Breadon, and I have decided to accept your offer for Hornsby." Mr. Ebbets was indisposed for a week, but efforts to trace the miscreant and bring him to justice never succeeded.

Riding on a chilling east wind from the North Sea and Firth of Forth a rainstorm burst over eastern Scotland soon after the play started this morning. Gathering force until midafternoon it ruined the great golfing spectacle, even for the enthusiastic Scottish galleries who remained with the players in fairly large numbers until the downpour forced them to seek shelter.

In the words of the veteran J. H. Taylor, "the weather was fit for neither man nor beast." However, there is no quarter in championship play and the entrants had to plug through the wind and rain until their rounds were completed.

Day of Tragedy for America Amateur Contestants.

It was a day of tragedy for the group of amateurs from the United States who entered the British classic "just for fun." F. W. Stites, of Philadelphia, broke a hundred in the wrong direction. The Pine Valley player took 101 with an 11 at the twelfth hole. Silas Newton scored 82, Max Behr, of San Francisco, 83, and Joshua Crane, 87. On the whole, the American amateurs were no worse than the British Simon-pures although Cyril Tolley's 75, most of the round played during the worst of the storm, was one of the best performances of the day. Phil Perkins, the British amateur champion, had 78, the same score returned by Willis Mackenzie, the Scottish champion.

"I'm floating in my shoes" was a characteristic comment by "Long Jim" Barnes as he came to the last green at Muirfield with his 79. At almost the same time Hagen was getting his 75 at Gullane.

OWNERS DROP AWARD TO PLAYERS

Ill Feeling Is Caused, Says A. L. Magnates in Secret Parley.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, May 6 (A.P.).—American League baseball club owners in secret session here today discussed "internal business" and matters of finance, it was announced by E. S. Barnard, president of the league, at the conclusion of the meeting.

The only action taken, Barnard said, was the abolition of the annual "most valuable player" award because it tended to create ill feeling among the players. The player award was instituted several years ago while Ban B. Johnson was president and was won by George Sisler, Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig, Walter Johnson, Roger Peckinpaugh and Tris Speaker.

Landis' Free-Agent Rulings Cause No Discussions.

The award was made at the conclusion of each season by a committee of sports writers, but Barnard felt that it was sometimes apt to be unfair besides causing strained relations among players.

Barnard announced that there was no discussion of the decisions of Commissioner K. M. Landis declaring numerous players free agents.

Giants Beat Cards, 3-1; All Runs Are Homers

New York, May 6 (A.P.).—Three home runs gave a the Giants a 3-to-1 victory over the Cardinals today in the final game of their series. Terry, Jackson and Fullis got the New York homers, while Wilson hit one for the Cards.

Heilmann's 2 Homers Aid in Defeat of Boston

Detroit, May 6 (A.P.).—The Gaston brother act of the Boston Red Sox was a complete flop here today and the Detroit Tigers won their third straight victory from Bill Carrigan's men, 8 to 4. A pair of home runs by Harry Heilmann, big Detroit right fielder, played a considerable part in the downfall of Milton Gaston, pitching half of the Hub City's family battery.

MEUSEL HITS HOME RUN IN 10TH, 3 ON

Yankees Win on Clout, 7 to 6, Despite Rally of White Sox.

CHICAGO, May 6 (A.P.).—The Yankees pounded out their third straight victory over the White Sox today, 7 to 6, after a torrid ten-inning battle. Bob Meusel's homer in the tenth with the bases full was the deciding factor of the duel between Fred Heimach and Bob Weiland.

The Sox tied the count in the eighth but fell victims of a mistake in strategy in the tenth. Weiland, the big recruit who had held the Yanks to eleven scattered hits and struck out eight batters, was replaced by Al Thomas after he had filled the bases. Meusel greeted the new hurler with a home run.

The White Sox scored three more runs in the last of the tenth, sending Heimach and Wilcy Moore to the showers in short order. Hoyt disposed of the last batter. Heimach got credit for the victory.

Tilden Twice Defeated In Davis Cup Practice

Philadelphia, Pa., May 6 (A.P.).—William T. Tilden, number one in the United States tennis rankings, took a double drubbing on the courts today in a tuning up workout with Johnny Hennessey, Indianapolis, and John Van Ryn, East Orange, N. J., both members of the Davis Cup Team, to represent the United States in the match with Canada.

Hennessey was the first to take on his former tutor and turned him back 6—3, 4—6, 6—3. The Hoosier star was in good form and displayed brilliant tennis in disposing of big Bill.

Van Ryn defeated Tilden in straight sets, 7—5, 6—3. Tilden was tired and somewhat off his game against Van Ryn and the former Princeton team captain resorted to a driving back court game which enabled him to score repeatedly.

Allison was a bit off from today and was defeated in his workout match by Fritz Mercer, of Bethlehem, Pa., in straight sets, 6—4, 6—3. Mercer played a brilliant game and took advantage of every opening.

Hennessey and Mercer defeated Van Ryn and Allison 6—2, 6—3 in a doubles match.

White, Erratic, Is Hit Opportunely in 7-Inning Contest.

By JACK ESPEY.

THE Temple University Nine with its collection of major league prospects did not find Georgetown much of an obstacle yesterday at the Hilltop. The Philadelphia boys combined their own potent hitting with Packy White's erratic pitching to win, 7 to 2, in seven innings, rain halting action as the eighth was about to start.

The Temple University Nine with its collection of major league prospects did not find Georgetown much of an obstacle yesterday at the Hilltop. The Philadelphia boys combined their own potent hitting with Packy White's erratic pitching to win, 7 to 2, in seven innings, rain halting action as the eighth was about to start.

Four players whom various big league clubs are seeking to sign were in the Owl line-up, and all save Jack Bonner, a former Georgetown freshman, indicated by their performances that they have well earned the recognition of the big time scouts. Bonner, a strapping 6-footer, failed to get a hit and did nothing in the field because he had no opportunities.

But Grover Wearshing, center fielder; Joe Rowan, second baseman, and Capt. Pete Leaness, third sacker, showed the home players and 500 spectators convincing demonstrations of their worth. The first named drove in three runs with a single, triple and sacrifice, scored one himself and turned in the greatest catch seen at the Hilltop in many moons.

Owl Star Spears Liner by Making Daring Dive.

In the fourth inning, with Dunn on second and none out, Scalzi of Georgetown belted a sizzling liner over short which appeared good for three bases or a homer. Wearshing got off with the crack of the bat and dove for the sphere just as it was about to hit the ground. He snared it while his body was in space, turned a somersault, jumped to his feet and lined a peg to Rowan to double Dunn at second base.

White was shaky from the start, yielding three hits and a run in the first frame. He escaped further damage in the next two innings, although walking three and hitting a batter, but could not make his southpaw slants behave after that. Temple scored two runs in the fourth, one of which counted on a wild pitch, and had another tally on the books with a runner on first when White was yanked in favor of Poole in the fifth.

HITTING SLUMP ENDS IN ORGY OF SCORING; HOME RUN BY GOSLIN

LEADING NATS

CLYDE MILAN, coach of the Nats, who is managing the team during Walter Johnson's illness. In 1922 the Nats won eleven straight games under Milan, who was then acting for Manager McBride, who was injured.

Holloway, Grant and Moore Hammered in Triumph.

By FRANK H. YOUNG (Staff Correspondent of The Post).

CLEVELAND, Ohio, May 6.—The Nationals came out of their batting slump with a bang this afternoon and mauled the offerings of Ken Holloway, George Grant and James Moore with such vigor that they not only won the game handily, 13 to 5, but equaled the season's record set by the Athletics recently for the most productive inning.

The conclusive inning was the fifth, which netted ten runs and nine hits, not to mention the four bases on balls, a stolen base and a wild pitch which figured in the onslaught. No less than eleven Nats came to the bat before the first out was turned in and nine scored before Myer, with the tenth, was killed at the plate trying to score on a short wild pitch. Before the frame ended sixteen Nats were up and six saw base life twice. Myer and Goslin each singled once and walked once. Rice and Judge made two hits each. Cronin walked twice, while West singled once and reached first later on a fielder's choice.

Braxton Indicates Future Will See Him Star.

The entire story of the game, of course, is contained in the details of this mammoth fifth frame which came after the Indians had forged into a one-run lead in the preceding inning. It took all the competition out of the game, and what happened thereafter did not matter.

Garland Braxton went the route for the Nats and showed that he may be expected to give a good account of himself from now on. With such a big lead, he just loafed through the final half of the game. Averill, with a single and double, led the attack against him.

One would expect a bigger number of Washington hits for such a large run total, but the Nats were credited with only 14, but today was the first of the season that they have been able to bunch several.

As a parting shot, Goose Goslin poled a homer over the right field wall, the blow being his third four-baser of the year. He also was credited with a double and a single to take batting honors of the day. Rice, Judge, Cronin and Tate ran a close second, with two bingles apiece.

Nats Fill Bases in Fourth, None Out, But Fail to Score.

As was the case in yesterday's game and, in fact, in many of those played so far this season, the Nats were simply unable to get hits when they meant runs in the early innings. In the first four innings, six were left on the runways and the sad part of the story is that they had the bases full in the fourth with none out, yet were held scoreless. Errors by Lind and Jamieson, with a passed ball and base on balls tossed in for good measure, let the Nats make the first threat of the game. This put it up to Hayes, but he hit a hot bounder to Holloway and a double play, home to first, resulted. An intentional walk to Tate again filled the bases and Holloway then wiggled all the way out of the hole by fanning Braxton.

Previously only three Nats had seen base life, Goslin on a double with two down in the first, Cronin on a single in the second, and Braxton via the four-ball route in the next session.

Cronin Checks Rally With Unassisted Double Play.

During this period, Braxton had simply breezed along. Averill singled with two out in the first, while a walk to Jamieson in the third netted nothing but exercise. It was different in the fourth, however, when the Tribe scored a run with the need of but one hit, Jamieson's single which sent Averill, who had walked as a starter, to third. Falk's sacrifice fly scored the runner. A good play by Cronin checked any further advance, the young shortstop taking Fonseca's bad hopper, tagging second, and then getting the ball to Judge ahead of the batter for a twin killing.

Phils Fill Bases in 9th And Defeat Cubs, 2-1

Philadelphia, May 6 (A.P.).—Pinkey Whitney's single in the ninth with the bases filled gave the Phillies a 2-to-1 victory over the Chicago Cubs today.

The thrilling finish broke up a keen pitching duel between Claude Willoughby and Sheriff Blake. The latter allowed four hits, one less than his opponent, but he surrendered two of these in the ninth which, with his own error and a base on balls, proved his undoing. Blake had allowed only two hits up until the ninth, and had struck out seven men.

GOOD AS GOLD ANNEXES PIMLICO HOMEBRED STAKES

Jeffords Filly Draws Away In Drive

Mowlee Beats Sortie in Three-Horse Race; Pink Lily Third.

By CHARLES WATSON
(Staff Correspondent of The Post).

PIMLICO RACE TRACK, Md., May 6. Good as Gold, the fleet 2-year-old daughter of Golden Broom—Bel-Agnes, which races for Mrs. Walter M. Jeffords, won the Pimlico Spring Homebred, which was offered as the feature today. Ridden by Jockey George Fields and carrying 112 pounds, Good as Gold turned in a smashing effort to earn her third straight victory out of four starts. Willis Sharp Kilmer's Mint Airy raced in the place position, two lengths behind the winner, with J. E. Davis' Colossal finishing third by head over Guilford and three other horses.

The value to the winner was another record purse for the event, amounting to $3,370, which brings the earnings of the filly up to $18,601 for the four starts.

The day was decidedly off color as the horses went to the post. Clouds hovered over the oval in a threatening manner, but it did not dampen the spirits of the vast throng which was on hand to witness the events. For the first day of the meeting, favorites displayed some sort of form and liberal prices were recorded.

Good as Gold Broke Sixth, But Soon Took Lead.

Good as Gold and Guilford were guilty of delaying the start of the feature when they would not face the barrier. The field was sent away in good alignment, however, and Guilford was the first to show in front. Good as Gold broke sixth, but, showing extreme speed, overtook the field rounding the stretch turn, and from there on raced under slight restraint to earn the purse. Guilford and Tewsenelda accompanied the winner into the stretch, but gave way to the brilliant stretch run of Mint Airy, which finished second.

Good as Gold is by far the best 2-year-old seen in Maryland this spring and gives every indication of going on with each start. Her tremendous burst of speed after she gets under way is remarkable, for she passe juveniles like they were anchored.

Pascuma Gets Uptown Lad Away Fast in Opener.

Johnny Schorr saddled the winner of the 5-furlong dash which ushered in the afternoon's sport in Uptown Lad, carrying the cerise and gold colors of the McLean Stable. Two lengths in the rear came the Foxcatcher Farms' Pro Tem, which finished a length in front of W. McK. Jones' Notus.

Pascuma was alert today and sent the McLean colt to the front at the break. Pro Tem was running second. At the half pole Guilder moved up in a threatening manner and stole the lead momentarily, but almost immediately gave way to the winner, which raced forwardly. Guilder tired perceptibly in the final furlong and finished fourth.

Maiden 3-year-olds and upward vied for honors in the second number of a mile and one-sixteenth, and Black Diamond, under the guidance of Jockey L. Schaefer, proved a galloping winner by a matter of five lengths over Dr. J Fred Adams' Glen Wild. Third to cross the finish line came the Seagram Stable's Buck Rill to save third money from Nemore, racing for the Foxcatcher Farms.

Sortie Late Starting in Third, Won by Mowlee.

There was a jam just after the start, with Some Ticket and King's Own getting the worst of it. Breaking from an inside position, Black Diamond at once took the lead and went into the first turn ahead of the other starters. Glen Wild was second and Bar le Duc third. They ran in this manner until the half-way mark was reached, where Glen Wild assumed command only to lose it.

Three horses went to the post for the third event carrying the title of the Ashburton Purse, at a mile and one-sixteenth. The winner was returned in the Rancocas Stable's fleet Mowlee, which led Sortie to the wire by a length and a half. Pink Lily, representing the Foxcatcher Farms, was third.

Starter Milton pulled another of his freak starts when he sent the field away with Sortie unready to get under way. Mowlee was first to the paddock turn, with Pink Lily in second place. The A. C. Schwartz's Sortie, far back in the early stages, went into second place as the home turn was entered, but was not good enough to overtake the winner. The margin of winner's victory was about the same distance. Sortie was out of it at the rise of the webbing.

Maryland Cubs Defeat Charlotte Hall, 8 to 0

UPTOWN LAD FINDS WAY HOME QUICKLY IN OPENER

FIRST RACE—Five furlongs. Purse, $1,300. The Oriole. For 2-year-old colts and geldings. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 2:31. Off at 2:33. Winner, E. B. McLean's ch c. (2), by Messinger—Harlem Lass. Trained by J. F. Schorr. Value to winner, $900; second, $250; third, $150. Time, 0:23 3-5, 0:48, 1:02 1-5.

Horses	Wgt.	Post	St.	¼	½	Str.	Fin.	Jockeys	Straight
UPTOWN LAD	112	3	2	2h	1h	1^1	1^2	Pascuma	$1.35

Two-dollar mutuels paid—UPTOWN LAD, $4.70, $3.10, $2.80; PRO TEM, $4.90, $3.80; NOTUS, $5.30.

UPTOWN LAD began quickly, raced GUILDER into early submission, saved ground and, responding willingly to pressure during the final stages, was drawing clear. PRO TEM, hard urged the last half mile, made a bold effort reaching the final furlong pole, but hung in the last sixteenth. NOTUS showed a good test and held on well under weak handling. GUILDER tired after three furlongs. ST. JIM showed speed and was on the outside all the way.

BLACK DIAMOND GLITTERS BRIGHTLY IN THE SECOND

SECOND RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $1,300. For maiden 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won easily; place, same. Went to post at 3:01. Off at 3:02. Winner, W. J. Salmon's b. c. (3), by Black Toney—Fair Priscilla. Trained by T. J. Healy. Value to winner, $900; second, $250; third, $150. Time, 0:24, 0:48 3-5, 1:14 2-5, 1:41 2-5, 1:48 1-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—BLACK DIAMOND, $7.90, $4.10, $3.90; GLEN WILD, $3.70, $3.30; BUCKRILL, $4.00.

BLACK DIAMOND avoided interference going to the first turn, was taken in hand on the back stretch, lost command momentarily, disposed of GLEN WILD without effort on reaching the home stretch and drew away to win with much to spare. GLEN WILD, caught in tight quarters at the break, fought his way into contention, made a brief spurt at the half-mile mark, and finished fast in the final drive. BUCKRILL was unable to reach the leaders. NEMORE went well. The others were never factors.

MOWLEE MAKES ONE-HORSE RACE OF 3-HORSE RACE

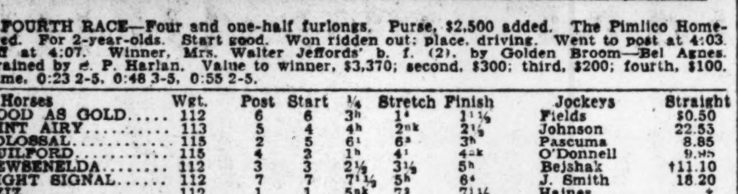

THIRD RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $1,300. The Ashburton. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, easily. Went to post at 3:31. Off at 3:32. Winner, Rancocas Stable's b. c. (4), by Lucillite—Epinglette. Trained by J. Lowe. Value to winner, $900; second, $304; third, $186. Time, 0:24, 0:48 3-5, 1:14, 1:40 3-5, 1:47 1-5.

Horses	Wgt.	Post	St.	¼	½	¾	Str.	Fin.	Jockeys	Straight
MOWLEE	110	3	1	1^6	1^10	1^4	1^2	1^1	Catrone	$1.25

MOWLEE, quickest to get going, sprinted into a commanding lead, was rated along thereafter and responded with good courage when shaken up during the final furlong. SORTIE, bumped at the break, lacked early speed, moved up fast when put to a drive, and finished with excellent speed. PINK LILY was through after half a mile.

GOOD AS GOLD JUSTIFIES NAME IN THE FEATURE

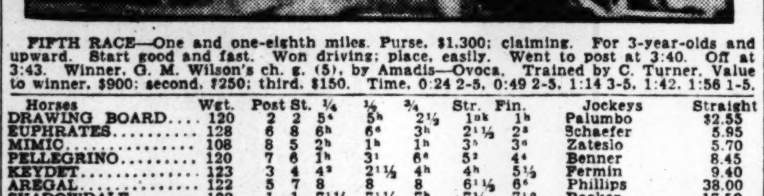

FOURTH RACE—Four and one-half furlongs. Purse, $2,500 added. The Pimlico Homebred. For 2-year-olds. Start good. Won ridden out; place, driving. Went to post at 4:03. Off at 4:07. Winner, Mrs. Walter Jeffords' b. f. (2), by Golden Broom—Bel Agnes. Trained by S. P. Harlan. Value to winner, $3,370; second, $300; third, $200; fourth, $100. Time, 0:23 2-5, 0:48 3-5, 0:55 2-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—GOOD AS GOLD, $3.00, $2.80, $2.80; MINT AIRY, $11.80, $6.70; COLOSSAL, $5.30.

GOOD AS GOLD, outrun for the first sixteenth, was forced to go extremely wide to reach the leaders, assumed command at the elbow and, kept under urging, held MINT AIRY safe. Latter, a keen factor from the start, was shaken up and finished in determined fashion. COLOSSAL, in close quarters soon after the break, saved ground and closed with good energy on the inside. GUILFORD weakened after shaking off TEWSENELDA. Latter had no excuses. NIGHT SIGNAL and FLASHING went wide.

DRAWING BOARD HOLDS THE ANSWER IN FIFTH NUMBER

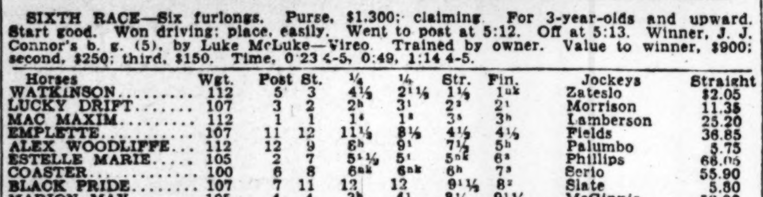

FIFTH RACE—One and one-eighth miles. Purse, $1,300; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good and fast. Won driving; place, easily. Went to post at 3:40. Off at 3:43. Winner, G. M. Wilson's ch. g. (5), by Amadis—Ovoca. Trained by C. Turner. Value to winner, $900; second, $250; third, $150. Time, 0:24 2-5, 0:49 2-5, 1:14 3-5, 1:42, 1:56 1-5.

CAROLMAN	122	4	3	3½	4^1	5^1	8	8	O'Donnell	3.95

Two-dollar mutuels paid—DRAWING BOARD, $7.10, $4.10, $3.00; EUPHRATES, $6.20, $3.80; MIMIC, $3.50.

DRAWING BOARD, taken under stiff restraint for the first five furlongs, moved up on the outside with good speed, swerved at the stretch turn and impeded MIMIC entering the home stretch, was hard hustled and just lasted to stall off EUPHRATES. Latter, trailed off the early pace, gained steadily and finished stoutly and was wearing the winner down at every stride. MIMIC shook off PELLIGRINO, saved ground, but was bothered and knocked off his stride at the stretch turn. He continued gamely. PELLEGRINO showed an even effort. KEYDET weakened. CAROLMAN went well for a mile, then stopped. A claim of foul was made against the winner, but was not allowed.

WATKINSON FLOATS HOME AHEAD OF LUCKY DRIFT

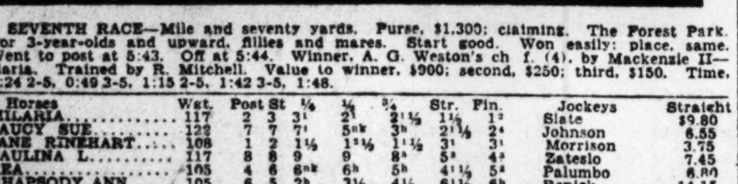

SIXTH RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,300; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, easily. Went to post at 5:12. Off at 5:13. Winner, J. J. Connor's b. g. (5), by Luke McLuke—Vireo. Trained by owner. Value to winner, $900; second, $250; third, $150. Time, 0:23 4-5, 0:49, 1:14 4-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—WATKINSON, $6.10, $3.70, $3.20; LUCKY DRIFT, $8.20, $6.00; MAC MAXIM, $12.30.

WATKINSON, hurried into a forward position, came with good speed when put to a drive and, finishing stoutly, caught the leaders at the furlong pole and was hard ridden to stall off LUCKY DRIFT. Latter, a factor throughout, fought it out with good courage. MAC MAXIM sprinted into a winning lead, saved ground, but stopped fast nearing the finish. EMPLETTE, slow to get going, closed a big gap. ALEX WOODLIFFE went wide all the way. BLACK PRIDE had no speed.

MILARIA SHOWS HEELS TO SAUCY SUE IN FINALE

SEVENTH RACE—Mile and seventy yards. Purse, $1,300; claiming. The Forest Park. For 3-year-olds and upward, fillies and mares. Start good. Won easily; place, same. Went to post at 5:43. Off at 5:44. Winner, A. G. Weston's ch f. (4), by Mackenzie II—Ilaria. Trained by R. Mitchell. Value to winner, $900; second, $250; third, $150. Time, 0:24 2-5, 0:49 3-5, 1:15 2-5, 1:42 3-5, 1:48.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—MILARIA, $21.60, $9.60, $6.60; SAUCY SUE, $8.40, $6.40; JANE RINEHART, $4.20.

MILARIA followed in nearest pursuit of JANE RINEHART from the start, closed with good speed when called on, wore the latter down and, kept under pressure, had enough left to withstand SAUCY SUE. Latter improved her position gradually on the inside, was placed to punishment, and finished stoutly. JANE RINEHART went into a good early lead, was steadied along, but could not keep pace when collared. PAULINA L., shuffled back early, went around her field and showed a good test.

COLLYER'S COMMENT on the SPORT of KINGS

BY BERT E. COLLYER

FLASH! Just had a wire from Walter H. Pearce, my personal ambassador to Louisville, that BAFFLING STAR is the real outstanding 2-year-old at Churchill Downs. Also that owner Bianci is fixing to cop a heat opening day. Now, unless you're solid ivory from the shoulders up, you will have the old two megs riding right smack bang on the old beezer. Ye'weekkum!

Down at Pimlico this afternoon "English Tommy" sends me a "rooters" special. None other than HYPNOTISM, which goes for all the kale in the day's opener. Let your conscience be your guide. FOUNDATION STONE seems as easily next best.

The Triangle Stable is well represented in the second, and the same source that supplied us with Beelzebub says "No contest again today." The answer is in your sweet little "duke."

The AUDLEY FARM seems to have a strangle hold on the long end of the purse in the third. In this respect, also, I want to warn you not to overbet yourself, because there was oodles of kale overnight on EXTREME, which really should show improvement over that last effort.

Up at Aurora, where the "frying-pan" brigade has been set in order, the happy chatter is, "Potter should win two races this afternoon." The first of these to SHASTA LAD, which was simply "poison" over at Lexington, and the closing dash with HESITATION. By the same token, Potter is better than a green hand.

EDWARD GRAY, which lost a tough race Saturday, is taken to bring home the grapes in the fifth, a dash of one and one-sixteenth miles. The contention will, in all probability, come from EASY MONEY, who is real good at present.

Special—Just want to call attention to the fact that I will have a Special—in this column—third race at Aurora, Wednesday. May I not reiterate—the third race, Wednesday, at Aurora. Obtainable only in this column.

More anon!

PURPLE NINE SCORES 6-4 VICTORY

St. John's Is Victim of Early Purple Assault.

PILING up five runs in the first two innings, the Gonzaga High Nine yesterday defeated St. John's 6 to 4. Dunn pitched steady ball for the victors, allowing seven hits, which were kept scattered except in the first and fourth, when the Johnnies counted two runs in each.

Rodier started on the mound for the losers, but his slants failed to puzzle the Purple sluggers.

Special to The Washington Post.

Baltimore, May 6.—Loyola High School's golf team led by Donald O'Brien defeated Gonzaga High of Washington, 8½ to 3½, in a match at Clifton Park. The visitors had the advantage in only one match, the fourth, in which J. Chase took two out of three points from Stewart Buppert.

O'Brien, Loyola ace, met a worthy opponent in R. Edmonson and had to be satisfied with winning the first nine and long match for two points.

Marks Broken By Pairs in 2 Classes

Lyons 23 Pins Short of Harrison in All Events.

TWO new doubles marks were written into the records of the Washington City Duckpin Association's 1929 tournament at the Coliseum last night and a singles leadership was threatened.

Johnny Beall and "Mickey" Johnson shot 692 to assure command among the class C doubles teams, while T. F. McMahon and George H. Bakersmith, Mount Rainier bowlers, totaled 656 for a new class E record.

Charley Lyons fell 23 pins short of displacing Paul Harrison in class A all-events. H. R. Baughman, of the Potomac Savings Bank Team, chalked up another triple-header strike.

Secretary Arville L. Ebersole announced last night that postponed singles and doubles sets will be rolled at any time the entrants report. Postponed team sets will be rolled Thursday and Friday nights. Last night's scores:

Harville Takes Lead In Odd Fellows Bowling

Harry Harville, the Odd Fellow Bowling League star, was in a bowling mood last night. After spilling 354 in the Washington City Association tournament at the Coliseum, he shot 361 net in the Odd Fellows tourney, which opened at King Pin No. 2 last night. A 3-pin handicap gave him 364 for the best singles score in the latter tournament.

Robins Conquer Reds, Scoring 6 Runs on 2 Hits

Brooklyn, May 6 (A.P.).—The Dodgers overwhelmed the Cincinnati Reds today to win the third and deciding game of their series by a 12-to-3 score. Jakie May's wildness in the first inning caused the Reds' downfall. Brooklyn scored six runs in the first on only two hits. Kolp, who relieved May in the first, finished the game, but yielded thirteen hits, including home runs by Picinich and Cullop.

Bolling Field Tossers Beat American U., 5-1

The Bolling Field Nine won over the American University tossers yesterday, 5 to 1, at Bolling Field. The game was featured by the timely hitting of Melton and Hukill, coupled with the excellent pitching of McCaughey.

CAPITAL CITY DEADLINE TONIGHT

THE final step in organization of the unlimited section of the Capital City League, sponsored by The Washington Post, will be taken tonight, when player contracts and franchise fees of the respective teams will be filed. This section of the league is scheduled to open its season Sunday.

Only those teams having their franchise fees and player contracts in the hands of the secretary, R. J. Atkinson, at midnight will be scheduled to play Sunday.

Eleven teams have signified their intention to compete in the unlimited race. A final opportunity to join is afforded today and tonight. Those teams which have filed applications and those wishing to apply are requested to communicate with the secretary at The Post sports department before the closing hour tonight.

Teams expected to be in line tonight are: Aztecs, National Press Building Cardinals, Auth's, Edmund's Art Stone Co., St. Joseph's A. C., Dixie Pig A. C., Cherrydale A. C., Capitol A. C., St. Mark's A. C., Tremonts and Avenue Valet Shop. The National Circles are considering seeking the title this year.

G. U. Prep Wins, 6 to 1, Over Hyattsville Nine

Make Performance your Yardstick !

With the whole nation buying on performance — with motorists everywhere getting behind the wheel and getting the facts — Buick results are winning more than twice as many buyers as any other fine car!

Buick Closed Bodies are by Fisher, the World's Largest Builder of Fine Closed Car Bodies

More than twice as many motorists purchase Buick as any other automobile priced above $1200. Analyze the reasons for this overwhelming preference and you will discover that the most important of all is Buick performance!

Buick's famous six-cylinder Valve-in-Head engine—with its unrivaled system of carburetion, its new positive-pressure gas pump and other vital advances—provides power, getaway and swiftness such as the motoring world has never before known—introduces an entirely new order of performance which is winning outspoken praise from motorists throughout the country.

With the whole nation buying on performance—with every test proving Buick superiority—with motorists everywhere purchasing more than twice as many Buicks as any other fine car—you owe it to yourself to drive a Buick before buying any automobile.

Mother of Eight Boys
"I read an ad in the newspaper and I started taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I will recommend this medicine to any woman who is in bad shape like I was. I used to get so tired after a few hours' work that I was even afraid in my own house in the daytime. I didn't care if I lived or died. I have given birth to eight boys and I feel strong right after, since I have taken the Compound."

TIGHTENING CREDITS DEPRESS BOND LIST

OILS ARE FAIRLY STEADY

New York, May 6 (A.P.).—A recurrent tightening of credit today had a depressing effect upon the bond market. With exception of foreign bonds affected by reparations developments and scattered public utilities and industrials, the list turned soft after a firm opening. The check was one of the most severe the market has received since the early April improvement began.

The convertibles, in which most of the trading took place, were the hardest hit by a boost in call money rates from 10 to 14 per cent. When the early selling began in stocks, the stock-privilege securities turned down also, and trading diminished in volume. American I. G. Chemical 5½s, lost more than a point, finishing at 103½ in contrast to their high of 110½ last week. Most of the popular convertibles moved down fractionally to four points.

International Telephone 4½s, however, ignored the money developments, gaining more than 2 points. When the stock began to rise, the convertibles were subject to insistent demand. Sales totaled $1,131,000 par value, more than one-tenth of the day's volume.

Foreign government loans most likely to benefit from a settlement of the reparations problem, were conspicuous for their firmness. Accumulation was noticeable in French Republic 7s, up 1 point; German Republic 7s, up a fraction; Belgium and Italian government issues. Other strong spots in the foreign list were Norway Municipal Bank 5s, up more than 2 points, Antwept City 5s, up more than a point, and German Industrials.

High and second grade rails, which made the most progress in the general list during the April improvement, came under pressure as money tightened. Such high grade rails as Atchison General 4s, slipped off nearly a point. Cheasapeake & Ohio refunding 4½s, on a heavy turnover, sold off a fraction.

Oils were relatively firm, among the industrials, Anaconda Copper 6s, Gould Coupler 6s, National Dairy Products 5¼s, and Youngstown Sheet & Tube 5s, were firm.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, May 6 (A.P.).—With the 1929 United States wheat harvest expected to commence inside of two weeks all wheat future deliveries in Chicago dropped today to a new low-price record for the season. The chief immediate cause assigned was an unexpectedly sharp break in wheat quotations at Liverpool, where reduced rail rates in the United States were reported to have brought about increased cheaper offerings of wheat both from Canada and Argentina. Corn and rye, as well as wheat, outdid in some cases here the season's previous bottom figures.

Wheat in Chicago closed nervous, 1⅞ to 3¼c a bushel net lower. Corn finished 1⅞ to 2⅞c down, oats ⅜c to 1¼c off and provisions unchanged to a setback of 50c.

Downturns in wheat values today were in the face of a big decrease of the United States wheat visible supply total and, notwithstanding, a cold wave in Canada. Traders' eyes appeared to be glued to blackboard figures showing that the Liverpool market was much lower than had been looked for, and that keener competition from Canada and Argentina was in evidence. Under such circumstances Chicago traders flocked to the selling side of the market, and buying was largely confined to previous sellers collecting profits. On the ensuing downward swing of the market many standing orders to let go of holdings were forced into execution at various price boundaries which had been prearranged as a limit to losses.

Adding to the momentum of the fall in wheat values was a comprehensive crop report from railroad sources indicating that cutting of wheat in southern Texas will start within a fortnight, and that expectations are for good yield. This is the first wheat to be harvested from the 1929 domestic crop. The report added that an early heavy movement of the crop is looked for, and that the condition of wheat is generally good all over the Southwest, except in the region just south of Amarillo, Tex.

In view of such bearish advices little attention was given to word that the domestic wheat visible supply today had fallen off 2,103,000 bushels compared with a week ago, the total supply being still nearly double the aggregate at this time last year. Curtailment of wheat supplies on ocean passage was also practically ignored on account of large surplus stocks both in the United States and Canada, with European call for North American wheat today reported slack and cheapness of some grades of Canadian wheat abroad so pronounced as to make even would-be buyers of corn slow to purchase.

Corn, rye and oats were pulled down by wheat weakness. Wet weather, unfavorable for corn planting and for oats progress, had but little influnece as a market counter-balance.

Provisions were bearishly affected by action both of grain and of hogs.

Pharaoh's Pschent
In his blue and ochre palace on the banks of the Nile, the first Pharaoh of the Upper and Lower Kingdom of Egypt ruled by virtue of the Pschent he wore on his head. Shaped like a candle-snuffer, Pharaoh's Pschent was a combination of the crowns of the two kingdoms.
By arms and guile, this Pharaoh—once ruler only of lower Egypt—had seized control of the rich upper kingdom, and united the wealth of the two countries.
You don't have to use arms and guile, but you have a salary—you can secure domination over the two kingdoms of Capital and Interest. A part of your salary, placed in a savings fund invested in the First Mortgage Notes offered through Swartzell, Rheem & Hensey Company, will give you unfailing security—and will pay you 6% interest, in two yearly installments, backed by our record of over SIXTY YEARS WITHOUT LOSS TO AN INVESTOR.

INCREASE DISCLOSED IN DEMAND DEPOSITS

STOCK PRICES MOVE UP

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

Net demand deposits showed an increase of $257,000,000 and loans and investments one of $67,000,000 in the Federal Reserve Board's condition statement of weekly reporting member banks in 101 leading cities on May 1, released for publication today. Time deposits declined $15,000,000 during the week and Government deposits $5,000,000, while borrowings from Federal Reserve banks increased $5,000,000.

Loans on securities advanced $67,000,000 at all reporting banks and $72,000,000 in the New York district. They receded $17,000,000 in the Philadelphia district. There was a gain of $9,000,000 in "all other" loans in the San Francisco district and one of $7,000,000 in the Kansas City district. They declined $5,000,000 in the Minneapolis district and $3,000,000 at all reporting banks.

Holdings of United States Government securities show a decline of $5,000,000 for the week, while holding of others increased $14,000,000 in the New York district and $10,000,000 at all reporting banks. Net demand deposits, which at all reporting banks were $257,000,000 above the April 24 total, advanced in most of the districts, principal increases by districts being: New York, $194,000,000; Boston, $22,000,000; Chicago, $19,000,000; San Francisco, $10,000,000; Cleveland, $9,000,000, and Philadelphia, $8,000,000. Time deposits were down $8,000,000 in the New York district and $15,000,000 at all reporting banks.

The principal changes in borrowings from Federal Reserve banks for the week comprise decreases of $18,000,000 at the Federal Reserve Bank of New York and $13,000,000 at Philadelphia, and increases of $14,000,000 at Cleveland, $9,000,000 at Boston and $8,000,000 at Atlanta.

New Trophies for Golfers.

Two new trophies in connection with the golf tourneys of the annual convention of the District of Columbia Bankers Association at Montauk Point, Long Island, N. Y., in June, were announced yesterday, following a meeting of the sports committee headed by Frederick H. Cox, chairman.

In addition to the usual golf events, two new ones have been added for additional cups, one known as the "Pop" Fleming Cup, donated by I. A. Fleming, financial writer of the Washington Star, and the Hatton Cup, by Richard Hatton, financial editor of the Washington Herald.

The Fleming Cup is to be played for by active officers of member banks, and the Hatton Cup by any representative of any member bank. The latter shall be a prize for a 54-hole low net or composite score played during the first three afternoons of the convention this year or for a consistent low score.

These cups are annual trophies, it was stated, and ownership of them will be in the association. The Fleming Cup is for a golf event, and the Hatton Cup has been designated by the association for a golf trophy this year. There also will be the top-spinning and ladies' knitting contests.

Railway Operating Income.

The Bureau of Railway Economics announced yesterday that Class I railroads in March had a net railway operating income of $97,466,476, which, for that month, was at the annual rate of return of 5 per cent on their property investment, according to reports just filed by the carriers with the bureau. In March, 1928, their net railway operating income was $90,876,037, or 4.73 per cent on their property investment.

This compilation as to earnings in March is based on reports from 183 railroads of the foregoing class representing a total mileage of 241,277. Gross operating revenues for the month amounted to $516,973,409, compared with $506,098,451 in March, 1928, or an advance of 2.1 per cent. Operating expenses in March totaled $377,279,236, compared with $373,921,554 in the same month for 1928, or an increase of nine-tenths per cent.

Bond Club Luncheon Today.

The May luncheon of the Bond Club of Washington will be held at the Carlton Hotel at 12:30 o'clock this afternoon, the speaker being George R. James, member of the Federal Reserve Board, whose subject will be "The Use and Abuse of Credit."

The annual outing of the Bond Club will be held at the Burning Tree Club on the afternoon and evening of Friday, June 14. C. C. Morgan will be in general charge and a pleasant program has been arranged.

Hundred Per Cent Membership.

Washington Mechanics Savings Bank has secured 100 per cent membership among officers and employes in Washington Chapter, American Institute of Banking, the May issue of Dollars and Sense, official publication of the chapter, appearing yesterday, reveals. The magazine congratulates William B. Mehler, counsel for the bank, which, it states, according to best available information, is the first to secure such a record. The issue also praises Robert E. Lee, counsel of the Lincoln National Bank, for securing a 100 per cent membership among the directorate of that institution. Membership of the chapter now totals 737, including 181 sustaining and 574 active members.

Replete with interesting national and local news to banking and allied activities, the issue has Ogden L. Mills, Undersecretary of the Treasury; W. Irving Glover, Second Assistant Postmaster General; J. W. Pole, Comptroller of the Currency; Roger B. Hull, managing director and general counsel of the National Association of Underwriters, and Harold Stonier, educational director, American Institute of Banking, as contributors.

Undersecretary Mill's speech on "Treasury Bills," delivered before the recent forum meeting of the chapter, is reprinted, together with new articles by Mr. Glover, on "The United States Air Mail Service;" "The New Currency," by Mr. Pole; "Cooperation Between Trust Officers and Life Underwriters," by Mr. Hull, and "Educational Preparation, a Growing Requirement for Success in Modern Business," by Mr. Stonier.

Judges for Elimination Trials.

Judges for the elimination trials for contestants from the second national district, American Institute of Banking, for the public-speaking prizes offered by A. P. Giannini, Los Angeles banker, and sponsored by the institute, to be held at the Raleigh Hotel this evening, are Alexander Wolf, trust officer, Second National Bank; Raymond B. Dickey, lawyer and member of the faculty of the Washington Chapter of the institute, and Arthur Deering, instructor in public speaking, Catholic University.

There will be ten contestants speaking on "The Best Investment," this year's contest subject. They will represent chapters in North Carolina, West Virginia, Maryland, Virginia, New Jersey and Pennsylvania. The winner of tonight's contest will represent the second district in the national contest at the national convention of the institute at Tulsa, Okla., in June, for which a prize of $500 is offered.

Trading Shows Improvement.

Slight improvement in trading was shown on the Washington Stock Exchange yesterday, the bond division total climbing from $2,000 to $6,500, and stock turnover of 164 shares, bettering Saturday's session.

Sales of eighteen shares of Washington Railway & Electric preferred at 97, last-sale figure; four of Washington Gas Light at 107⅛, ten of Columbia Sand & Gravel preferred at 91¼ fractional gains, and ten of Riggs National Bank at 577, a point and a half gain, were recorded. Fifteen shares of Lanston Monotype moved at 126¼, previous quotation, and ten of American Security & Trust at 445. Five shares of Potomac Electric 5½ preferred changed hands at 107, fractional decrease.

The bonding division was led by a $5,000 lot of Washington Gas 5s going at 100¼, last-sale level, and $1,000 of Washington Gas 6s, Series A, at 102⅝, fractional advance. A $500 lot of Barber & Ross, Inc., 6½s sold at 95¼.

Curb Review

New York, May 6 (A.P.).—Prices on the New York Curb Market started up in brisk fashion at the opening of today's market and then ran into heavy selling when the call money rate was marked up from 10 to 12 and finally to 14 per cent. Final quotations were decidedly irregular, with several of the popular public utility, airplane and industrial issues showing substantial gains.

Wall street had expected money rates to work lower this week, so that the rise in call money came as an unexpected blow. Business news continued favorable, with a flock of excellent earnings statements having a cheerful effect on sentiment.

American Super Power issues were the spectacular features in the public utility group, soaring nearly 20 points each to new high records and closing at the top. United Corporation, a large block of which is owned by the American Super Power Co., opened with a block of 30,000 shares at 67⅞, advanced to a new high at 68⅞, dipped to 65½, and then rallied to 67⅞ for a net gain of 1⅜ points. Electric Investors jumped 14 points to a new peak at 128⅞, but lost more than 5 points of its gain. Electric Bond & Share closed fractionally higher at 91½, after having crossed 93.

With the exception of Humble, which established a new peak at 124½, the oil shares failed to make much progress, although there was a fairly heavy turnover in some of the Standard Oil issues. Airplane shares were mixed. Fokker ran up 5½ points to a new high at 57 and then lost nearly half its gain, while Aviation Corporation of America dropped nearly 5 points and Curtiss Aero Express, Sikorsky and Travel Air lost a point or more. Bendix Aviation touched a new top at 84¾, but lost most of its gain.

Aluminum Co. of America, which was strong last week, dropped 10 points on a few sales. Firestone Tire dropped nearly as much. Ford of Canada B fell nearly 6 points and Morrell Co. Weisner Bros. preferred, Raybestos, Singer Manufacturing and U. S. Freight lost 4 to 5 points net.

Wall Street Briefs

New York, May 6 (A.P.).—Stockholders of Continental Oil Co. have been called to meet June 17 to vote on the proposed merger with the Marland Oil Co. It is proposed to dissolve the Continental Oil Co. of Maine. The voting trustees have decided to dissolve the voting trust as of May 18, when the transfer books close for the stockholders' meeting, transferring to the holders of the trust certificates the number of Continental shares represented by each certificate.

W. H. Coverdale, president of Gulf States Steel, says the company is planning a program for the expansion of its blast and open-hearth furnaces and its raw material supplies. Finished steel production will be increased 50 per cent thereby. The company at present is engaged in a $5,000,000 development project which embraces a 40-inch blooming mill plate and sheet mill.

Gas Securities Corporation, controlled by United Gas Improvement Co., made a profit of more than $7,000,000 through the sale of its holdings in General Gas & Electric Co., to Associated Gas & Electric.

Interstate Department Stores, Inc., had April sales of $6,860,623 compared with $5,261,879 a year ago, a gain of 30.38 per cent. April sales totaled $1,969,683 against $1,661,257, an increase of 18.56 per cent.

The Hayes Body Corporation reports sales for the first four months of 1929 of $9,600,000, compared with $4,800,000 in the same period of 1928, an increase of 100 per cent. April sales were in excess of $4,000,000 and established a new high record for the company. The plant of the company is reported to be operating at peak capacity.

NEW YORK COTTON.

New York, May 6 (A.P.).—Cotton was moderately stable around the opening today, but during the greater part of the session prices were on the down grade under renewed selling pressure. This was prompted largely by generally favorable week-end cotton belt weather, which seemed to have dispelled some of the pessimism prevalent at the close last week relative to the progress of the new crop. Houses with New Orleans and Western connections, as well as Wall street, were conspicuous sellers and there was a general absence of buying power. July declined from 18.93 to 18.56 and showed a loss of 37 points from the early high. Covering produced a moderate late rally and the general list closed steady at net declines of 28 to 35 points.

The opening was steady at 2 points higher to 6 points lower, compared with the final of Saturday and for a time displayed some stability on moderate buying, based on predictions of general showers over the belt with lwoer temperatures. The weather map, however, was considered favorable, with temperatures as high as 100 in the interior of Texas over Sunday. Throughout the day there was a noticeable absence of complaints of crop losses and the necessity of replanting, which were largely instrumental in bringing about the upward movement late last week.

The weakness in wheat and in the entire grain list as well as active selling for Western account, attracted considerable attention. Houses with New Orleans connections sold freely here, suggesting less uneasiness over the crop situation. An advance in call money to 14 per cent and selling by Wall street were also factors and the absence of aggressive buying was interpreted as an indication of a weaker technical position.

At the low point of the day the market was down 33 to 41 points from the final of last week, May reaching 19.30 and December 18.74. The late covering movement carried the market up 4 to 7 points from the lowest and was probably based on some uneasiness over possible weather developments overnight.

Private cables from Liverpool reported an inactive market, with some continental buying and local realizing, and said that there was a fair cloth inquiry from India and an improved demand for Egyptian yarns. Port receipts, 9,570. United States port stocks, 1,330,603. Exports today, 14,268, making 7,383,946 so far this season.

High pressure prevails elsewhere over North America, Greenland, and the western Atlantic Ocean, with centers as follows: Hamilton, Bermuda, 30.42 inches; Fort Simpson, B. N. T., 30.38 inches; Swift Current, Sask., and Concordia, Kans., 30.36 inches. This pressure distribution has been attended by rains within the last 24 hours in Wyoming, the central and southern Plains States, and the lower Missouri Valley, and over most sections from the Mississippi River eastward. The temperature has risen from Idaho and Nevada eastward to South Dakota, Nebraska, and in portions of the Gulf and South Atlantic States, and it has fallen in the Ohio Valley, New Mexico, and northern Texas.

The indications are for rain Tuesday morning in the Middle Atlantic and North Atlantic States and the northern Appalachian region, and for showers and thunderstorms Tuesday in the South Atlantic States. Otherwise generally fair weather is probable Tuesday and Wednesday east of the Mississippi River, followed by showers by Wednesday night in the lower Ohio and middle Mississippi Valleys. The temperature will be somewhat lower Tuesday in Tennessee, the South Atlantic States, New England, and the southern portion of the Middle Atlantic States, and it will rise slowly Wednesday in the Ohio Valley, Tennessee, the lower lake region, and the Middle Atlantic States.

THE BUNGLE FAMILY — Looking Up — By Harry J. Tuthill

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

CURIOUS MAN.

'Tis curious what men believe
And what they seem to doubt,
What strange professions they'll receive,
What truths they'll order out.

Advise your friend to progress slow
To methods that endure,
Counsel the longer way to go
The end of which is sure.

And though from him you seek no gain,
But wish to serve his need,
And would from folly him restrain,
To you he'll pay no heed.

But let a glib-tongued stranger call
With methods black as pitch,
Who, smiling, says, "Now, first of all,
I've come to make you rich.

"You're one of just a chosen few
This ground-floor buy to share,
This little deal will make of you
A multimillionaire."

Deaf to the friends who whisper low
That flatterers deceive,
Straight to the dotted line he'll go

Nobile Rescuer Saves Two by Warning in Air

Winnipeg, Manitoba, May 6 (A.P.).—Capt. Einar-Paul Lundborg, member of the Swedish Air Force and rescuer of Gen. Umberto Nobile, was instrumental in averting a serious airplane accident yesterday on his way from Emerson to Winnipeg. The flier, noticing the undercarriage of one of the escort planes hanging down, speeded up his own plane and flew alongside, notifying Alvin Keith, who was at the controls, and his passenger, Miss Dorothy Heel, of their danger.

At Winnipeg Keith, a pilot for only a month, made an expert landing, managing to taxi on one wheel until he could place the other wheel lightly on the ground, bringing the plane to a safe stop.

BEHIND THE SCREENS

With NELSON B. BELL

Today at 10 a. m., Representative Sol Bloom, member of Congress from New York, will take part, as a distinguished guest, in the unveiling and dedication of a bronze tablet in honor of the memory of Marcus Loew in the lobby of the Palace Theater.

This, I am informed, will not be a public ceremony, but will be participated in only by the Loew staff in this city, Mr. Bloom, a friend of long standing of the late theater magnate, and a limited list of invited guests.

It is to be regretted that John Irving Fisher, master of ceremonies at the Fox, should have tired so soon of his F street assignment. That his local engagement is beginning to pall upon him is amply evidenced by the nature of the badinage for which he seems to have developed a lamentable penchant over the past week-end.

During the last two or three days Mr. Fisher has seen fit to resort to a not wholly unsullied type of humor that has, according to written and verbal complaints to this desk, proved offensive to many patrons of the theater. Further than that, on Sunday afternoon he made the frank statement from the stage that his five or six weeks in Washington had seemed like two years, but he would get out eventually.

The Capital, it seems to me, has been reasonably considerate of Mr. Fisher, and if his spoken word may be accepted as a true reflection of his eagerness to depart from our midst he no doubt will be cheered to know that others are rapidly being won to his view.

New eras in screen entertainment have been inaugurated with such rapidity during the past year that it is only with the utmost difficulty that even a close observer is able to keep track of what is the motion-picture vogue of the moment.

At first it was only necessary that the shadows on the silver sheet talk to insure wide-eyed interest, just as the miracle of motion two or three decades ago was sufficient to rivet attention. Then the musical comedy and revue forms were looked upon as a little more remarkable than the rest. Now comes the full-fledged operetta, with cast, chorus, ballerinas and ensembles almost running out of the hundreds into the thousands. The first of the new order is the Warner Brothers' Vitaphone version of "The Desert Song," next week's major attraction at the Metropolitan.

So confident are the officials of the Stanley-Crandall Co., of Washington, of the enthusiastic reception that will be accorded this pretentious adventure in a new field that John J. Payette, supervisor of theaters, has scheduled a special midnight premiere for Wednesday night of this week. For this advance showing, unless my memory has gone askew, all seats will be priced at 50 cents.

The regular engagement of "The Desert Song," it should be made clear, will not begin until Saturday morning, when the first performance will begin at 10:25.

There still remain the circus, the minstrel show and grand opera to be translated into the new medium, a few of Mr. Shakespeare's classic dramas already having been nominated for the experiment.

Any who may have felt that Wesley Eddy has fallen anything short of acquiring an enthusiastic and faithful following during his 75 weeks as master of ceremonies at the Palace, need only attend one of the farewell week performances now current to learn how in error any such fallacious notion really is. They are tearing the house down four or five times a day and no one who has witnessed one of the ovations can feel any wonder that Wes chokes up a little in his good-byes or that his eyes fill with honest tears.

It is with feelings akin to proprietorship that Washington will learn that Charlotte Walker, who has been one of the leading figures of the American stage since her memorable portrayal of Virginia Carvel in "The Crisis," will make her debut in talking pictures in "Paris Bound," an all-dialogue production featuring Ann Harding.

Miss Walker is said to have one of the largest theatrical followings in the United States for she has starred in stage productions in more than 1,900 theaters in all parts of the country during her long and successful career.

Among her early stage successes were "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine," in which she later appeared on the screen for Paramount; and "The Poor Little Rich Firl," in which she appeared as Mary Pickford's elder sister.

Last season she starred in "The Constant Wife," playing the role created by Ethel Barrymore, and prior to that appeared in "The Green Hat" and the all-star revival of "The Circle."

"In "Paris Bound," Charlotte Walker is one of a notable cast that includes, in addition to Ann Harding, Frederic March, Herbert Clark, Carmelita Geraghty, Hallam Cooley, Ilka Chase, George Irving and Juliette Crosby.

Miss Walker has been looked upon almost as a Washington product ever since the far-away days of her supremacy as star of one of the most distinguished stock companies that ever trod the boards of the Columbia Theater.

Yes, some of the gentlemen of the press really are like that!

Dirigible Experiment In Germany Is Failure

Berlin, May 6 (A.P.).—The Montag Post today said that a dirigible experiment at the Raab-Katzenstein Airplane Construction Works at Massel had proved a failure. A squall caught a small new type dirigible broadside and broke it apart. The hollow steel keel snapped like a match. One of the horizontal stabilizers was torn and a motor destroyed.

RITCHIE ADDRESSES JEWELERS' BANQUET ON BUSINESS BONDS

SHOP TALKS FEATURE CONVENTION SESSION

Final Meeting to Be Held This Morning; New Officers Will Be Elected.

Shop talks relating to various phases of the trade featured the opening meetings of the Maryland-Delaware-District of Columbia Jewelers Association in its two-day annual convention at the Mayflower Hotel.

A banquet at the hotel last night, assembling virtually all of the 500 association members, their ladies and invited guests, was addressed by Gov. Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland, who briefly spoke of the increasingly closer bonds of friendship and business relationships being waged between the people of Maryland and the District of Columbia.

Other Speaker Heard.

Both Gov. C. Douglas Buck of Delaware, and Representative Clyde Kelly, of Pennsylvania, who had been listed as speakers last night, were unable to be present. Impromptu addresses on this occasion were made also by William G. Frasier, president of the American National Retail Jewelers' Association; C. H. Millikin, president of the convention association, and Arthur J. Sundlun, president of the Washington Retail Jewelers' Association.

Mr. Sundlun and Mr. Frasier also spoke at the day's business sessions. Others were John D. Enright, of Philadelphia, on "The Evolution of the Diamond;" Proctor L. Dougherty, president of the District Board of Commissioners; Bartly J. Doyle, of Philadelphia, on "The Jeweler of Today and Tomorrow;" and Edward H. Hufnagel, president of the Horological Institute of America, on "A Look Into the Future of American Progress."

To Name Convention City.

Dr. Hugh P. Baker, manager of the trade association department, Chamber of Commerce of the United States, will be the sole speaker of the final business meeting which begins at 10 o'clock this morning. Election of officers, selection of the next convention city, and transaction of miscellaneous unfinished business will conclude the convention.

A farewell luncheon, an entertainment and a dance is scheduled for 12:30 o'clock this afternoon at the Town and County Club, Bethesda, Md.

Alimony Allowance Reversed by Court

Mrs. J. G. Burnap Loses $100 Monthly by Edict of Appeals Tribunal.

An alimony allowance of $100 a month was lost by Mrs. Jeanette Gallinger Burnap, daughter-in-law of the late Senator Gallinger, by a decision of the District Court of Appeals yesterday. The Appellate Court reversed a ruling of the District Supreme Court against George Burnap, landscape artist and city planner, now sojourning in Paris.

The parties were married in Paris on December 5, 1924, and lived together four months, partly in Paris and partly in this country. Following her husband to this country from France in 1925, the wife instituted suit for maintenance on grounds of cruelty and inadequate support.

The decision handed down yesterday found the cruelty charges in the suit had not been proven and that the husband, after leaving France, had made adequate arrangements for his wife's expenses. There was also an agreement, the court held, requiring separate control of property of each party and that the wife has an income of $3,700 from a fund provided by a relative. Burnap charged his wife left him without cause and kept her whereabouts secret until she filed the suit.

Court Denies Teacher's Plea for High Rating

A junior high school teacher in District public schools is required to take an examination for appointment as a senior high school or normal school teacher, even though he possesses a college degree, the District Court of Appeals ruled yesterday, declaring the degree alone does not meet the eligibility requirements for that post.

The decision was awarded in the case of Richard A. Gillem, junior high school teacher, who sued out a mandamus petition against the Board of Education to compel the board to classify him in the group of normal and senior high school teachers. The District Supreme Court denied the petition and the case was carried to the Appelate Court.

Former Convict's Plea For Jail Term Granted

Possessing a long prison record, William Harrison appeared before Judge Robert E. Mattingly in Police Court yesterday, charged with intxication. He astonished the magistrate and spectators by requesting that he be sent to jail.

He was found asleep on a vacant lot while in an intoxicated condition, according to testimony. His record included a six-month term at Leavenworth Prison, another six months at the local jail, and he also admitted trying to break into the home of Maj. William Peak, superintendent of the jail, recently. Judge Mattingly granted his request and sentenced him to serve another term of six months.

Official of Red Cross Praises Capital Police

Commendation of the District Police Department was expressed on behalf of the American Red Cross to Maj. Henry G. Pratt, superintendent of police, in a letter from John Barton Payne yesterday.

Payne inclosed a copy of a resolution praising the courtesy and character of service rendered the Red Cross organization during its gathering recently. Maj. Pratt forwarded the letter of praise to the Traffic Bureau and to Capt. W. G. Stott, commander of the Third Precinct.

Court Upholds Metzger Trust.

A provision in the will of Percy Metzger, an attorney, for a hospital to be founded and maintained from an income of his estate, not to exceed $75,000, was affirmed by the District Court of Appeals yesterday. His heirs claimed that the time when the accumulated income would be sufficient to establish and support the hospital is sufficiently remote that the trust should be declared void.

$203,700 IS SOUGHT FOR TRAFFIC BUREAU

Increase of $150,000 Asked by Director Harland for Fiscal Year 1931.

URGES ADDITIONAL LIGHTS

Requesting an increase in the appropriation for the Traffic Bureau from $53,700 for 1930, to $203,700 for the fiscal year 1931, William H. Harland, traffic director, in estimates submitted to Daniel J. Donovan, District auditor, declared that automatic traffic signal lights should be intsalled as quickly as possible at 125 additional street intersections.

Most of the increase asked by Harland would go toward providing for the purchase and installation of the new lights he said are needed.

Conduct of an annual traffic survey also is provided for in the estimates Harland submitted to Dovovan. The estimates carry an item of $5,000 for such a survey, to be conducted by the traffic director or some one designated by him.

One new clerk in the Traffic Bureau and four additional men in the Traffic Bureau shops where signs are prepared and kept in shape also are requested in the estimates. Harland would have the $25,000 allowed for the shops in the next fiscal year increased to $30,000 in 1931.

Conviction of Two For Gaming Upheld

Opinion May Upset Manner of Issuing Warrants for Arrests.

Conviction of two men on gambling charges were upheld in opinions rendered yesterday by the District Court of Appeals. The men are David Zerega, who was arrested February 17, 1928, on the second floor of 913 E street northwest, and Lewis T. Brown, proprietor of the "Up and Down Club." Both were accused of setting up gaming tables and were sentenced to serve eighteen months each.

In the Zerega case, the appellate court, in a decision rendered by Justice Charles H. Robb, may upset the practice of issuing warrants in Police Court and add to the duties of the magistrates in that tribunal.

Clerks and deputy clerks of the Police Court, according to the decision, are without authority to issue warrants of arrest. This duty, according to the opinion, is a judicial act and can be executed only by a Police Court judge. The warrant of arrest in Zerega's case was obtained from a clerk, but the appellate court decided this was not enough to vacate the conviction since the defendant was discovered in the act of committing a felony. The convictions were obtained in the District Supreme Court by Assistant District Attorney William H. Collins.

Appeals Court Affirms Damages of $15,000

Affirming a $15,000 damage judgment against the J. Maury Dove Co., coal and ice concern, the District Court of Appeals, in a decision yesterday, flayed drivers of motor vehicles who fail to stop when street cars are loading or unloading passengers. The damage judgment was awarded in the District Supreme Court to Dorothy Cook, 14 years old, a Dunbar High School student, who was struck by a motor truck on February 8, 1926.

The opinion rendered by Justice Charles H. Robb declared: "It was the imperative duty of the truck driver as he approached this car stop, not only to have his truck under control, but to stop it when he saw, or should have seen, that the street car had stopped or was about to stop. The few seconds delay to motorists incident to an observance of this sensible and humane regulation is of trivial importance when compared with the frightful consequences very liable to result from its nonobservance."

Appeals Court Upholds Death Chair Sentence

The first-degree murder conviction and sentence of death in the electric chair imposed on George Herbert Thompson, colored, was upheld in an opinion rendered yesterday by the District Court of Appeals. The higher court decided there were no reversible errors made by the trial court.

Thompson is under sentence to die on June 7. He shot and killed Elsie R. Bowan, also colored, at 1010 Kenyon street northwest on October 31, 1927, after she had refused to be reconciled with him. The Court of Appeals' decision leaves the convicted murderer but two avenues of escaping the electric chair, the United States Supreme Court and executive clemency by President Hoover. Prosecution of Thompson was conducted by Assistant District Attorney John W. Pihelly, while Frank J. Kelly appeared as defense counsel.

Owners Agree to Move Pig Pens to Maryland

Pig pens which are reported to have caused annoying odors to the residents of Washington Highlands are to be moved into Maryland, it was reported last night at a meeting of the Washington Heights Citizens Association.

At the last meeting of the association the membership went on record complaining of the pig pens and a complaint was dispatched to the owners. This resulted in the pig owners agreeing to move out of the District into Maryland, it was reported.

The association went on record approving the proposed $3,000,000 appropriation for schools after hearing a talk from Dr. Edward E. Richardson, president of the Congress Heights Citizen Association and chairman of the education advisory committee.

BANK GANG IS LINKED TO DRUG STORE RAID

Police Recall 6 Men Staged Both Lootings; Patron Held Involved.

ALL SHABBILY DRESSED

Police last night were working on the theory that the Henry Drug Store, at 1250 Twenty-second street northwest, was robbed early yesterday morning by the same men that looted the Bank of Del Ray, at Potomac, Va., last Saturday.

The fact that six men staged both robberies and that in both instances men were held up at pistol point leads investigators to favor the belief that the same men are responsible for both holdups. Police also believe that one or more of the men who robbed the drug store regularly patronized the store.

Columbus W. Henry, proprietor of the drug store, was held up at pistol point by one man while his five companions depleted the store of 503 pints of whisky of assorted brands. Money and all other merchandise were ignored by the robbers. Henry says he believes he could identify the man who actually held him up, but is hazy regarding the appearance of the others.

All the men, Henry said, were shabbily dressed. The man who held him up, he said, was dark haired, and heavy set, weighing about 150 pounds. He was about 40 years of age, Henry judged. Henry said that the robbers, after breaking open one cabinet and taking the 503 pints, attempted to open another cabinet, but gave up the attempt after failing to make the lock turn. Henry said there were 100 pints of whisky in the cabinet that was unopened.

Policeman's Car Fells Man; Hurts Not Serious

Charles W. Holland, 44 years old, who gave his address as Manassas, Va., and 517 Eighth street northeast, Washington, was treated at Casualty Hospital last night for injuries suffered when knocked down on the 400 block of Massachusetts avenue northwest by an automobile operated by Policeman Oscar Rehbein, of the Ninth Precinct.

Holland's injuries consisted of lacerations of the scalp and bruises. The policeman was off duty at the time of the accident.

$5,214,595 IS ASKED FOR WELFARE BOARD

Increase of $672,000 in Year's Estimates Provides for Extending Services.

NEW BUILDINGS PROPOSED

Extension of the facilities of several agencies under the direction of the Board of Public Welfare is provided for in the annual estimates submitted by the board for the fiscal year 1931.

The estimates transmitted to Daniel J. Donovan, District auditor and budget officer by George S. Wilson call for total appropriations of $5,214,595 for 1931, which is an increase of $672,740 over the $4,541,855 appropriated for the work of the board for the 1930 fiscal year, beginning July 1.

Construction of a nurses home at a cost of $175,000, and the acquisition of a medical library not to exceed $100,000 in cost, are among the things provided for Gallinger Hospital in the estimates, the total amount for which is fixed at $413,775.

New buildings and extension of facilities are provided for both the training schools for white and colored boys, the estimates for the former totaling $412,000 and that for the later, $117,580.

Increase in the personnel assigned to the care of children and child welfare work generally, which, it is said, is far below the standard of other cities and the minimum generally recognized as necessary to good work, also is provided for in the estimates in which $84,560 is provided for this work.

The District Jail asks $91,700 for maintenance and $84,000 for personnel, including five additional guards, and the workhouse requires $522,020, the board said in its estimates.

Delaware Firm Lowest Bidder for New Curbing

The lowest bid for laying of new curbs in the section east of Rock Creek Park was made by the Highway Engineering & Construction Co., of Shelbyville, Del., at $166,373.50, according to Rolan M. Brennan, chief clerk of the District Engineer Department, who opened the bids yesterday.

Other bids were the Cranford Co., $174,191; McGuire & Rolfe, $191,105.50; Atlantic Bitulithic Co., $245,037.50; the Interstate Amiesite Co., Wilmington, Del., $176,185; Pennell & Harley, Spartanburg, S. C., $189,155, and Corson & Gruman, $172,352.50.

Judge Says People Need Constitution

Avers Its Dissemination Is Remedy for Rampant Disrespect for Law.

The remedy for general disrespect of law, Judge J. A. Van Osdol, former president of the Indiana State Bar Association, declared in an address here yesterday is "to reestablish the Constitution in the hearts and minds of the American people."

Judge Van Osdol's address was delivered before members of the National Association for Constitutional Government at their annual meeting in the Colorado Building.

The association elected the following officers: David Jayne Hill, president; Representative James M. Beck, J. A Van Osdol, Charles Warren, Mrs. Wallace Radcliffe, Charles S. Thomas, Walter S. Penfield, Wade H. Ellis and John Hays Hammond, vice presidents; Miss Frances M. Williams, secretary, and John Joy Edson, treasurer. Dr. Herbert F. Wright continues as managing editor of The Constitutional Review.

U. S. Agent and Police Nab Three Here for Cider Sale

Trio Makes $2,500 Bond Pending Trial Under Jones Law; Revenue Man Claims Beverage Sold at Florida Avenue Stands Contains 12 Per Cent Alcohol.

Cider took its place along side of hard liquor and other intoxicating beverages last night when a Federal revenue agent and police detectives arrested three men and charged them with sale and possession of cider in violation of the Jones five-and-ten law.

The revenue agent, S. J. La Scola, stated he would prosecute the charge to the limit as test cases. Bond for each of the men was set at $2,500, which they made.

Those arrested were Joseph Green, 40 years old, and his brother, Howard Green, 25 years old, both of 1002 Girard street northwest, and Will Poll, 36 years old, of 1126 Tenth street northwest. The Greens operate a soft drink stand at 714 Florida avenue northwest, where they were arrested. Poll also a soft drink stand operator, was taken into custody at his establishment, 709 Florida avenue northwest.

The arrest of the Greens and Poll follows alleged success of undercover men in buying cider at the two establishments, according to police.

Agent La Scola stated that he had an analysis made of the cider which the undercover men allege they bought from the Greens and Poll, and that the beverage was shown to have 12 per cent alcoholic content.

ENGINEERS APPROVE $8,444,570 PROGRAM FOR DISTRICT IN 1931

Estimates on Improvements Proposed, Studied by Project Board.

COMMISSIONERS AND CONGRESS HAVE SAY

Plans Include Street, Water and Electric System Innovations.

Approval of the District engineer project board was given yesterday to a tentative program of improvements of highways, sewers, water, street lighting and electric systems of the District totaling $8,444,570 for the fiscal year 1931.

The program was embodied in tentative estimates prepared by the heads of the various departments concerned and was submitted to Daniel J. Donovan, District auditor and budget officer.

Study of the estimates by the board marked the first time such a practice has been followed in the municipal government. The board, of which Maj. D. A. Davison, assistant engineer commissioner, is chairman, was appointed a few months ago and is comprised of the three assistant engineer commissioners and Capt. H. C. Whitehurst, chief engineer and coordinator of the engineer department, and Roland M. Brennan, chief clerk of the engineer department.

Harmony Is Aim.

The board was created to bring into harmony the work and plans of each of the several related departments of the District engineer division so that the work of all could be carried forward as a unit along carefully considered lines so as to prevent waste, duplication, and inefficiency.

The approval given by the board to the tentative program prepared by department heads for 1931 does not mean that the program will be carried out as recommended because the estimates of each department still are to be studied by the District Commissioners, the budget bureau, and finally to be approved or disapproved or changed by Congress in the form of appropriations. The project board will, however, Maj. Davison said, follow each change made in any department figures and lay before responsible officials the effect of that change on the whole coordinated program.

The program calls for extension of the sewer and water systems, extension and improvement of the street lighting system, extension and improvement of the fire alarm box system, extension and improvement of the police patrol box system, additional facilities for treatment of sewerage before it is emptied into the river, construction of a new bridge to replace the present structure over Klingle Valley, and increased expenditures for new roadways, paving and resurfacing of streets.

Department Estimates.

The estimates of each of the four departments which are a part of the coordinated program are: Highway, $4,187,680, which is an increase of $496,580 over the $3,691,000 appropriated for the 1930 fiscal year; sewer, $2,017,800, which is an increase of $529,500 over the $1,488,000 appropriated for 1930; water, $1,065,390, which is an increase of $28,880 over the $1,036,510 appropriated for 1930; and electrical, $1,174,000, which is an increase of $33,570 over the $1,140,430 appropriated for 1930.

The total program for the four departments amounts to $8,444,570, which is an increase of $1,088,630 over the amount appropriated for the departments in 1930.

Declaring that one-third of the total water supplied the city is going to waste unaccountably, the water department's estimates provide for increase in both its funds for personnel and maintenance of the water system. The lost water costs $38,000 annually for treatment and pumping it into the city mains. If the lost water is saved and used in the hydroelectric plant at the Dalecarlia Reservoir, it would mean a saving of $20,000 annually in electric current which must now be bought.

Comparison With 1930 Estimate.

Estimates for personnel for 1931 total $179,890 as compared with appropriations of $154,800 for 1930; and for maintenance the estimated needs total $385,500 as compared with $365,000 appropriated for 1930.

Increased funds are necessary if the water department is to keep ahead of the street repair program, and the department asked that funds for this work, done under the head of assessments, be made available immediately after Congress passes the next District appropriation bill. An increase of $35,000 is carried in the estimates for assessment work, making the total $285,000 for 1931 as compared with $250,000 for the next fiscal year.

Old and worn-out divide valves and old mains are held a menace to the entire water system and will be replaced. The department asked for an increase of $40,000 over the 1930 appropriation for this work and requested that the $90,000 for 1931 also be made immediately available, declaring that the department was faced with a serious problem to keep ahead of the street repair work so as to avoid cutting into new roadways.

Old Main Gives Trouble.

For 1,900 feet, from M street to Dupont Circle, the 48-inch water main along New Hampshire avenue is only 2 feet below the surface and is a constant expense and trouble, it was said. The main was laid by the United States Government in 1888 and the present heavy traffic makes the cost of keeping the street paved prohibitive because of the frequent breaks in the main. An appropriation of $20,000 was asked for this work. Shifting of the 20-inch water main now under Belt road, from Ingomar street to Livingston street, to Forty-first street, because Belt road has been abandoned as a highway and the land is to revert to its former owners is another project. An appropriation of $25,000 is asked for the relaying of this main.

The task of keeping ahead of the paving program makes an increased appropriation for extension of subsewers imperative, the sewer department declared in submitting an estimate for $1,000,000 for this work in 1931 as compared with an appropriation of $612,000 for 1930. The department said $150,000 was vitally needed to keep ahead of paving work, that limited funds had caused much needed work to be deferred, and that the 1930 appropriation would not permit catching up. The department estimated $300,000 for main and pipe sewers and receiving basins as against $210,000 appropriation for 1930.

Urges Treating Plants.

It would also provide for temporary plants for the treatment of sewerage before it is emptied into Oxen Run, extend the upper Anacostia interceptor, and carry forward the work on the sewerage treatment plant at Magazine Point. It was proposed that the land acquired some years ago at Twenty-fourth street and Benning road be sold and land farther north be acquired for the establishment of a treating plant.

Construction of a new Connecticut avenue bridge over Klingle Valley is provided for in the estimates of the highway department. An item for $500,000 is contained in the estimates for this work. The present Klingle Valley Bidge, it was said, was built in 1891 for the Rock Creek Railway Co. and transferred to the District Commissioners.

Heavy traffic, at present, must be confined to the street car track space because the rest of the bridge is not safe for it. Under plans drafted in 1920 a concrete arch bridge similar to that across Piney Branch at Sixteenth street would be constructed, but the design would be changed to provide a 60-foot instead of a 42-foot roadway. Two walks, one on either side, and each 8 feet wide, would be provided.

Total Street Repairs Estimate.

Total street repairs provided for in the 1931 estimates would cost $1,675,000. Resurfacing would cost $800,000, minor repairs to paved roads in the city $500,000, and suburban road repairs would get $375,000. It is estimated that the gasoline tax will yield $1,800,000, and this would be expended on new roadway and street paving.

Estimates of the electrical department call for an increase of $6,000 for traffic lights, $16,450 for lamp-posts, and $4,670 for installation of the signal box system for the new Fifteenth Police Precinct. The estimates also provide for the replacement of several obsolete fire alarm boxes.

Of the total increase of $33,570 asked by the electrical department, $26,000 would go for the street lighting system.

DAVISON TO INSPECT AIRPORT AT NEWARK

WILL TRAVEL BY AIRPLANE

Inspection of the airport of Newark, N. J., is to be made today by Maj. D. A. Davison, assistant engineer commissioner designated by the District Commissioners to take charge of the District government's end of the study being made by Senator Bingham's senatorial committee looking to the development of an airport here.

Weather permitting, Maj. Davison is to fly to Newark this morning, inspect the airport and return to Washington in the afternoon.

Study of the Newark airport is expected by Maj. Davison to develop information of considerable value in deciding the course to be followed in developing a Washington airport. The Newark field is a new one and was built on ground requiring a large amount of filling, such as will be necessary in the development of the Gravelly Point site proposed for Washington's airport.

Conditions of the soil and surface conditions, lighting at night, runways and control of traffic arriving and leaving the port are some of the matters on which Maj. Davison wants information about the Newark port.

Although inspection has been made of several airports in other cities, none of these have been on ground where much filling has been required, and therefore no information as to the experience of other cities under conditions similar to those existing at Gravelly Point.

Healers' Licensers Will Speed Work

Commission to Meet Each Week Until Boards Are Selected.

With only a part of the personnel of the first of the five boards that it will have to appoint selected, the District Commission on Licensure, healing arts, yesterday voted to meet every week until its preliminary work has been completed. The commission meets regularly under the law once a month.

The commission has centered its attention on appointment of the board on basic sciences as the first which it will appoint, and two or three members of this board have been tentatively agreed on, but the remainder of its membership of five still are to be selected.

With less than a month remaining before the expiration of the time limit within which applicants, other than doctors of medicine, licensed under the old law, may file applications for new licenses without the formality of a new examination, the number of applications received by the commission has climbed only to 58, Dr. William C. Fowler, District health officer and secretary-treasurer of the commission, has announced. The time within which applications may be filed expires on May 27.

SOLDIERS AT MILLS HIT BY A. F. L. HEAD

GROUP CALLS ON HOOVER

Exhibition of military force against striking textile workers at Elizabethton, Tenn., was characterized as "one of the things which lie at the bottom of the so-called radical movements in our country" yesterday by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, in addressing the opening session of the National Women's Trade Union League convention at the Grace Dodge Hotel.

The convention group enjoyed a half-hour talk with Mrs. Hoover at the White House at noon yesterday, prior to a welcome by President Hoover. Sessions of the organization will continue through Saturday.

"This morning in Tennessee we find a peaceful community transferred into a military camp," declared Mr. Green. "What for, and why? There was no overt act committed that would justify such a display of military strength; there was no violence except the violence that was imposed upon our representatives by some of the so-called respectable citizens of our community, and that happened several weeks ago. Why were they brought in? For the purpose of terrorizing the community!"

"No Destructive Group."

"There was no destructive, anarchistic organization trying to speak for the workers of Elizabethton. There was no group of men at the throat of the city government or of the National Government. They were thoroughgoing American citizens, represented by an organization that is loyal to our country and to its flag.

"Is that the way to settle human relations? Is that the policy that shall be pursued in the settling of disputes between employer and employe? It is these things that breed contempt and hate, and it is these things that lie at the bottom of all these so-called radical, destructive movements in our country. Employers in nearly every section of the country are just as hostile now as they were two decades ago, particularly when there is involved in any dispute that arises between employers and employes the right of collective bargaining and the recognition of union relationships."

Woman Leader Speaks.

The "precarious conditions" of workers in Southern factories and mills were sharply assailed by Miss Rose Schneiderman, president of the organization, in advocating the expansion of trade unionism throughout that region. She also recommended "an active educational campaign among our entire membership so that the working women of our land may play an active part in the movement for world peace."

Miss Matilda Lindsay, Southern field representative of the league, in reviewing Southern industrial conditions, predicted "the next few years will see the South become the industrial frontier of the country," with education, understanding and trade unionism playing an increasingly important part.

Miss Frances Perkins, industrial commissioner of the New York State Department of Labor, and Miss Elizabeth Christman, the league's secretary and treasurer, also spoke.

E. E. Naylor Is Named Special Investigator

Resignation of E. E. Naylor from the District service to become a member of the special investigating force of the United States Bureau of Efficiency, was announced yesterday.

Naylor has been assistant auditor of the District for the last five years, having been appointed as principal aid to Daniel J. Donovan from the Treasury Department, where he was employed as a claims examiner in the accounting division. He is a native of St. Louis and came to Washington when 22 years old and studied at George Washington University. Previously he attended the University of Missouri. He lives in Lee Heights, Va., and is to quit the District service on Friday.

T. L. Jones, Assistant District Attorney, Ill

Jones was appointed to be an assistant prosecutor on June 16, 1925, and has been assigned to work in the Police Court. Jones was formerly a member of the Republican national committee of the District and a delegate to the convention which nominated Warren G. Harding as president.

HOPOFF IN CAPITAL ON CROSS-COUNTRY ROUTE CELEBRATED

THREE-DAY GOLDEN GATE MAIL TRIP INAUGURATED

The first consignment of air mail from Washington connecting at New York with points along the transcontinental route left Bolling Field yesterday, when Walter Shaffer took his Pitcairn Mailwing off at 7 o'clock and turned north under a dark and threatening sky.

Prior to the take-off a brief threefold ceremony had been held alongside the plane by a delegation from the Washington Chamber of Commerce. This ceremony took notice of the first anniversary of regularly operated air mail service through Washington, as to the addition of service between Washington and New York, connecting at the latter city with the transcontinental route, and the inauguration of the seven-day service to New York and Atlanta, which started Sunday.

In a brief address, W. Irving Glover, Assistant Postmaster General in charge of air mail, predicted that within a short time the air mail would be operating from Washington's own municipal airport.

Cites Lack of City Field.

"We are sorry," he said, turning to Maj. Howard C. Davidson, commandant of Bolling Field, "that we must use your field for the air mail, but we are forced to do so while the Nation's Capital has no airport of its own. We hope that within a few months the mail will take off from a model airport owned by the District of Columbia."

Charles W. Darr, president of the Washington Chamber of Commerce, delivered to the pilot two letters, one addressed to the president of the Chamber of Commerce of Los Angeles and one to the president of the San Francisco chamber. These will be delivered in the West Coast cities Wednesday morning.

Glover explained that letters mailed in Washington in the afternoon would be delivered in New York the next morning, in Cleveland, Chicago and St. Louis that afternoon, and on the West Coast the morning of the third day.

Crowd Watches Take-off.

In spite of the threatening weather, a good-sized crowd greeted the arrival and watched the departure of the first plane on the extended schedule. Promptly at 6:45 o'clock the Pitcairn plane appeared, accorted by another from Hoover Field, where the company has established a repair base. Making a perfect landing in the treacherous mud of Bolling Field, Shaffer turned his ship and brought it to a halt in front of the crowd. He sat silent and unsmiling in the cockpit while the ceremonies were held and the mail was loaded. He then took off and headed north to make connection with the transcontinental mails.

Among those who attended the opening of the new service were Harold F. Pitcairn, president of Pitcairn Aviation; Lieut. Walter Hinton, first pilot to cross the Atlantic; Earl B. Wadsworth, superintendent of the air mail; Maj. D. A. Davison, Assistant Engineer Commissioner of the District of Columbia; James C. Edgerton, first pilot to fly mail between New York and Washington, in 1918, and Dorsey W. Hyde, jr., secretary of the Washington Chamber of Commerce.

Sioux Indian Receives New "Chance" in Court

Accused of intoxication and vagrancy, Star Eagle, full-blood Sioux Indian, was arraigned before Judge Robert E. Mattingly in Police Court yesterday. Policeman W. T. Burroughs, of the Sixth Precinct, testified he found the defendant asleep in an automobile on a vacant lot.

The Indian pleaded for a chance to make good. Asked by the court whether or not he felt like "scalping the officer who arrested you," the brave replied, "No, the officer was all right and the days of scalping are over. If I am given the chance, I won't touch any more of that 'fire water' as you insist on calling it." The court gave him his chance, freeing him on personal bond.

Value of Business In Autos Stressed

Capital Trade Association's Speakers Cite Volume; No Summer Meeting.

The important place occupied by the automobile business in the economic life of the local community was emphasized by speakers last night before the Washington Automotive Trade Association at the organization's monthly meeting, held at the City Club.

It was pointed out that in the volume of business transacted, sums paid out in wages and salaries, and, in general, the amounts placed in circulation here, the automotive trade group ranks among the leading lines. Among the speakers were Oscar Coolican, Richard Murphy, Chester H. Warrington and S. S. Grogan.

The association voted to continue its custom of past years in discontinuing meetings during July, August and September. Edward M. Wallace, president of the W. A. T. A., presided.
